Disposal Plant Costs Studied

COUNCIL EXPECTS TO HAVE RECOMMENDATION TO RESIDENTS THIS MONTH

The Village Council now is studying the problems of costs and methods of financing the proposed new sewage treatment plant for Tecumseh and, according to E. C. Heilman, in charge of the investigation, definite recommendations to residents regarding the program may be forthcoming within a week or 10 days.

"It appears certain that a sewage treatment plant must be built here, as has been ordered by the state, and it now becomes our problem to determine the best methods of financing and building," Mr. Heilman said. He pointed out that the council has spent considerable time—months, in fact—investigating disposal plants and methods of building and financing and has arrived at four solutions.

The cost of a plant such as is needed in Tecumseh may vary, depending upon its type, from $200,000 to $265,000. The cheaper plant is for the primary treatment of sewage only, the latted for secondary treatment. It still must be determined whether or not a secondary treatment plant is necessary here. That will be decided by state engineers, and all probability the decision will be made within a week.

After the type of plant to be built is decided upon, the cost of financing its construction and the cost of maintaining it, must be decided upon. It appears that residents have four programs, some slightly more costly than others, to choose from.

First, the village may pay the cost of building by issuing general obligation bonds. This method is the cheapest. Second, it might issue revenue bonds, but this method is slightly more expensive. Third, it might issue both general and revenue bonds, and fourth, general obligation bonds could be issued sufficient to build and maintain the plant.

The council still is not ready to make any recommendation as to the method of financing, but rather is awaiting the outcome of further study. However, it seems altogether likely that the cost of operating the plant will be paid for through some sort of local tax and only the cost of building the plant will be financed through a bond issue. Such a method, it seems, would be cheaper from the taxpayer's standpoint and, Mr. Heilman pointed out, the council is anxious to hold down the building and financing costs to a minimum.

"Members of the council have spent an endless amount of time studying the state's order which forces us to build a sewage treatment plant," Heilman said. "It now appears that there is nothing left for us to do except to comply with the state's directive."

The council recently purchased several acres of land along the River Raisin south of the Ford Mill and E. Chicago boulevard, where the disposal plant will be located. This real estate purchase cost the village $5,000.

In all probability, the council will be ready to make a recommendation to the public regarding both building, cost and maintenance of the plant within a week. If it is possible to do so, the issue may be presented to the voters at the coming spring election for a decision.

BISHOP TO DEDICATE MACON CHURCH ORGAN

Sunday evening, February 18 at 7:30, the Macon Methodist church will dedicate its new Hammond organ. Marshall R. Reed, resident bishop of Detroit will officiate at the service. John DeCaire, organist of Toledo, will present the musical portion of the program. The public is cordially invited to attend.

BURIED IN BROOKSIDE

Funeral services for Mrs. S. W. McClure, aged 75 years, who died Wednesday afternoon February 7, at her home in Erie, Pa., after a year's illness, were held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 in Brookside cemetery. The body was at the Green Funeral Home on Saturday. Mrs. McClure was the former Bertha Smeltzer of Tecumseh.

Surviving besides her husband, who also was a former Tecumseh resident, are two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Nina Heath and Mrs. Jennie Satterlee, both of Tecumseh. Mrs. Heath had been in Erie for the last few weeks assisting in the care of Mrs. McClure.

Watch The Herald for an announcement. Things are going to happen, March 1 and 2. adv. Feb 15

Home From International Church Meet

Photo above shows some of the more than 80 members and friends of the Friends Church of Tecumseh who, last Thursday evening, journeyed to Essex, Ont., to attend a special meeting with an International flavor in the Baptist church in that Canadian village. The trip was made on two chartered buses, and the picture shows the group as they returned to this village. It was taken by Miss Mabel Lockwood.

Local Church Group Journeys To Canada

GOODWILL JUNKET TO ESSEX, ONT., MADE BY FRIENDS, LAST THURSDAY EVENING

Tecumseh, Michigan, made another goodwill journey to Canada, last Thursday evening, when more than 80 members and friends of the Tecumseh Friends Church journeyed to Essex, Ontario, to take part in an evangelistic service at the Baptist church in that village. The trip was made in two chartered buses, the group arriving back in this village at 2 a.m., Friday.

The invitation to the local church for the Canadian visit came from the Rev. Mr. Willis, pastor of the Essex church, and the Rev. Burt Turner, evangelist, who was speaking there that evening. The Rev. Mr. Turner recently closed a series of successful meetings in the Friends church here.

The choir of the Friends church, as well as the Girls' Chorus made the journey and participated in the Ontario service, as did the Rev. Edward Escolme, local pastor, and Mrs. Escolme. Following the meeting, lunch was served to the visitors in the church parlors.

This was the second goodwill visit to be made by Tecumseh folk to Canada within a year. Last July 1, a caravan of cars numbering nearly 2,000, made a trip to Tecumseh, Ontario, to help the Canadian namesake observe its holiday. The year before, several thousand Canadians visited this village when it observed its 125th anniversary.

Radio Singers To Appear At Friends Services

Bert Turner, Irish evangelist, born in Belfast, Ireland, who closed a successful series of meetings at the Friends church in Tecumseh recently, is coming back for a four-day program, bringing with him the Eureka Jubilee Singers from Chicago. This will be their first appearance in Tecumseh, and probably in Lenawee county.

These six colored singers are all graduates of the American Conservatory of Music, and are outstanding radio artists. Their programs are made up of choice selections, unusual blendings and rare harmonies. They have traveled the North American continent, singing in the largest municipal centers, at Bible conferences, at Youth for Christ rallies, at colleges, universities and high schools. They visited many arm camps during the last war.

The singers will be at Tecumseh Friends church Monday, February 19 through Thursday, February 22, each evening at 7:45 p.m. In addition to the musical program, evangelist Turner will speak.

"UNLOADED GUN" FIRES, GLENN H. KOHLER HURT

Glenn H. Kohler, local real estate broker, lost his left thumb at the first joint, Sunday, in an "unloaded gun" accident.

Mr. Kohler was cleaning his 30-30 deer rifle in the basement of his home when it went off, the bullet striking his thumb. He was removed to Herrick Memorial Hospital for surgery, and returned to his home Tuesday.

Keep March 1 and 2 open dates. That's when things are going to happen in Tecumseh. adv. Feb. 15

I will be at the United Savings Bank each Saturday until March 1, the deadline without penalty, for the collection of taxes, dog tax and fire insurance. Will also accept payments by check or money order, mailed to my residence, 211 W. Brown St., Lawrence Mohr, Township Treasurer. March 1

Dr. Frank L. Huntley To Be Town Hall Speaker

Another in the series of Town Hall meetings will be held in the auditorium of Central School on Tuesday evening, February 27, at 8 o'clock, Neville Hart, director, announced today.

The speaker at next week's meeting will be Dr. Frank L. Huntley of Ann Arbor, whose subject will be, "The Korean Situation."

Dr. Huntley spent 23 years in China and Japan as a boy and as a teacher. He will be able to draw on a wealth of first-hand information when he discusses the Far Eastern problem before the local audience.

Admission to Town Hall is without charge, the cost of its operation having been underwritten by local clubs and civic organizations. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

Lansing Rector Is Coming Here

REV. RICHARD O. PETERSON TO ASSUME PASTORATE OF ST. PETER'S CHURCH

The Rev. Richard O. Peterson, assistant rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church at Lansing, has been chosen as the new rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church in Tecumseh, it was announced today by the Vestry. The Rev. Mr. Peterson is expected to assume his duties here the Sunday after Easter.

The selection of Mr. Peterson was made at a Vestry meeting on Monday of this week, after a visit to Lansing. Peterson succeeds the Rev. Allan Ramsay who, three weeks ago, moved with his family to Trenton where he assumed the rectorship of a church there.

Sunday's services in St. Peter's will be in charge of Kenneth Hildebrand, a lay reader from Monroe, it was said.

Progressives Fail In Caucus

ONLY EIGHT PERSONS ATTEND MEETING; ONE TICKET ONLY IN VILLAGE ELECTION

The Progressive Party's caucus failed to name a ticket at its meeting, Tuesday evening, in the Council Building, and, as a result, it would appear that there will be only one ticket in the field at the annual Village election, to be held here on March 12.

Only eight persons attended the Progressive caucus, Tuesday night, it was said, and, for that reason, official business was not transacted.

The terms of three members of the Progressive Party expire with the coming election and, it is understood, all of them had refused to permit their names to again be placed in nomination. The men are George McCombs, Archie Porter and Ray Sluyter, all council members.

It would appear, as a result of the Progressive's failure, that the People's Party will have everything in its own way in the approaching election. The Peoples Party will hold its caucus at the Council Building, next Tuesday evening.

The term of J. Floyd Elliott, village president and a member of the Peoples Party, expires with the approaching election as do the terms of Robert Kroner, clerk, and T. J. Wagner, village assesosr. All were elected on the Peoples ticket a year ago.

There'll be big doings, March 1 and 2. Keep the dates open and watch The Herald for announcement. adv. Feb. 15

Scouts Plan Two Programs

MOVIE NIGHT TO BE OBSERVED FEB. 21, AND ANNIVERSARY ON FEB. 22

Next week will be a busy week for Boy and Girl Scouts in Tecumseh with a "Movie Night" program scheduled for Wednesday and a birthday anniversary party on Thursday.

The "Movie Night" program will be presented at 7:30 in the auditorium of the Central School by the Girl Scouts in observance of the birthday of Lord Baden Powell. Movies to be shown include "The Story of a Brownie;" "A Story of a Girl Scout," and "World Friendship." At this time the Scouts will receive their World Friendship pins, which will signify that they are united with Girl Scouts all over the world. Ruth Ann Coates, who is working toward a badge, will give the life history of Juliet Lowe and the meaning of the World Friendship pins.

Anyone interested in scouting is invited to attend the program.

The Cub Scouts of Pack No. 4 will celebrate the 41st birthday of Boy Scouting with a potluck dinner on Thursday evening, February 22, at 6 o'clock, in the Central School gymnasium. Local Scoutmasters and their wives are invited, and there will be special guests from Adrian and Monroe. Scores of parents and friends of local Scouts also will attend.

The Cub Scouts will present in story the history of scouting in America, and many awards will be made. The Baptist church, sponsoring organization, will receive its charter.

Movies for the children will be shown in the school auditorium at 6 o'clock while the parents are preparing the tables for dinner.

It has been announced that there will be a Pack committee meeting on Tuesday evening, February 20, at 7 o'clock in the Baptist church, and a Den Mothers' meeting on Wednesday afternoon, February 21, in the basement of the library.

Rotary-Ann Banquet Is Attended By 214, Tuesday

Two hundred and fourteen Rotarians, their wives and guests attended the annual Rotary-Ann Banquet of the Tecumseh Rotary Club, Tuesday evening in the American Legion Memorial Home.

A. D. Moore of the Engineering School, University of Michigan, was the speaker, using as his subject, "Some Stories You Haven't Heard." For nearly an hour he entertained his audience with humorous stories.

L. W. Larsen, president of the club, presided and welcomed the group. The invocation was by the Rev. B. O. Bashore, pastor of the Baptist church, and C. O. Butler directed the group singing. There were vocal and instrumental selections by Dr. and Mrs. James E. Spencer of Adrian College, and Leslie Becker and Glen Driscoll, sergeants-at-arms, imposed a few "fines" on members, as is customary in the club. Mel Partridge, vice president and chairman of the program committee, introduced the speaker, and adjournment came with the singing of "God Bless America."

Monday Club To Enjoy Book Review Next Week

Mrs. Earl Wickwire will be hostess to the Tecumseh Monday Club next Monday afternoon, February 19, at two o'clock, at her home on W. Chicago Boulevard. She will be assisted by Mrs. E. A. Collins, Mrs. Herbert Murphy, Miss Gertrude Spaulding, Mrs. Roy Whiting, Mrs. Glenn Williams, and Mrs. Kennard Wise.

The program has been planned by the department of literature and art. Mrs. Ronald Harris will present Mrs. Ray Sluyter who will review the book, "The Peabody Sisters" by Louise H. Tharpe.

The members who are interested in the General Federation's Nurses' Scholarship Fund are asked to bring their contributions to this meeting.

AT ADRIAN MEET

The regular meeting of the 8 and 40 was held in Adrian Monday evening, February 12, at the home of Mrs. Edna Brooket. A short business meeting was held and a social time was enjoyed. The members from Tecumseh who attended were Mrs. Louis Schneider, Mrs. Ray Sluyter, Mrs. Percy Bowen, Mrs. H. H. Hammel and Mrs. Lyman Curtiss.

Polio Gift Here Totals $797.80

COMMUNITY'S CONTRIBUTION THIS YEAR ABOUT $500 LESS THAN YEAR AGO

Tecumseh's gift this year to the March of Dimes amounted to about $500 less than it did a year ago, it was announced today.

John Cameron, chairman of the Polio drive in the township, said that he collected in canisters and in direct gifts, $361.

Earl H. Place and Mel Partridge, handling the campaign for the Rotary Club, said that the total received from the public schools and the Polio Dance amounted to $436.80. Of this amount, $354.75 came from the dance fund. Combining the amounts, Tecumseh's gift this year to the fund is $797.80. Last year it was about $1,250.

Mr. Place, who is the Lenawee chairman of the United Fund Campaign, reiterated today that he favors making the March of Dimes program a part of the United effort another year. He said that many folk had approached him favoring such a move which, in his opinion, is justified.

Public Is Invited To "Anthem Night" Program

The Tecumseh Methodist church will observe "Anthem Night" on Sunday evening, March 4, when the choirs will sing again the favorite anthems which have been used in the worship services during the fall and winter months. An added feature this year will be the junior choir.

Both choirs are directed by Glen Gould who has studied music at Oberlin College and the University of Southern California. He is now studying at Wayne University. Mrs. Herbert Dillon is the organist.

The people of the community who enjoy sacred music are cordially invited to be present.

Civil defense wardens have been named for Tecumseh, and the first in a series of Red Cross First Aid Courses will be held this evening at the Central School Gymnasium, starting at 7 o'clock, Neville Hart, director of the program, said today. Mr. Hart and Charles O. Butler, chief warden, said that every section and block warden in the village should attend the course, and they urged that they do so.

"The First Aid organization meeting was held last week Thursday evening," Mr. Hart said, "and some of the men who should have attended were not there. However, they may start the course today, and they should report by 6:45 in order to register before the program starts."

In announcing the section and block wardens, Mr. Butler said that Tecumseh had been divided into eight sections with wardens in each section.

Mr. Butler urged that all the wardens make a special effort to attend tonight's First Aid course. Addison Slaps Indians, 34-33

LOCAL CAGERS DROP FIRST GAME OF SEASON; MUST WIN NEXT 3 CONTESTS

The Tecumseh high school Indians dropped their first cage game of the season to Addison high school here, Tuesday evening, the visitors humbling the league-leading warriors by a score of 34 to 33. It was a close contest, and one that kept spectators on the edge of their seats until the final whistle. However, there was little doubt as to the cause of the Indians' defeat. John Sisson, star forward for the local aggregation, still is out of play because of an appendicitis operation.

Tecumseh, despite Tuesday's defeat, still is leading the LCAA league by a single game, but Morenci is a close contender. The Indians still have three league games to play, Friday of this week, here, with Summerfield, next Tuesday, February 20, with Clinton, here, and the following Friday, February 23, Morenci, there. It will be necessary for the local cagers to take all three of the contests if they are to retain league leadership.

Sisson, it was said, will be out again for practice by the end of this week but his doctor will not permit him to engage in the Summerfield game. However, it is hoped that he will show sufficient improvement to be able to play in the Clinton and Morenci contests. Summerfield now is at the bottom of the league, Clinton is in fifth place and Morenci is second, one game behind the Indians.

The Indians, last Friday night, played a lop-sided game against Pittsford, there, winning by a score of 56 to 32. It was a fast, clean game with the local warriors out in front in the first few minutes of play. At the end of the half the Tecumseh lads were leading, 23 to 16 and at the third quarter, 37 to 27.

It was in the last quarter of the contest that the locals exerted themselves to run up 19 markers for the final count, against Pittsford's five.

Whelan was high score man for Tecumseh with 21 points. He made nine field goals and three out of eight charity shots. Don Lapham for Pittsford registered nine points.

The Pittsford reserves were successful against the Indians Papooses, winning by a score of 41 to 38 in the preliminary game.

CLINTON FUNERAL DIRECTOR, FOUND DEAD THURSDAY, BURIED SATURDAY

Funeral services for Charles D. Hause, 44, Clinton funeral director who was found dead, Thursday evening, were held from the Hause Funeral Home Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Murray Hewgill officiating. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery. The private services were in charge of the Jenter Funeral Home of Manchester.

Mr. Hause, in business in Clinton for the past 16 years, ended his own life by hanging, Thursday evening, according to a verdict of Ed M. Braun, Adrian coroner. The body was found by relatives in a garage on the Raymond Anglemyre property, across from the funeral home. Hause had kept some of his equipment in the garage. State police were called, as was the coroner. It was said that the funeral director had been ill and under the care of a physician for about a year, and that recently he had showed signs of mental strain.

Born August 23, 1906 in Clinton, Hause graduated from high school there in 1925 and from the Cincinnati College of Embalming in 1930. That same year he entered the Hause Funeral Home, owned by his father, J. D. Hause, and in 1934 he took over the active operation of the business.

Hause served in the Navy during World War II from 1943 to 1945 and during his absence his wife, formerly Leona Anglemyre, directed the business, assisted by funeral directors in nearby towns.

Hause was a member of the Rotary Club, the Clinton F. & A. M., the Meridian Chapter, Manchester, the National Funeral Directors' Association, and was treasurer of the First Congregational church.

Surviving besides his wife are two daughters, Audrey and Sarah, and a son, William Frank; his mother, Mrs. Eva Hause, who is spending the winter in Florida. Mr. Hause's father died five years ago.

Pedestrians Need A Break, Too

Michigan and most of the midwestern states have this year been "enjoying" an old-fashioned winter. There has been an unusually heavy snowfall, accompanied by sub-zero temperatures and ice. The cold season started early in November and continues to hang on like a puppy to a root.

Because of this condition, state and local highway departments have been busy keeping the roads and streets open to traffic. Thousands of tons of snow have been removed and additional thousands of tons of sand and salt have been distributed. For the most part, and particularly within the Village of Tecumseh, the highway departments have done an excellent job for the motorists.

But what about the pedestrians?

There are hundreds of people in Tecumseh who do not drive cars or who, in winter weather, find it difficult to drive. To get to and from their work or to other places where they must go, they walk. It can truthfully be said that walking conditions in Tecumseh this year have not been good. Many sidewalks have not been cleaned, street intersections have been piled knee-deep with snow, where scrapers have been at work, and, all in all, a pedestrian, after he has walked a few blocks, loses not only his wind but his religion.

This is the age of paternalistic government. The American people are rapidly becoming past masters in sobbing to their government, local, state and national. True, we expect government not only to take care of us, but to take GOOD CARE of us. And, judging from the amount of taxes that we pay, maybe we have a right to expect good care.

Nevertheless, and just for the sake of argument, we think that the fellow who walks rather than rides, has a right to gripe about the snow and the ice on the sidewalks, and about the clogged-up conditions at the street intersections. Why should he have to wade snow, knee deep, or walk in slush that is over his shoe tops?

Government cleans the snow off the street in front of the house where the motorist lives. Why, then, shouldn't it clean the motorist's and the pedestrian's sidewalk. There are many men and women who can't, because of age or physical condition, shovel snow. And day by day it is becoming more difficult to find anybody who will do it for you. What, then, is the answer?

If the highway department failed to remove snow from the streets and motor traffic, as a result, was paralyzed, there would be a terrific yell from car owners. They would immediately unite and bring pressure to bear at the top level and, we'll bet, there would be some action or somebody would lose their job.

Today, because we're a motorist and pay taxes on our cars and on the gasoline they burn we expect GOOD CARE, and we get it.

Government today, in a left handed way, is saying to folk who don't drive cars, "get along as best you can." Government is saying this by its actions. It is forgetting the pedestrian—the fellow who made this nation before cars were invented—and is permitting him to shift for himself as best he can. Sure, most of these pedestrians pay taxes. They're real estate owners, personal property owners, they pay, Heaven knows, terrific income taxes, and thousands of hidden taxes. But they're just pedestrians, so why worry. They don't have AAA clubs and lobbies in Lansing and Washington.

We believe—and again, for the sake of argument—that the pedestrian is just as good as the motorist. We believe that he should be entitled to just as much consideration from government as is his neighbor who drives. We believe that if the highways are to be cleared of snow and ice, and sanded and salted, then the snow and ice also should be removed from the sidewalks and they should be sanded and salted in dangerous spots.

We believe, too, that cross walks and street intersections should be kept open for pedestrians. We see no reason why women and children should be made to wade snow and slush, ankle deep, to cross the street.

Sidewalks are the roads that pedestrians travel and for our money, a pedestrian is just as good as a motorist, any day.

We hope that the time is not too far away when local government feels the responsibility of cleaning all sidewalks within the village. One or two motor plows could be purchased and the cost of doing the job would be small and could be spread on the general tax roll.

Certainly, we appreciate the fact that taxes are high enough now and we're not in favor of paying any more taxes. However, we doubt if added taxes would be necessary to keep the sidewalks in the same condition that we keep our streets.

We realize that the United States is a nation on wheels. But there are times when all of us are on foot and, when we are, we'd like a little consideration, too.

MSC WINTER TERM ENROLLMENT IS 13,791

East Lansing—Michigan State College's official nose count for the winter term revealed a student enrollment of 13,791.

Although representing a drop of 1,202 from the fall term, college officials were well-pleased. Early predictions said the college would have a "substantial decrease in enrollments" as students enlisted in the armed forces or took industrial jobs.

The winter term drop was attributed to the enlistment of many high school graduates in the armed forces by Registrar Robert S. Linton. 1t

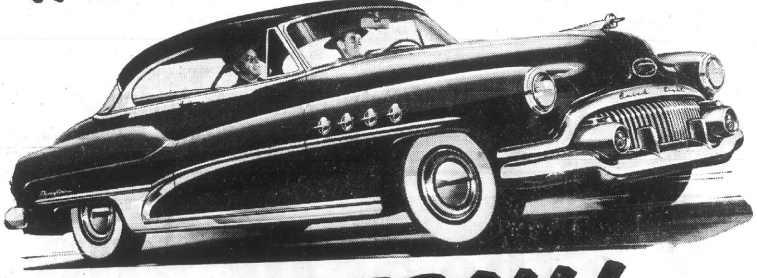
What's its Power?



FIREBALL!

(Only Buick can make this statement)

BEND an ear to the deep baritone song of this marvel motor, and you'll know we aren't fooling when we call it Fireball.

What happens beneath that brawny Buick bonnet happens in no other car in the world.

Years ahead of the rush to high-compression valve-in-head engines, Buick was in there pitching for more power from every drop of fuel.

The result: a spectacular engineering phenomenon you feel the instant you touch toe to gas treadle. A rapid-fire sequence of tiny tornados, let loose their pent-up power every five inches a Buick travels.

If you could look inside that Fireball engine, you'd see why. Instead of the flat-topped pistons used in other cars, Buick uses a turbo-top piston, like this:

So the inrushing fuel whirlwinds into a compressed ball that adds a super-urge to the downstroke of the piston.

And you get the thrill — and thrift — of this Buick "first" in every mile you drive.

More, you get a tried-and-true engine that's been polished and perfected in every detail up through the years.

Again and again, compression ratios have been stepped up to keep pace with advances in fuels. Self-setting valve lifters contribute to silence. Micropoise balance and Hi-Poised engine mountings add two more Buick exclusives.

And the silken might of this Fireball's power has been made more beautifully obedient by still another "first"—Dynaflow Drive.*

So we list as a prime reason why "smart buy's Buick" this Fireball power plant—and a host of happy owners will say "Amen."

BOULDER CRUSHES WOMAN

Lesage, W. Va. — A huge boulder, weighing tons, plunged down a hillside into the home of an elderly spinster, Miss Hess Christy, about sixty, crashed into her bedroom and pinned her legs and hips to the floor. A passerby, several hours later, heard her cries and summoned help. Frantic rescue workers got the big rock off her and she was taken to a near by hospital, critically injured.

U. S. OFFICE SPACE

Floor space occupied by the extension branch of the Government is more than 96 times that in New York's 102-story Empire State Building, according to Senator Byrd's committee — a joint-Senate-House group on reduction of non-essential Federal expenditures. The Government, before the start of the Korean war was spending more than $100,000,000 a year for rent and utilities, while the military spent another $90,000,000.

Women Better Money Managers

INVESTMENT EXPERT REVEALS FACT; ONE-THIRD OF WIVES HANDLE CASH

In only one-third of all American homes does the wife handle the money, according to figures from George Gallup. Gilbert M. Haas, New York Investment Counselor, calls these households "the enlightened third." His theory — which he elaborates in McCall's for February — is that men are more extravagant than women and do not understand money as well:

"Married couples quarrel more about money than anything else, according to a 1950 Gallup Poll. Oddly enough, the reason for the quarrels is not the size of the family income, it is the fact that men do not trust women with money.

"Yet, take a look at a typical couple with a fairly good income. The wife uses buses instead of taxis almost always. When she and a woman friend eat lunch together they split the lunch check. She tips moderately.

"Now follow the husband through the day. He hops cabs whenever he's late. He eats lunch at more expensive restaurants than his wife, is an inveterate check-grabber and tips well. Though far from a problem gambler, he thinks nothing of dropping five or ten dollars at poker or on a horse race.

"Because they are traditional wage-earners, most men assume they understand money. If they did understand it, of course, they wouldn't be so touchy about it. Frequently, doling out cash to his wife and children may give a man the sense of being a big shot that he never gets anywhere else. But women, though they may not subtract or add as fast as men, are far more realistic about counting pennies, and have better credit rating with bill collectors and loan companies.

"'But suppose you marry a financial flibbertigibbet who's never handled money in her life?' exasperated husbands ask me. My answer is: Give her a chance. She may be a fliggertigibbet because she's always been treated like one.

"True sharing means that both husband and wife agree on what the money is supposed to go for, and then one of them takes the responsibility for seeing that it goes there.

"If a man, through some strong feeling of financial or emotional insecurity, cannot bring himself to put the budget and checkbook into his wife's hands (a system which will save him money and make her a more responsible person in every way), he should at any rate explain the setup, let her have a voice in it, and then work out a fair allowance which she can spend as she wishes without any checkups from him."

Children Are Welcome To Shop At Our Store - -

Never hesitate, Mother, to send the children to our store with your grocery list. In the more than 100 years that we have been in business, thousands of children have brought Mother's shopping list to us. Today, as parents and grandparents, some of these folk now are sending their children and grandchildren to our store.

We're never too busy to wait on the children. They receive the same careful attention as the adult. And, we'll fill your shopping list as carefully as though you, yourself, were here, and we'll wrap the packages carefully, too.

If it is more convenient for you to permit the kiddies to do the shopping, it certainly is satisfactory to us.

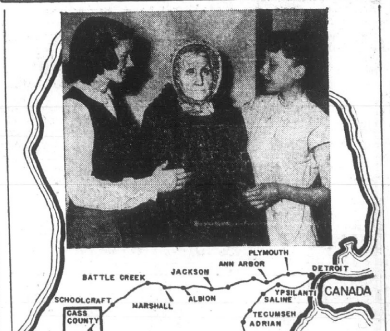
Wayne U. Authors Write of Michigan Slave Rescues Through 'Underground'



A shawl which Laura S. Haviland wore as she "conducted" on the Adrian-to-Detroit branch of Michigan's underground railway is thrown around a statue of the famous anti-slavery leader by two Wayne University coeds. The display, located in the Michigan Historical Museum in Lansing, was visited by Arvye Abbot of Lansing (left) and Lillian Carlson, of Walled Lake.

In the years before the Civil War, when slavery was an issue between the states, Michigan ran "underground railways" to aid Negroes fleeing bondage. Laura S. Haviland of Adrian was in the thick of that struggle.

Famous enough to have had a statue erected in her honor, she found time, not only to participate as a leader in the underground movement, but to raise her family of six children, start a school for teachers, and operate an industrial school for girls. A Quaker preacher, she became an author at the age of 73. Her autobiography, "A Woman's Life Work", went through three editions.

As a "conductor" on the underground railway, she faced many dangers. The Southern slaveholders resorted to every legal device and often to desperate measures to prevent aid for runaway slaves. The kind of perils faced by "Aunt Laura", and the wide range of operations of the underground railway in Michigan are described in a recent book, "Michigan: From Primitive Wilderness to Industrial Commonwealth", a history of the state written by Dr. Sidney Glazer, associate professor of history at Wayne University, and Dr. Milo M. Quaife, formerly a special lecturer at Wayne.

Two main lines of the underground railway, each with regular "stations", crossed Michigan. Escaped Negroes were hidden, fed, and sent forward from one station to another until they reached safe territory. Aunt Laura was a conductor on the main line that began at Adrian and ran through Tecumseh, Saline, and Ypsilanti to Detroit.

After having been hidden in barns, cellars and fields for many days, traveling only by night, the fugitive would finally reach Detroit; then would cross into Canada, and thus escape recapture.

Michigan's other main route, known as the Central line, ran from Cass county through the communities of Schoolcraft, Battle Creek, Marshall, Albion, Jackson, Grass Lake, Dexter, Ann Arbor, and Plymout to Detroit. It was on this line that the celebrated "Crosswhite incident" occurred.

Adam Crosswhite, a slave who had escaped with his family from Kentucky when his children were about to be sold, chose to settle in Marshall, rather than proceed on to Canada. Here a spy from the Kentucky slave owners found him and tried to effect his return. Anti-slavery people forcibly prevented this—at the expense of a $1,900 fine finally levied against them in federal court. Eventually, Crosswhite and his family had to be spirited away to Canada.

Michigan's underground railways continued to operate until Abraham Lincoln emancipated the slaves in 1863.

INTEGRITY That Has Prevailed Through The Years . . . .

From the Globe Mills, founded in 1855, and a short time later becoming the Hayden Mills, there has emerged an heritage of sound business and integrity.

Hayden Flour Mills, Inc., is now one of the best known mills in the middle west. It's products are widely used, and regarded as top quality. And the integrity and fair dealing today, are the same as have prevailed through 116 years of honorable service.

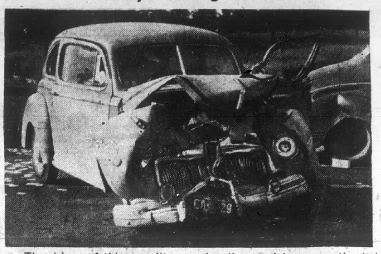
Today's Driving Lesson



The driver of this car, like nearly all motorists, over-estimated his ability to "stop on a dime." It pays to know how much highway it takes you to stop at different speeds, say teachers in 305 Michigan high school Driver-Training courses sponsored by Automobile Club of Michigan.

If you're an average driver you think you can stop your car "on a dime" in an emergency. In a recent survey of 9,000 drivers, over 6,000 of them stated flatly they could stop their cars in 15 feet or less at 20 miles per hour.

At such a speed, according to 305 teachers in Michigan AAA Driver-Training high school courses, your car travels 22 feet before you even get your foot on the brake—and rolls to a total of 52 feet before you are halted.

Nearly all drivers believe they can stop in far shorter distance than is actually possible, say the teachers in behind-the-wheel courses sponsored by Automobile Club of Michigan. This unwarranted optimism is contributing to highway deaths daily.

Stopping depends on condition of the road surface, brake efficiency of the car, "grip-ability" of tires, and most important of all, the driver's mental condition.

Personal alertness is definitely reduced by illness, fatigue, age, alcohol, roadside distractions, eye-strain, sedative drugs and carbon monoxide from faulty exhaust equipment.

Because in the long run a driver's life will sometime hang by the thread of ability to stop, driver-training teachers stress complete control of the car at all times.

Sudden halts on the highway are dangerous in themselves. Always pull slowly off the road to the right. This maneuver should be accompanied by a warning arm signal. Be sure you leave the road completely before repairing a flat tire, even if you risk cutting up the tire.

"New tires are cheaper than tombstones," say the teachers.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER

About 7,655 tons have been slashed by the Government off the amount of synthetic rubber, which will be available this month to make tires and other products for civilians. The NPA said no early shortage of tires is expected to result from the cut however.

Miss Jean F. Allison Weds Robert E. Matthews

The Central Methodist Church of Pontiac was the scene of a lovely 4 o'clock wedding Sunday, February 4, when Miss Jean Florence Allison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allison of Pontiac, and Robert Ernest Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Matthews of Ypsilanti, were united in marriage. The Allisons are former residents of Tecumseh, and the bride a granddaughter of Mrs. Eva VanVleet of Tecumseh and Mrs. Ella Allison of Potniac. The Rev. Milton Bank performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of garden flowers.

The bride's attendants were Betty Lou Allison, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; Virginia Fowler of Garden City, college roommate of the bride, and Mrs. Richard Sutliff of Pontiac as bridesmaids. William Sweet of Ypsilanti attended Mr. Matthews as best man. The ushers were Don Ross and Bernard Miller of Dearborn, James Hon of Pontiac and James Garfield of Ypsilanti.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held for 200 guests in the church parlors. The couple left later on a trip through the southern and eastern states. Both are seniors at Michigan State Normal College and the bride is a member of Theta Lambda Sigma sorority. Mr. Matthews is a graduate of Howe Military School and a member of Kappa Phi Alpha.

Among the guests from Tecumseh who attended the wedding were Mrs. Eva L. VanVleet, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn VanVleet and son Robert, and Miss Marie Koernig.

MEAT HOARDING

Agriculture Department officials estimate that upward of one billion pounds of meat are stored away in family freezer units and lockers in anticipation of rationing—a quantity about equal to a two weeks' supply for the entire nation. If rationing is ordered, consumers undoubtedly will be required to state in their applications for ration cards how much meat they have on hand, with consequent deductions from their ration allowances.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

County's Roads Are Breaking Up

HEAVY TRAFFIC, FEBRUARY THAW BLAMED; RESTRICTIONS ARE IN FORCE

Roads in Lenawee county and throughout the state are showing signs of breaking up, due to the February thaw and heavy traffic and, as a result, weight restrictions are being enforced by both the county and the state.

The County Road Commission announced that effective with last Monday midnight, weights in excess of 11,700 pounds on any axle could not be carried by vehicles on Lenawee black top or gravel roads. Effective on Tuesday noon, the State Highway Department also announced that the weight limit on all state trunk lines and county concrete roads had been restricted to 13,500 pounds. This restriction will remain in force indefinitely unless there is another sharp freeze, the department said. Normally, weight restrictions are not applied in this area until about March 15.

The February thaw has played new havoc with M-50-52 in Tecumseh and east and west of here and, inside the village, the pavement on Chicago Boulevard is rapidly falling to pieces. There are areas on the boulevard where a speed in excess of 15 or 20 miles an hour is impractical, and there is every indication that if the thaw continues the highway may become next to impassable for either trucks or cars. There also is an area near Billington's Corners and another at Birdsall, where the D. T. & I. tracks cross, that are giving the highway department considerable concern. The Birdsall area is partly flooded with water.

The so-called "Cement Bridge" in Brownville also is a dangerous spot for traffic. Here the pavement is badly broken up and state and county employees are attempting to patch it with gravel in an effort to keep the highway open to traffic.

On most roads throughout Southern Michigan, it was said, traffic is being slowed down materially due to the damaged conditions of the concrete highways. Actually, black top roads are in a better condition than are the cement roads.

Locally, it was said, some side streets in the village are flooded with water as a result of the thaw but, generally speaking, it was declared that these streets are in a far better condition than the boulevard which, of course, carries the burden of through traffic.

I. W. Calhoun Dies; Buried In Ridgeway

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the Mott Funeral Home, Detroit, for I. W. Calhoun, 67, formerly of Holloway, who died February 14 at his home in Detroit. Mr. Calhoun had been employed by Grinnell Brothers Music Co., Adrian, for many years. In 1932 he moved to Detroit and entered into the real estate business. I will be at the United Savings Bank each Saturday until March 1, the deadline without penalty, for the collection of taxes, dog tax and fire insurance. Will also accept payments by check or money order, mailed to my residence, 211 W. Brown St., Lawrence Mohr, Township Treasurer. March 1

LOCAL TALENT TO BE USED ENTIRELY IN SHOW HERE ON MARCH 1 AND 2

A fun-packed minstrel show, using nothing but local talent, will be staged here on Thursday and Friday evenings, March 1 and 2, by members of the Tecumseh Exchange Club, it was announced today. Net proceeds of the entertainment will go toward the cost of installing an intercommunication system in Herrick Memorial Hospital. The show will be presented at 8 o'clock each evening in the auditorium of the Central School.

Although the cast has not yet been announced, it was said today that it would be composed entirely of local talent, largely men in business and in the professions. Rehearsals will begin immediately and the club promises two evenings of genuine entertainment for those who attend.

At this week's meeting of the club, Monday evening, members were entertained by the Eureka Jubilee Singers who are making an appearance this week at the Tecumseh Friends Church. The group, all graduates of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, made a distinct hit with the Exchangeites. Leo Bishop, golf pro at the Tecumseh Country Club, also spoke and showed motion pictures.

Guests at the meeting included members of the Tecumseh Fire Department, Milan Clark, chief of police, was guest of Archie Porter, and R. F. Davis, assistant village engineer, was the guest of Arthur Harding.

Essex Folk To Return Friends Visit, Tonight

One or two bus loads of men and women from Essex, Ontario, Canada, are expected here tonight to attend a meeting in the Tecumseh Friends church at which Evangelist Burt Turner will be the speaker. The Canadians are paying a visit to the local church to return a visit, made 10 days ago, by some 80 persons from Tecumseh to the Baptist church in Essex. The journey at that time was made by two chartered buses.

The Rev. Mr. Turner closed a series of meetings at the Friends church here before going to Essex. He held services there and then, by request, returned here for a four-evening series of meetings, which close tonight.

On his visit here this week, Mr. Turner brought with him the Eureka Jubilee Singers of Chicago, all graduates of the Chicago Conservatory of Music. They have appeared several times on large radio stations, and are much in demand in church work. An open date on their program made their appearance here possible.

Monday evening they sang at the meeting of the Exchange Club, and on Tuesday evening at the Rotary Club meeting.

NEW COUNTRY CLUB OFFICERS ARE NAMED

The directors of the Tecumseh Country Club have organized and have elected officers as follows: R. W. Herrick, chairman of the board, with F. K. Smith as vice-chairman. The president is Paul Ammer, vice-president, C. O. Butler, secretary, Clarence Gilman, and treasurer, Robert Fuller.

Mr. Ammer has announced these appointments: Dale Bowen, chairman of the entertainment committee; Phil Colgrove, chairman of the house committee, and Hal Kelso, chairman of the greens committee.

Baldwin Store Reopens Today With Fire Sale

The Baldwin Hardware Company's stores, destroyed by fire here about a month ago, will be reopened in a new location at 10 o'clock this morning, Ned Baldwin, owner of the business, said today. The new location will be in one of the Whelan buildings adjoining the Whelan Implement Co., West Logan street.

Thousands of dollars worth of hardware, salvaged from the fire, will go one sale this morning at a fire sale price. The sale will continue until the merchandise is sold.

Mr. Baldwin plans to continue the operation of his business in the Logan street location until such a time as the fire-damaged buildings can be torn down and replaced with a modern structure. Reopening in the new store at the old location probably will be in the fall.

Elliott Heads Peoples Ticket

VETERAN PRESIDENT OF VILLAGE NOMINATED FOR ANOTHER TERM IN OFFICE

J. Floyd Elliott, veteran president of the village of Tecumseh, was nominated, Tuesday evening, at the Peoples Party caucus to succeed himself as head of the local government for another term. About 60 persons attended the caucus, held in the Council Building.

Mrs. Charles Howe acted as chairman of the caucus, and E. H. VanVleet was the secretary. Herbert Dillon and E. C. Heilman were the tellers.

The ticket named follows:

Mr. Elliott for president; Robert Kroner, clerk; Mrs. Myrna Tingley, treasurer; T. J. Wagner, assessor; Carl Fosbender, Charles Mensing and Archie Porter, trustees.

Mr. Kroner, Mrs. Tingley and Mr. Wagner are incumbents, as is Mr. Porter. Mr. Mensing has served before as a councilman but Mr. Fosbender is new in local politics.

There was no opposition to any of the nominations. The election will be held on March 12 and, inasmuch as there is no other ticket in the field, it would appear that the Peoples' slate will be successful at the polls.

ANTHEM NIGHT TO BE HELD, SUNDAY

The Junior and Senior Choirs of the Tecumseh Methodist church are busy rehearsing their favorite sacred music which they will sing on "Anthem Night," scheduled for Sunday evening, March 4. An additional feature this year will be more music by the Junior Choir. The Woman's Society of Christian Service invites all who attend this program to remain for an informal reception to be held in the social room in honor of the choirs.

LAYMAN'S SUNDAY

February 25 will be known as Layman's Sunday throughout the Methodist churches. Wilfred Waldron, lay leader of the Tecumseh Methodist church, has arranged the worship service. Among those participating will be Beverly Hay, Nadine Carney, Orville Minney, and Wilfred Waldron. Dalton Van Valkenburg will be the guest speaker this year. The special offering in the Methodist churches will be used for relief of the Korean refugees many of whom are Christians.

Scout Birthday Party, Tonight

CUB SCOUTS OF PACK TO CELEBRATE WITH DINNER; MOVIE NIGHT OBSERVED, WEDNESDAY

Cub Scouts of Pack No. 4, Tecumseh, will observe the 41st birthday of Boy Scouting in America this evening with an anniversary dinner in the gymnasium of Central School. Local Scoutmasters and their wives, including some from Adrian and Monroe, as well as parents and friends of local Cubs will be in attendance.

Preceding the dinner, which will be served at 6 o'clock, movies will entertain the scouts. These will be shown in the school auditorium.

New Directory Census Started

ENUMERATORS ARE NOW AT WORK IN BOTH VILLAGE AND TOWNSHIP

Mrs. Betty Lamberson and Mrs. Florence Sammons of Hillsdale are working in Tecumseh and the Tecumseh area for the Robison Directory Company which is preparing a complete directory of the inhabitants of Tecumseh and Tecumseh township.

This project is under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and is designed to provide a long-felt need in the community. It has been over a quarter of a century since a directory of the village has been published, and the compilation of names is very much needed considering the great changes which have been made.

Mrs. Lamberson and Mrs. Sammons are also conducting a buying habits survey for the Chamber of Commerce. Local merchants who attended the recent retail conferences expressed their desire for such a survey for their guidance in serving the shoppers in the area.

The questions asked by the enumerators are not of a prying nature, the Chamber emphasizes, and the cooperation of the public will be of the benefit of the entire community.

Police and the village council sometime ago applied for the installation of three traffic lights, one at the Boulevard and Pearl street, another at Maumee and the third at Ottawa. The state approved only the Ottawa light.

Chief Clark said that it probably would be several weeks before the light could be installed, due to a lack of electrical control equipment.

Blame Bad Roads In Auto Mishaps

TWO TREATED HERE AS RESULT OF MACON MISHAP; POLICE OFFICERS BUSY

A series of traffic accidents kept state police and sheriff's deputies busy over the week-end and although none of the mishaps was serious, seven persons were hurt, some of them requiring hospital attention.

50 Enrolled In First Aid Class

AT LEAST 50 MORE SHOULD BE TAKING COURSE; DEFENSE CHAIRMEN NAMED

There are only about 50 men enrolled in the First Aid Civilian Defense class, organized here last week, and that number should be increased to at least 100, Neville Hart, Civilian Defense director here, declared today.

"The second meeting of the First Aid Class will be held this evening at 7 o'clock in the new high school," Mr. Hart said. "It is not too late to enroll, and we earnestly hope that at least 50 more men will join with us in this very worthwhile enterprise. The state director of Civilian Defense urges that all block air raid wardens take the course, and there are several who were named a week ago who did not report for last Thursday's meeting. We would appreciate it if they would be on hand tonight."

Hart said that the First Aid classes meet once each week for six weeks. Five more meetings will be held after tonight's. However, men who enroll tonight, and who do not miss any of the future meetings will be given credit for the full course.

"I trust that those who have been named to take an active part in the Civilian Defense program in Tecumseh will not take their work lightly," Hart declared. "These are serious times, and this is serious business. If we are to adequately protect ourselves in times of disaster, it behooves us

Good Government Begins At Home

"Progressives Fail In Caucus."

That was a headline in last week's issue of The Herald. To some folk, perhaps, it was funny. They got a laugh out of it. Somebody failed to accomplish what they had started out to do. It had been impossible for the group of persons interested in the Progressive Party to find men who were willing to permit themselves to be nominated for public office and, because of that fact, the caucus called for Tuesday evening, February 13, failed in its purpose.

Just how funny would it have been if the Peoples Party, in caucus on Tuesday evening of this week, also had failed to nominate a slate of candidates? That would have made an election on Monday, March 12, unnecessary, because no one would be running for the offices of village president, clerk, treasurer and assessor. Government, of course, would go on because the state law holds that old officers shall continue in office until their successors qualify, but suppose the old officers decided to resign?

As we said before, to some folk the fact that the Progressives failed is funny. As we see it, there's nothing funny about it. It is serious.

Only the other day we heard a group of men discussing Germany. They wondered how in the world the German people ever permitted Hitler to get a foothold. They wondered how he ever succeeded in setting up a dictatorship.

The answer is simple. The German folk were not alert. They were not taking the necessary interest in their government. They failed to participate in government. Perhaps they, too, refused to hold public office or to vote or to attend their caucus. In any event, they permitted what was once a democratic form of government to slip out of their fingers and into Hitler's.

And that is the way a dictatorship is born.

We are not attempting to say that anyone is trying to set up a dictatorship in Tecumseh. We are not attempting to say that the Progressive Party ticket should have been successful at the polls. We hold no brief for either party. But what we are saying is that what happened at the Progressive Party's caucus should not have happened, and that it is a sorry state of affairs for Tecumseh, the State of Michigan and for the United States of America when men will not serve in public office.

By the same reasoning, we should not expect men to serve in public office, year after year, if they do not so desire. Holding public office, even in a town the size of Tecumseh, is a job—generally a thankless job. When men serve one, two or three terms in office we can understand their thinking when they decline further service. They have made their contribution to society and to government and they feel that it is time for somebody else to take over. That is the way democracy works, and that's the way it should work. There should be other public-spirited citizens willing to get into the harness.

We beat our chests and wave the flag and talk about living in a democracy. Nuts! A lot of us are living in a democracy only because we were born here and had the rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness handed to us on a silver platter. And we inherited those rights because our forefathers had the courage of their convictions and fought for and died, if necessary, for a democratic way of life. They didn't refuse to participate in government, they wanted to participate. They didn't stay away from the polls, they voted.

In the last national election, less than 50% of the registered voters in the United States cast their ballots. Harry Truman was elected president by a minority vote of the people, and not by a majority vote.

Good government, as we see it, begins at home. Democracy is a "grass root" form of government in which everybody has an equal right to vote, to spout off, and to participate. Here in Tecumseh we elect village and township officers, in the county we elect them at that level, and we go on electing state and national officers at those levels. In all of these elections we ALL supposedly participate. But we don't. We refuse to hold office, in fact we don't even bother to vote.

We can't have a government "of, by and for the people" unless "we, the people" participate. When less than half of us vote, as we did in the last national election, we have minority rule, not majority rule.

Within the week we read a statement, issued by Communist Joe Stalin, in which he said that democracy in the United States is falling apart. Whose fault is it? Certainly we can't blame Joe Stalin. The folk who are to blame are the ones who fail to vote, who fail to participate in government, who fail to carry their just share of the responsibility that democracy places upon each citizen who lives under such a government.

If democracy on a national sale is to succeed, then it must succeed at the local level—out here in the "grass roots" of the country. In all seriousness, we ask you if what happened at the Progressive Party's caucus is an indication of success?

That is why we said before, and we say again, that what happened at the caucus is not funny. It is serious. Think about it.

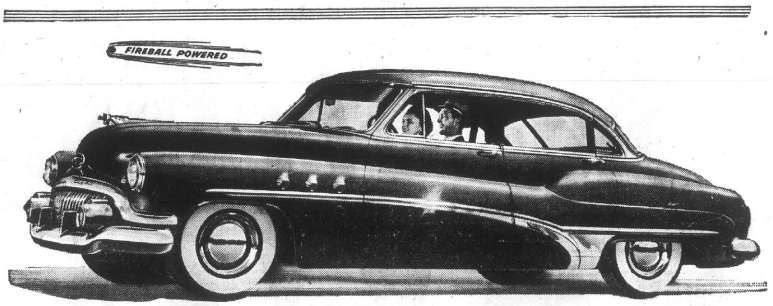
It's So

Sit in long enough on these radio quiz hours and practically anything that has been puzzling you will be cleared away.—Detroit News.



Want more THRILL per dollar?

WHAT are the things you hope some day to have in an automobile?

Is it power that rises to every challenge?

Is it the satisfied feeling of being a very important person there at the wheel?

Is it day-long comfort and ample dimensions that make every trip a pleasure?

Is it the durable goodness of sound construction — the sturdy strength that will outlast the years?

Well, sir, the time has come for you to take to heart these three words of sensible advice—"SMART BUY'S BUICK."

Every Buick has Fireball power — an exclusive combustion principle that makes each drop of fuel do extra duty.

Every Buick has coil springs on all four wheels — that add to your comfort and never need service.

Every Buick can be had with Dynaflow Drive,* which lends extra smoothness to all the miles you drive and saves wear on tires, engine and transmission for long-run economy.

Every Buick sparkles with added conveniences, refinements, appointments that lift these 1951 beauties far above the "utility" level and make them a special joy to own.

And when it comes to price—we ask you to compare Buick with the field. Come see us soon. Lots of folks are comparing and finding there's no buy like a Buick.

Standard equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

No other car provides all this:

DYNAFLOW DRIVE—saves strain on driver and car

FIREBALL POWER — high-compression, valve-in-head engine gets more good from every drop of fuel

TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—steadies ride, improves driving control

4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING — cushions ride, saves servicing costs

SELF-ENERGIZING BRAKES — hydraulic—multiply pedal-pressure five times at brake drum

Lenawee Farm Bureau Plans Onsted Meeting

The Lenawee County Farm Bureau is holding a county-wide meeting at 8 p.m., March 7, at the Onsted Community Schools. The membership is invited to attend and the public is also asked to come and learn about Farm Bureau at first hand.

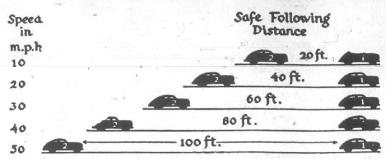
Nation-wide, the Farm Bureau on November 30 reached the highest membership in history with 1,449,715 farm families. Never has the spirit in Farm Bureau been better and never have the prospects for membership building been more favorable, it was said. The next stepping stone for Farm Bureau is two million members. Already several hundred counties in various states have reached their two-million goals. The membership goal for Lenawee county for 1951 is 1063 members.

A well rounded program of entertainment has been planned for the evening meeting at the Onsted Community Schools and Louis A. Wolfanger of the Soil Science Department of Michigan State College will speak on, "Let's Get Acquainted with the World's Outstanding Farm, Forest and Range Land."

There will also be present, representatives of the various Farm Bureau services ready to answer questions and give necessary information.

The Lenawee County Farm Bureau will furnish refreshments.

Today's Driving Lesson



Motorists who habitually follow the car ahead too close cost thousands of lives and millions of dollars in property damage each year.

Parents of teen-agers taking the AAA Driver-Training course in 206 Michigan high schools are being embarrassed daily by sons and daughters who remind them that they follow too close for safety.

How close is too close?

"Sportsmanlike Driving," a textbook supplied to all state driver-training students by Automobile Club of Michigan, says this rule answers the "following distance" problems:

"A driver with average reactions should stay at least 20 feet (or about a car's length) behind the car ahead for each 10 miles per-hour of his speed."

Drivers with slow reflexes should double this distance. But "Sunday Drivers," who always leave too much space ahead of them, are often a menace because they encourage frustrated motorists behind to try a perilous pass.

MEADOWRIDGE JERSEYS CLASSIFIED BY CLUB

COLUMBUS, OHIO — Twenty-one registered Jerseys in the herd owned by Meadowridge Jerseys Inc. of Ridgeway, Mich., were recently classified under a program of The American Jersey Cattle Club. This classification was for all previously unclassified females that have had at least one calf and for all bulls over two years old. They were rated by J. C. Thompson of St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Thompson is an official classifier for the club, which has its national headquarters in Columbus.

Vershum—Miller

A profusion of white gladioli, palms and lighted candles in candlelabra decorated the altar of the Emmanuel Lutheran church Saturday evening when Charlotte E. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Miller, became the bride of James Vershum, son of Mrs. James Vershum and the late Mr. Vershum. The Rev. Theodore Iben performed the double ring ceremony before the immediate families.

A program of organ music was played preceding the ceremony by Mrs. Frederick Dickinson of Tecumseh, a former teacher of the bride. Marlys and Evelyn Arnold also of Tecumseh sang "Because," "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in her gown of white satin with an over skirt of marquisette which swept into a Cathedral train. Her veil of French illusion fell from a headband trimmed with satin leaves. She wore a rhinestone necklace, a gift of the groom. Her bouquet was of white carnations.

Mrs. Louis Vershum was her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. Frederick Miller, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore identical white floor length dresses of marquisette over taffeta. Their headdresses were fashioned of braided marquisette and they carried heart-shaped bouquets of red roses.

Annette Miller and Donna Miller, nieces of the bride acted as flower girl and ring bearer, respectively. They wore white floor length taffeta and marquisette dresses with puffed sleeves and sweetheart necklines. They wore a band of white rosettes in their hair and their heart-shaped lockets were gifts of the bride.

Mr. Vershum was attended by his brother, Russell, and the guests were seated by Richard, also a brother of the groom.

Mrs. Miller wore for her daughter's wedding, a navy blue dress with black accessories. Mrs. Vershum a blue print with black accessories, and Mrs. John Breitner, grandmother of the groom wore black with black accessories. All wore corsages of white carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement for seventy-five guests. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table with lighted candles at either end of the table. A dinner was served by the ladies of the church. Eileen Carothers and Dorothy Ann Wonderly served the bride's table. Miss Carothers cut the wedding cake and Miss Wonderly had charge of the guest book.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Vershum left for a week's trip in the south. Mrs. Vreshum wore for traveling a blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the class of 1949 and has since been employed in the office of the R. S. Moore & Son Co., in Tecumseh. The bridegroom is engaged in farming.

After their trip Mr. and Mrs. Vershum will make their home temporarily with Mrs. Vershum's parents.

prudent under existing road conditions.

Four persons were hurt in an accident on US-223 south of Adrian at Ogden road, Saturday afternoon. All were from Ohio. One of the drivers of the cars that collided was given a traffic summons for failing to yield the right of way.

Robert Zimmerman, Blissfield, escaped injury on Sunday afternoon when his car slid on a patch of ice near Palmyra and struck a telephone pole.

Michael Crawford, 10, suffered injuries when he fell from his father's car near Dundee on M-50. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Crawford of Dundee.

A semi-trailer, driven by J. E. Schaap of Holland, overturned on M-52 just north of Underwood Bridge, Monday morning. The driver told sheriff's officers that a truck and a car were on the bridge, that the pavement was wet and that it would have been impossible for him to have stopped in time ot avoid a crash. Thinking quickly, he turned his truck into an enbankment and it overturned. No one was hurt.

Traffic all over the county was slowed to a walk on Monday morning, due to the thick fog that covered the area until about 10 a.m. Early on Sunday evening there was a light rainfall and throughout the night the temperature remained just above the freezing point.

An attraction of the party was the display of unique valentines designed within ten minutes by the mothers out of scrape. Later the mothers presented them to their children.

IRELAND TURNS TO PEAT FOR NEWSPRINT SOURCE

Dublin—The Irish Government hopes to make newsprint from peat, the nation's chief source of heat.

Chemists of the Nationalized Peat Production Authority, formed to find commercial uses for Ireland's vast peat bogs, said paper-making experiments are under way.

The Irish hope to succeed in this venture because their supply of peat is more plentiful than the dollars needed to import paper.

Writing paper was made from peat in Ireland 100 years ago, but this is the first attempt to make newsprint from it.

On Monday afternoon, forty-eight women heard Mrs. Ray Sluyter review in an interesting manner the book, "The Peabody Sisters of Salem," by Louise H. Tharpe when the Tecumseh Monday Club met in the home of Mrs. Earl Wickwire. The patriotic theme was carried out in the tea table decorations and the refreshments. Mrs. E. J. Aebersold and Mrs. T. Rentschler presided over the tea.

JETS HOP 989 MILES IN ONLY 110 MINUTES

Quonset Point, R. I.—Two jet fighters set a new speed record between Jacksonville, Fla., and the Naval Air Station here.

The planes are F9F carrier-based Grumman "Panther Cats," the latest type navy fighter now being used in Korea, an air station spokesman said. They were piloted by Lt. Dixie Mays of Clarksdale, Miss., and Lt. Percy L. Liles of Goldsboro, N. C.

They flew the 989 miles in 1 hour and 50 minutes, averaging 536 miles an hour. The previous record, made by the same type of plane, was 2 hours and 20 minutes. The two made no attempt to set a speed record, but had the assistance of a strong tail wind, officers said.

RAISES 1820 PRICE

Ovid, N. Y. — Starting April 1, the Ovid Gazette and Independent announces that its subscription price will be $3 a year, "strictly in advance." The unusual thing about the matter is that since March 29, 1820, the weekly newspaper's rate has been $2 a year, "strictly in advance." However, after 130 years, rising costs have made it necessary to "reluctantly advance the price" according to Editor S. E. Mekeel.

ORPHANS REUNITED.

Richmond, Va.—After a separation of 68 years, three sisters were reunited here recently. They had lived within 100 miles of each other but did not know it. The sisters are Mrs. Mary Eliza Davis, 76, of Richmond; Mrs. Lena Cuthrell, 74, of Portsmouth, and Mrs. Sarah Koonce, 72, of Petersburg. As orphans, the sisters were separated in 1882 in Dover, N. C. and were reunited through the efforts of Mrs. Davis's son-in-law, who located the two other sisters.

Span Of Life Is Growing Longer

BABIES BORN TODAY MAY EXPECT TO LIVE BEYOND THREE SCORE AND TEN

For the first time, a generation is being born in Michigan which might reasonably expect to live out its biblically-allotted three score and ten years, the Michigan Department of Health reports.

In a summary highlighting public health gains during the past fifty years, the department notes, "In the year 1900, Michigan men were living an average of 53 years and Michigan women an average of 55 years.

"Then, and throughout the intervening years, Michigan's average length of life exceeded the national average by about two years. The national average life expectancy of a baby boy born at the half-century was 68 years and of a baby girl, 71 years. Michigan babies could expect to live even longer."

Prevention of communicable diseases and improvement in maternal, infant and child care, in sanitation, in nutrition, in reduction of health hazards in industry, and a better approach to the problems of chronic illness were cited by the department as being largely responsible for better health at the close of the first half of the 20th century.

"Half-century comparisons are dramatic," the department reports.

"Where in 1900 there were 2,706 cases of diphtheria and 529 deaths from the disease, only 119 cases and 11 deaths were reported in 1949 and less than 75 cases in the first ten months of 1950.

"Where in 1900 there were 694 cases of smallpox and 9 deaths from the disease, there was no case of smallpox in 1949 or in the first ten months of 1950.

"While typhoid fever was responsible for 5,122 cases of illness and 869 deaths in 1900, it caused only 48 cases of illness and only one death in 1949. Scarlet fever, which killed 277 Michigan people in 1900, killed only 4 in 1949."

Reductions in infant and maternal deaths showed comparable advances. The department report said, "While one out of every seven babies born alive in 1900 died before they were a year old, in 1950, only one out of every 38 died during the first year.

"While one out of every 100 mothers giving birth to live babies died of causes related to childbirth at the beginning of the century, only one out of every 1,497 mothers died of causes related to childbirth at the close of the half-century."

The department reported that five communicable diseases were among the ten leading causes of death in the state in 1900, while in 1950 only two communicable diseases — tuberculosis and pneumonia—remained as major causes of death.

Longer life span of Michigan people and the increase in diseases of later years gave particular significance to the adult health services of health departments, the report said, and more public health emphasis is being placed on programs for the early detection and early care of such diseases as cancer, diabetes and heart disease.

In summing up the public health needs in Michigan at the half-century, the Michigan Department of Health urged more completely staffed and better financed local health departments; and broader public understanding and participation in health programs.

Shoe-Fitting Machines Undergo State Tests

All fluoroscopic shoe-fitting machines in Michigan are now being checked by Industrial Health Engineers of the Michigan Department of Health to make sure that they meet proper standards to protect the customer and store employee from the danger of overexposure to x-rays.

Indiscriminate and too frequent use of any x-ray shoe-fitting machine is dangerous. Overexposure to x-rays can cause radiation burns, anemia, leukemia, and chronic radiation poisoning, the Department said. Overexposure to x-rays is particularly serious in children.

No individual should have more than 12 fluoroscopic shoe-fittings in any year and each exposure should be limited to five seconds.

Investigating the hazards of shoe-fitting machines in the state, Industrial Health Engineers have found some older type, improperly shielded machines in operation which actually continually leaked x-rays endangering the employee and customer alike. They found others which used as much as six times the allowable exposure time.

About 300 or approximately half the shoe-fitting machines in the state have recently been checked. Others will be checked as soon as possible. When a machine is in satisfactory operating condition, an acceptance card is placed on it. This means only that the machine is non-hazardous at the time of inspection, when used by a customer no more than 12 times a year. It is the customer's responsibility to make sure that his x-ray shoe-fittings do not exceed 12 in any one year.

To protect both employees and customers, owners of any of the older type of machines which have not been checked by Industrial Health Engineers should request this service from the Michigan Department of Health.

Herald classifieds pay big dividends.

WOOL PRICES RISING, MSC PROFESSOR SAYS

East Lansing — Scarcity and high price are causing wool fabrics to give way to a 1951 trend toward synthetic materials such as rayon, nylon, and orlon, according to Hazel B. Strahan, head of Michigan State College's department of textiles, clothing and related arts.

Since the start of the Korean war, domestic wool prices have jumped 31 cents a pound. Foreign wools have increased about 52 per cent in price since June, 1950, Miss Strahan said.

Synthetic fibers have increased only slightly in price, while natural fibers—wool and cotton—have increased a great deal more.

The average citizen can expect to pay about $3.50 to $10 more for suits next fall, she said.

Adding to the normal scarcity of wool will be the military requirements of all nations on the world's wool supply.

Long Way Around

"I say," said a bumptious individual to a man standing at the street corner, "just tell me how I can get to Blang Street."

"Well," was the reply, "take the third turning on the left, first to the right, second to the right again, fourth to left, first to right, fifth to left, cut across a square pass through a crescent, take the second to the left, and you'll get it."

The stranger jotted down the particulars and followed the instructions given. After three quarters of an hour he was startled to arrive at the place where he had asked the question, and to see the same man still standing at the corner.

"Why did you direct me wrongly?" he demanded angrily.

"You asked for Blank Street, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, then, I directed you right. This is Blank Street."

ONE HUNDREDTH YEAR—NUMBER TWENTY-TWO — TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, MARCH 1, 1951 — FIVE CENTS A COPY

Ask Change In Form Of Goverment

PROGRAM, INCLUDING ANNEXATION OF TERRITORY, LAUNCHED BY C. OF C.

The program to change Tecumseh's form of government from a village to a city and, at the same time, annex fringe areas that would about double the size of the new corporation, was launched by the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening. The "campaign of progress" was started before members of the Rotary Club when C. O. Butler, president of the Chamber, Ronald Harris, secretary, the Rev. B. O. Bashore, and John R. Zeigler, attorney, explained the steps necessary to bring about the change.

It is the Chamber's program, the speakers explained, to immediately begin the circulation of petitions in both Tecumseh and Raisin townships, looking toward the annexation of fringe areas. As soon as a sufficient number of signatures have been obtained, (only about 125 in all are necessary), then the petitions will be filed with the county board of supervisors, asking that an election date be established. It is estimated that about 90 days will intervene between the time of the filing of the petitions and the election.

The proposed area of the new "City of Tecumseh" is as follows: Commencing on the south line of Tecumseh township 500 feet east of the section line dividing Sections 35 and 36, for a place of beginning; thence north to a point 500 feet north of the east-west quarter section line of Section 26; thence west to the line dividing sections 27 and 26; thence north along said section line extended to the Tecumseh township north line; thence west along said township line, to the section line dividing sections 20 and 21; thence south along said section line to the south section line of Section 20; thence west 500 feet; thence south to a point 500 feet north of M-50; thence west to the north-south quarter section line of Section 29; thence south along said section line extended to the center of Section 5, Raisin township; thence east to the center of Section 3, Raisin township; thence north to the line dividing the townships of Tecumseh and Raisin; thence east along said dividing line to the place of beginning.

The new description would extend Tecumseh's northern boundry to the Clinton-Tecumseh township line, and the southern boundry to half a secton into Raisin township. It also would extend the western boundry to include the new subdivision area there, and on the east it would do likewise. Over all, the total area of the "greater Tecumseh" would be about twice its present size.

Mr. Butler, in presenting the program to the club, said that such a change is long past due. He pointed out that Tecumseh is one of the few corporations of its size in the state operating under village form.

The Rev. Mr. Bashore, who is chairman of the Chamber's committee to direct the annexation-change in government program, declared that the move has been studied for nearly three years, and that it is deemed advisable for Tecumseh's future growth.

Mr. Harris told how the Chamber has studied the plan, declared that it has been fully investigated and that more than 20 towns that have, in the past few years, changed their form of government, have been canvassed. Not one of the number, he said, regret the change. He declared that changing

Tecumseh Wins LCAA Pennant

INDIAN CAGERS DEFEAT MORENCI FOR FIRST HONORS IN COUNTY LEAGUE

The Tecumseh high school Indians are the undisputed basketball champions in the Lenawee County Athletic Association.

Coach Elven Duvall's warriors took final possession of the LCAA flag last Friday evening at Morenci when they defeated the Bulldogs on their own court by a 46-30 score. The Indians dropped only one contest in the 14-game schedule. Morenci, contending until the last minute of play for the league honors, wound up in second place with 11 wins and three defeats. Addison placed third with 8 wins and 6 losses; Blissfield, fourth, 8 wins, 6 losses; Clinton, fifth, 7 wins and 7 losses; Pittsford, sixth, 6 wins, 8 losses; Hudson, seventh, 2 wins, 12 losses; Summerfield, in the cellar, with 1 win and 13 losses.

There was never a moment of the Morenci contest when the Indians were in any real danger. At halftime the Tecumseh lads had a 25-17 lead. The local boys racked up 12 points in the third quarter, and in the final stanza there were the two scoring markers.

A crowd of fans, estimated at more than 800, saw the contest that killed Morenci's hopes for first place honors and put Tecumseh on the top shelf in LCAA circles. A year ago, Blissfield won the league cage honors but this year tied with Addison for third place. It was the second time that the Indians had trounced the Bulldogs this season, the earlier score favoring Tecumseh, 39-36. The Indians dropped their lone game of the season to Addison by a slim 34-33 contest.

In Friday's game, the Bulldogs came onto the court in a fast offensive that gave them a 4-0 lead in the first few seconds of play. Owen Campbell for the Indians narrowed the margin by hitting on a drive in, but Morenci came back with a free throw and in the first four minutes of play registered a 7-4 lead.

Dick Whelan then came through with a one hander and followed with three successful free throws. Campbell dropped in a free toss. John Sisson, sufficiently recovered from an appendicitis operation to play, dropped one through the loop as the quarter ended, Tecumseh 12, Morenci 7.

In the second quarter, Morenci twice tied the score. Once it stood at 15-15 and a moment later at 17-17. However, at half time the score read 25-17 in favor of Tecumseh.

Sparked by Jim Breitenwischer the Indians entered the third period with determination and at the end of the stanza the score read 37-25 in favor of the Indians. In the last quarter the Duvallmen despite the use of substitutes by both teams, moved steadily ahead with their scoring and when the whistle blew the board read Tecumseh 46, Bulldogs, 30.

High scoring honors went to Breitenwischer with 15 points Bob Packard led for Morenci with 10. The Indians hit the hoop 10 out of 24 tries while Morenci found the basket only six times out of 17 tries.

In the reserves game that preceded the varsity contest, Morenci won from the Tecumseh second string by a 38-34 score.

WM. HENDERSHOT BURIED

Funeral services for William J. Hendershot, who died at the Parrett Nursing Home, February 19, were held at the Collins Funeral Home, Thursday afternoon, February 22 at 2:30. The Rev. Edward Escolme officiated and bearers were John G. Murphy, Thomas Murphy, Charles Allen, Otto Kruger, James Johnston, and Lavern Murphy. Burial was in the Aten cemetery. Those attending the service came from Clinton, Macon, Adrian, Hillsdale and Tecumseh.

Raid Warning Signals Public

ONE 3-MINUTE BLAST OF SIREN WILL INDICATE THAT RAID IS EXPECTED

Neville Hart, director of Civilian Defense here, today made public the air raid warning signals that will be used to alert the area to impending raids.

The Red Signal—the real alert —will consist of a three-minute fluctuating blast of the fire siren, or a succession of intermittent blasts by other whistles. This signal means that the public should take shelter and be ready for a raid.

The White Signal—the all clear notice—will consist of a series of three one-minute steady blasts of the siren or whistle. The blasts will be separated by two minutes of silence. This signal means that the raid is over.

The signals were adopted at a meeting of the Defense Council, Monday evening.

Mr. Hart also announced that it has been decided, locally, to ask each block warden in the village to name a woman living in his block as an assistant. These women would be able to take over the warden's duties in the event that the warden was absent at work during the time of emergency. Hart asked that the appointments be made at once, and that the women so designated report for training in the first aid or home nursing courses to be offered in the near future.

The next meeting of section wardens will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the new high school.

"This is a very important meeting," Hart declared, "and it is essential that all section wardens attend."

PALMYRA BOY CITED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

A 16-year-old Palmyra boy is being cited to Corp. Harold Bliss of the Michigan State Police in connection with a reckless driving charge, lodged against him by police here on Wednesday, February 21.

According to local officers, the lad drove his car recklessly and at an excessive speed.

CAR HITS TRAILER

A car driven by Vincent Haight, Tecumseh, collided with the rear of a trailer, attached to a car driven by Charles Bowen, Rt. 1, Tecumseh, on N. Maumee street at 7:45 p.m., February 20, according to police. Officers said that it was raining and that Mr. Haight did not see the trailer, which was not lighted, in time to avoid the mishap. Damage was estimated at $150.

DIVISION OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT MEETS WITH 3-VILLAGE GROUP

Tecumseh's small manufacturers were reminded last weekend that "Go out and sell" is still the way to do business in spite of the number of defense contracts and subcontracts which are appearing.

Robert Byers and Ben Clark of the Michigan Department of Economic Development met with a group of small manufacturers at the V.F.W. hall last Friday and gave suggestions and information on how smaller plants may improve their status. The representatives of the department have been spending a great deal of time with various government procurement agencies and were able to give the manufacturers valuable tips on the "know-how" of getting orders.

"Government procurement agencies let contracts on the same basis as do purchasing agents in private industry," the department representatives reminded the plant owners. "Contracts and orders will not be brought to you on a platter, and you must therefore offer the goods and services your plant can produce."

The manufacturers were urged to make more careful studies of the daily invitations to bid and weekly list of contract awards which are available at the Chamber of Commerce. Manufacturers were also told to prepare a list of their facilities to place on file with the Department of Economic Development, so that prime contractors may have sources of information for any services that these local plants might render.

As a result of this meeting, the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce requested an increased number of copies of Department of Commerce information sheets. The local Chamber is one of the state's 84 outlets of information. Representatives of industry in Clinton and Blissfield were present at the meeting and requested the Tecumseh Chamber to service them also.

Glee Club Will Be On Town Hall

U. OF M. MUSICAL GROUP TO PRESENT CONCERT HERE ON MARCH 14

Ninety-two years of concert singing is the record of the University of Michigan Men's Glee Club.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Philip R. Duey, will appear on the Town Hall program at the Central School here, Wednesday evening, March 14, at 8 o'clock. Admission to the concert is without charge, the cost having been underwritten by Town Hall sponsors.

Organized in 1859, the club is today the oldest musical organization on the Michigan campus and probably is among the earliest of the college glee clubs.

Singing was only a part of the act when the Glee Club first came into existence. The organization at various times included a band, a small orchestra, native Hawaiian artists, a banjo quintet, bird imitators, impersonators and mandolin acts. In fact, the club was known in the early 1900's as the University of Michigan Glee and Mandolin Club.

At the beginning of the 1922-23 season, the organization was renamed the Michigan Glee Clubs. An instrumental group remained, however, and the musicians often gave a concert during the early part of a program and then remained to play for a dance to round out the night's entertainment.

Two seasons later, the final step was taken in the evolution of the present University of Michigan Men's Glee Club. The organization since then has been composed only of male vocalists. The change took place because the club planned to compete in the annual contest of the Inter-collegiate Glee Clubs and decided it was best to separate from the instrumental group.

Since being founded, the Glee Club has gained nationwide recognition as an outstanding musical organization and appears in concerts each year under the sponsorship of alumni clubs, concert organizations, civic and service organizations and school music departments. The club has a coast-to-coast record since concerts have been given from New York City to Portland, Oregon.

Moore Cage Team Will Play In Tecumseh, Ont.

A flurry of "over-the-border" activities between Tecumseh, Michigan, and Tecumseh, Ontario, developed over the week-end.

On Monday, March 12, the Knotty Pines, a local basketball aggregation under the sponsorship of R. S. Moore & Son Company, is scheduled to play an independent team from the sister town in Canada. The game is to be played at the High Beston school, which is on Tecumseh Road in Windsor, directly on the road to the Ontario town.

This game developed as a result of the failure to promote Tecumseh-Tecumseh school games because of state and provincial restrictions on post season contests. The namesake town is hopeful of scheduling a game with the Knotty Pines in the Michigan city during the month.

Next Monday, March 5, the Ontario town will steal a march on the Michigan village, when they will hold ceremonies in connection with the official opening of their new post office. A new post office has been a project in both towns, and the Canadians have at last been successful.

A number of representatives of the Michigan towns are planning to attend the opening ceremonies in the afternoon and the dedication banquet at the Golden Hotel in the evening.

CHEER UP! SPRING IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER, 'TIS SAID

Sun Eclipse to Precede Arrival of Spring, March 21

A partial eclipse of the sun on March 7 and the arrival of Spring on March 21 will provide a month of the year with more than the usual astronomical highlights.

The eclipse will take place near sunset and will cover up only about nine per cent of the sun's surface, according to Dr. Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

"The necessary requirements for a solar eclipse are to have the moon in a new phase, which means that the moon passes between the earth and the sun, and also for the three bodies to be lined up in a row so that the moon will blot out a part or all of the sun as viewed from the earth," Dr. Losh says.

In this region, the eclipse will begin at 5:15 p.m., EST, on Wednesday, March 7, and will be over at 6:09 p.m., just before the sun disappears over the horizon. Dr. Losh says the eclipse will be easily visible if the weather is clear despite the fact it will take place so close to the horizon. Even though the sun's light will be considerably dimmed, she suggests using heavily smoked glass or dense film negatives as protection for the eyes.

"Spring is due at 5:26 a.m., EST, on Wednesday, March 21," Dr. Losh reports. "At this time, the sun will cross the equator and continue its journey northward bringing with it longer days and more warmth."

Spring is arriving nearly six hours later than it did in 1950, she says, because it has taken the sun 365.24219 days to make its journey around the earth. The fact that the sun can't make its trip in exactly 365 days is the reason why we add an extra day to the calendar every four years to keep us in tune with sun's travels.

"On the first day of Spring, the sun will rise and set exactly at the east and west points of the horizon and the day and night are said to be of equal length," the University astronomer reports. "This isn't quite true since the bending of the sun's rays permit us to see the sun a few minutes before it actually reaches the horizon in the west."

Because of this bending, or refraction, of light, the time between sunrise to sunset will be a few minutes longer than the time from sunset to sunrise on the day Spring arrives, Dr. Losh reports. Actually, day and night will be exactly equal on March 18, three days before the date of the equinox.

When You Eat Bread You Eat Taxes

The New York Journal-American recently published an unusual graf. It showed the high present-day cost of a number of commodities in general use. It then showed how much of this high cost is due to inflation, and how much in increased taxes. As an example, it said of bread, "When you buy today's 14-cent loaf you are paying five cents to cover the cost of inflation which has resulted from our national policy of deficit spending and aid to the world, plus another nickel to cover all the direct and indirect taxes which become attached to this loaf of bread on the way from the wheat fields to the dinner table." So it goes, from shoes and soap to refrigerators and automobiles.

Information of this kind should come as a revelation to those who blindly blame business for all the price increases. Some customer groups actually selected the retailer as their primary target. They have picketed stores in some cities. They have pledged themselves to cut their buying to the bone in an effort to force the retailers to lower prices by some arbitrary percentage.

The consumer has a perfect right to do this, but it will not get results. The retailer has no control over his prices—save to the extent that he can cut his operating costs and operate with a maximum economy. He must pay the increasing costs of his goods, wages, taxes, rents and everything else. His net profit in many cases is substantially less than it was when prices were much lower than at present. If he made no profit at all, his customers would save only a few cents out of each dollar they spend with him.

Consumers should remember this: The biggest force back of inflation is wasteful and extravagant government and a strike against retailers will not correct such a condition.

Time For Clear, Serious Thinking

The Wage Earner Forum, which is conducted by the McFadden Publications and which makes constant studies of labor thinking among 1500 families scattered throughout the nation, asked this question: "In England they have what is known as socialized medicine—that is, the government supplies free medical and health service to the people. There is talk of having such a plan in the United States. Would you favor such a plan here?

The result of the poll was as follows: 26.9 per cent said yes; 45.8 per cent said no; 27.3 per cent replied that they didn't know enough about it.

Some interesting deductions can be made from this. First of all, it indicates that only about one-fourth of the wage earners are for socialized medicine, while nearly twice as many are against it. This is all to the good. What is not to the good is that more than a quarter of the typical wage earners who answered the question haven't made up their minds.

It is high time that labor understood the stake it has in a free economy and free enterprise—and that goes for medicine as well as all other professons and business. Every time socialism takes a step forward, the danger to all of us—whether we are directly touched so far or not—is vastly increased. This point was stressed in a splendid speech recently made by William L. Hutcheson, a vice president of the American Federation of Labor. He said, in effect, that if free labor is to be preserved, the freedom of everyone else must be preserved, too.

Labor, in its own self-interest, should join with the forces which are fighting enslavement—and which are fighting everybody's battle.

Lock The Barn — The Horse Is Gone

Everyone who drives is talking about the horrible condition of the highways, not only in Lenawee county but state-wide. Trunk lines, state and federal, are rapidly breaking up. It will cost millions of dollars to repair and replace them.

A certain amount of the damage can be blamed to the severe winter, which we hope is about over, but there is another reason and, as we see it, a more important one.

The average Michigan trunk line was not built to withstand the heavy traffic loads and the ever-increasing truck traffic. It is apparent that the state legislature is awakening to the fact and would like to boost the amount of license fee on such vehicles.

To increase the tax on trucks now would be like locking the barn after the horse is stolen. The damage is done.

Of course, the highways must be rebuilt and some kind of legislation must be enacted to protect them in the future. That is just good sense from a safety standpoint and from an economic standpoint.

In our opinion, two things should be done. First, the minimum fine for the overloading of trucks on the highways should be increased and made mandatory. Second, trucks should be made to pay, through licensing, a greater percentage of the cost of road building and maintenance.

It is time — in fact, past time — that the highways in Michigan were protected, and the cost of building and maintaining them was put on a more business-like basis.

Miss Elizabeth Bishop Bride of Harry Hepner

The Glenn VanDenbergh home on West Chicago boulevard was the setting of a lovely home wedding, Saturday afternoon, February 24 at 2 o'clock when Miss Elizabeth Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bishop of Kalamazoo, and Harry W. Hepner of Royal Oak, son of Harry W. Hepner of Detroit and Mrs. Katie Hart of Royal Oak were united in marriage. The Rev. Donald C. Wilson performed the double ring ceremony before a fire place banked with large baskets of Spring flowers. The rooms also were decorated with flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a blue suit with matching accessories and carried a shower bouquet centered with gardenias. Mrs. Russell Hossington of Milford attended the bride as maid of honor and wore a grey suit and carried a shower bouquet centered with rubium lillies. Mr. Hoslington attended Mr. Hepner as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a receptpion was held for the newlyweds. The lace covered table was centered with Spring flowers and two large wedding cakes, one at each end of the table. They were gifts from a friend of the bride. Mrs. VanDenbergh was assisted by Miss Mary Karbula of Mansfield, Ohio, and Miss Pat Nyland poured.

The bride, before her marriage, was employed as nurse at Herrick Memorial Hospital for three years and roomed with the VanDenberghs. She is a graduate of Ann Arbor and Alma College having R. N. and B. A. degrees. Mr. Hepner is also a graduate of Alma College. The couple left later in the afternoon for their apartment in Detroit, where he is employed.

Miss Carolyn L. Wilson Weds Pfc. David Faling

The Presbyterian church was the scene of a wedding, lovely in its simplicity, Sunday afternoon, February 25 at 2:30, when Miss Carolyn Louise Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Wilson of Tecumseh, and Pvt. David Harry Faling, of Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Faling of Petersburg, were united in marriage. The Rev. Donald C. Wilson performed the double ring ceremony before the immediate families.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of blush pink lace over taffeta, with a tight buttoned bodice. The high stand-up collar and lace caplet were circled with sweetheart rosebuds. She wore a pearl choker, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a crescent bouquet of white camelias. Miss Dorothy Jean Brandt was maid of honor and wore a ballerina length gown of pale blue over taffeta and carried a crescent bouquet of pink camelias. Ivan W. Gorr of Petersburg attended Mr. Faling as best man.

Mrs. Wilson, the bride's mother, wore a slate grey dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink happiness roses. Mrs. Faling, the groom's mother, wore a navy dress, with white accessories and a corsage of white Kilarney roses.

A reception was held at 4 o'clock at the Tecumseh Country Club for over 200 guests. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake trimmed with pink rosebuds. The table cover also was trimmed with pink satin ribbon and garlands of rosebuds. The room decorations were in pink and white and the mantle was decorated with lighted pink tapers.

The hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Ousterhout and Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Hall of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Burton and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schupman of Petersburg. A two-course luncheon was served with Mrs. E. C. She is a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the class of 1947 and is a senior at Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti. She is affiliated with the Sigma Nu Phi sorority. Mr. Faling is a graduate of Petersburg high school with the class of 1947, and from Cleary College of Business in 1950. He is now stationed at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin. 350 at International Meeting at Friends

The largest international, interracial and interdenominational meeting ever held at the Tecumseh Friends church took place last Thursday night, when the 350 present taxed the seating capacity of the auditorium.

The Irish evangelist, Bert Turner and the colored Eureka Jubilee Singers closed a four-day series of meetings that night. A chartered bus and several private cars filled to capacity, came from Essex, Canada, to return the visit made them by 80 Tecumseh Friends a few weeks ago. In the congregation were natives of Latvia, Greece and England. On the platform were the American, British and Christian flags. People from many nearby towns and churches were present.

The famous Jubilee Singers presented a program of sacred music and Negro spirituals. The Rev. Mr. Turner preached the closing sermon in the four-day series of meetings.

Following the service the Canadian guests were served a lunch in the church basement and a short program was presented. They brought with them a large cake on which was printed "Greetings to Tecumseh from Essex."

Many records were broken last week by the Friends. On February 18 the Sunday School attendance made it possible to break the large red phonograph record on which were the figures 231. The attendance that day was 232. From Sunday through Thursday the total attendance was 1,660 at all meetings.

On March 11, at 3 p.m., the choir from Cleveland Bible College will present a program of sacred music at the church.

Miss JoAnn Johnston Bride of John Sisson

Wedding vows of Miss JoAnn Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnston, and John Theodore Sisson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Sisson, all of Tecumseh, were spoken Wednesday evening at 7:30 at St. Peter's Episcopal church with the Rev. Gilbert Runkel of Adrian, officiating. The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar banked with white snapdragons and stock, palms and burning tapers. The pews were marked with blue and white bows and plumosis.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white period design dress of imported net over taffeta. The pleated bodice featured a white ruffle, outlining a deep neckline, and the full sleeves ended in tight fitting cuffs. The hoop skirt extended into the train with a fitted net cloche holding the double finger-tip veil. She carried a prayer book centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Priscilla Brown attended the bride as maid of honor. The bridesmaids, Miss Wayne Filter and Miss Mary Jane Dermyer wore identical gowns of forget-me-not blue taffeta, with drop shoulders, full length hoop skirts with matching headbands and mitts. Each carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations edged with blue moline to match the gowns. Diana Filter, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and wore a white net fashioned like the bride's gown. Raynor Spreeman of Dundee attended Mr. Sisson as best man. The ushers were Richard Beasley and Owen Campbell. Michael Vanderpool of Jackson, was the ringbearer.

Dr. James Spencer played nuptial music and accompanied the Misses Marlys and Evelyn Arnold as they sang "Ave Marie" and "Because."

Mrs. Johnston, the bride's mother, wore pink crepe with black accessories and a camellia corsage. Mrs. Sisson, the groom's mother, wore navy crepe with pink accessories and a pink rose corsage. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Anderson, wore navy sheer with white accessories and a pink camellia corsage.

The wedding reception was held in the parish house for 200 guests immediately following the ceremony. The decorations were in blue and silver. Mrs. Donald Filter cut the four-tiered wedding cake, and Mrs. Robert Retter and Mrs. Ira Manwaring poured. Mrs. Louise Vanderpool was at the guest book and Mrs. Harold Meads, Mrs. Robert D. Moore and Mrs. William Tilton served. Guests were registered from Clinton, Jackson, Britton, Clarks Lake, Dundee, Detroit, Royal Oak and Celina, Ohio.

For traveling the bride changed to a cocoa brown suit with green accessories and wore an orchid corsage. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Sisson will reside at 210 South Maiden Lane. The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and is employed at Wright's Drug Store. The groom is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and is employed at Hayden Mills.

He pointed out that while there might be some disagreement in boundry lines, the present established lines were the result of careful planning.

Mr. Zeigler explained the legal mechanics connected with the proposed annexation and the election. Onsted, Rome, Cambridge Get Better Power Supply

The electric power supply to Onsted and the major portions of Rome and Cambridge townships will be greatly increased with the new substation which has recently been put into operation at Onsted to serve the area, according to H. H. Koelbel of Jackson, division manager of Consumers Power Company.

Mr. Koelbel also announced that a new 40,000 volt distribution line from the Wampler's Lake Substation to the new Onsted substation replaces the 11,000 volt line from Cement City that has served the area for several years.

The new substation is located on Slee Road in the southeast corner of Onsted, across from the school. It is of the "Erecticon" design developed and perfected by Consumers Power Company engineers and has had widespread use in the Consumers system.

The Onsted structure will house one 750 kva capacity three-phase transformer. This will reduce the high power to voltage used in local distribution lines.

According to Warren Mullen, Jackson division electrical distribution superintendent, the new line from Wampler's Lake follows a cleared right-of-way the full seven miles of its length eliminating the chances of service interruptions caused by line breakage from storm damaged trees and brush. The old 11,000 volt line, which followed a heavily forested area, was prey to such damage.

Tecumseh Gets New Postoffice

DON'T GET EXCITED, IT'S TECUMSEH, ONT.; LOCAL FOLK AT DEDICATION

Tecumseh's village government postponed its scheduled council meeting Monday night, while the entire council journeyed to Tecumseh, Ontario, to participate in the sister town's dedication of its new postoffice. The local delegation was present at the ribbon cutting ceremony in the afternoon and were guests at a huge civic banquet in the evening.

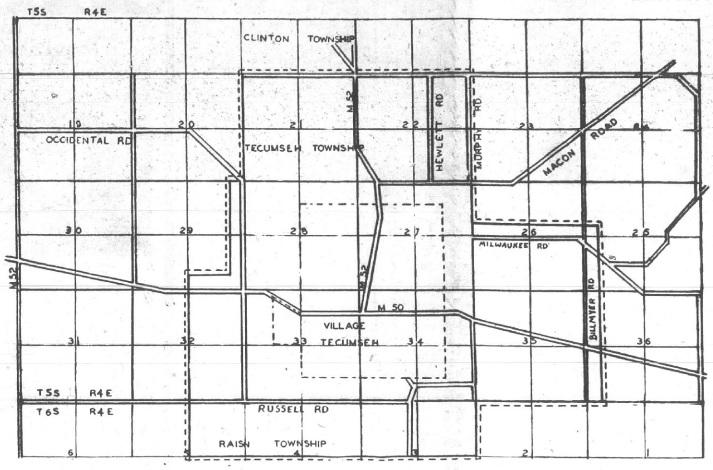
The affairs were unique in that most of the program was bilingual. Many of the speakers spoke first in French and then repeated all or part of their remarks in English.

The principal guest and speaker was Edouard Rinfret, Postmaster General of Canada, who cut the ribbon in the afternoon and spoke at the banquet. Also taking a prominent part was Paul Martin, Minister of Health. Other distinguished guests and speakers were Arthur Reaume, Mayor of Windsor; Don Brown and Gordon Ellis, Members of Parliament; and Federal Senator Gustave Lacasse who is a former mayor of the Canadian town.

Mayor Tom Scott of Tecumseh, Ontario, was in charge of the ceremonies both in the afternoon and evening. He presented Mayor Floyd Elliott of the Michigan town who congratulated the Canadians on their splendid new post office, referring to our own long struggle to get such a building.

In addition to Mayor and Mrs. Elliott, the following were present from the Michigan namesake: Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. George McCombs, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heilman, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sluyter, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Trnesdale, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rohweder, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kronker, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Leitch, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Harris.

Map Shows Present And Proposed Tecumseh Boundary Lines



The map above shows the present village corporation line and the expanded corporation line of the proposed new city of Tecumseh through an annexation program that is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. The broken line in the center of the map, marked village of Tecumseh, is the present corporation limit. The broken line and the solid line which extends north to the Clinton township line, south into Raisin township, and widely expanded east and west, is the proposed new city boundry. The proposed annexation would more than double the size of the present corporation. Petitions to bring about an election on the proposed change will go into circulation here soon, and an election on the issue may be held by mid-summer. The Chamber plans to conduct an educational program in connection with the expansion program and will furnish speakers to groups and organizations desiring discussion sessions. It was pointed out that no change in the boundry can be made until the issue has been submitted to and approved by the electors.

C. of C. To Aid Defense Program

NAMED AS ONE OF STATE'S 84 OUTLETS FOR FEDERAL INFORMATION

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce has been designated as one of the 84 Michigan outlets for information by the United States Department of Commerce, the National Production Authority, and other government agencies, it was announced today by Ronald Harris, secretary.

An enormous number of orders, directives, and releases will be given to the local Chamber for the information of business men in these highly uncertain defense times. Individuals can seldom be placed on these mailing lists, and they are therefore requested to make use of the nearest outlet, which locally is the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

"This service entails an enormous amount of office paper work," Mr. Harris stated. "We are not staffed or equipped to present this mass of information directly to all of our business people. We shall attempt to catalogue all of the material, and we are developing a whole new file which our people are urged to consult. The magnitude of detail is shown that on the first day, information was filed covering subjects from abrasives to zinc and all points of the alphabet in between."

Two items on file should be consulted immediately. The Wage and Price stabilization orders are on file, and while the problems connected with these orders are highly fluid, business men should be careful to check their privileges and restrictions.

Another item is highly important to small manufacturers. All invitations to bid on government contracts are received daily by the Chamber, so that manufacturers may determine what orders they might be equipped to bid on. A summary of all government contracts awarded is received weekly and small plants may check these for sources of subcontract work.

Blissfield and Clinton are also served by the Tecumseh Chamber in some of these matters.

TITLEY WINS FOR SUPERVISOR IN TWO-WAY RACE WITH T. J. WAGNER

LeRoy Titley was renominated for the office of supervisor at the Republican caucus of Tecumseh township, Tuesday evening. The caucus was to have been held in the Council Building but, because of an overflow crowd, it was adjourned to the auditorium of Legion Memorial Home. A total of 256 votes were cast. The crowd was the largest attracted to a party caucus in this village in more than 20 years.

In the race for supervisor, Mr. Titley, the incumbent, was opposed by T. J. Wagner, present village assessor. In the balloting, Titley received 150 votes, Mr. Wagner, 101 votes, and five ballots were disqualified.

The job of organizing Tecumseh Civilian Defense group is progressing normally and within another week or two all posts should be filled, Neville Hart, local director, declared today. Indian Cagers Win "B" Title

TROUNCE ADRIAN IN 40-31 VICTORY; TWO INDIANS ON ALL-COUNTY TEAM

The Tecumseh high school Indian cagers added another feather to their already well-decorated hats, last Saturday evening, by defeating the Adrian high quintet in the Class B district finals in the Maple City by a score of 40 to 31. Earlier, Tecumseh had won the L.C.A.A. pennant by trouncing Morenci. In the league race, the Indians lost only one of their 14 scheduled contests.

And as though the smarting defeat that was handed to the County Seat cagers was not sufficient, the Indians, on Monday evening, placed two players on the All-County Cage Team at a meeting of coaches, held at Adrian College. On the second all-county string named by the coaches, two more Indians also found their names.

This evening, Coach Elven Duvall's team will travel to Albion for the regional finals in the cage tournament. In this contest, scheduled for 7:00, the Indians will meet Hastings high school team. At 8:30, in the same gym, East Lansing will play Marshall. The winners of the two contests will play at 8:30 Saturday evening in the Albion College gym. Should Tecumseh win, the Indians will go on to the quarter finals, the location of this contest to be determined later.

"Hastings has a fast team and a good team," Coach Duvall said today, "but we have hopes of winning our game tonight. The Indians are determined to stay in the state contest, and it is difficult to defeat such determination."

Coach Duvall said that there are a few tickets for tonight's game still available, and may be purchased by contacting the local high school.

The All-County Cage Team selected by Lenawee coaches at the Adrian meeting, Monday evening, is as follows:

Junior Lippens, Blissfield; John Knight, Clinton; David VanWinkle, Tecumseh; Bob Packard, Morenci; John Sisson, Tecumseh.

The team is chosen without regard to positions, and players are judged for performance only. Van Winkle is Tecumseh's center and Sisson is a forward. Incidentally, Sisson was the only junior named to the team.

The second string, as named by the coaches, follows:

Dick Whelan, Tecumseh; Owen Campbell, Tecumseh; Gerald Barnes, Morenci; LeRoy Solmonson, Morenci; L. Wohgalmuth, Summerfield; Skip Culver, Hudson.

Five Secrets To Household Safety

Each citizen should learn the five keys to household safety. They are:

1. Strive for fireproof housekeeping. Don't let trash pile up, and keep waste paper in covered containers. When an alert sounds, do all you can to eliminate sparks by shutting off the oil or gas burner, and covering all open flames.
2. Know your own home. Know which is the safest part of your cellar, learn how to turn off your oil or gas burner, and what to do about utilities.
3. Have emergency equipment and supplies handy. Always have a good flashlight, a radio, first-aid equipment and a supply of canned goods in the house.
4. Close all windows and doors and draw the blinds. If you have time when an alert sounds, close the house up tight in order to keep out fire sparks and radioactive dusts and to lessen the chances of being cut by flying glass. Keep the house closed until all danger is past.
5. Use the telephone only for true emergencies. Do not use the phone unless absolutely necessary. Leave the lines open for real emergency traffic.

Don't Shoot The Piano Player

Somewhere, sometime, we read that an old Western saloon once displayed a sign which said: "Don't shoot the piano player, he's doing the best that he can." That Will Rogers-like philosophy might well apply to the men in government in Tecumseh. They are trying to operate a corporation that is today nearly three times as large as it was 20 years ago, and they're trying to do it with the same obsolete "tools" that they had a score of years ago. If, therefore, the men in government locally make mistakes—hit sour notes, so to speak—they shouldn't be shot at, verbally. Given a good instrument, they'd probably be able to play an entirely different sounding tune.

That, in a measure, is how we feel about the Chamber of Commerce program which calls for a change in Tecumseh's form of government. In the 1951 vernacular, the Chamber of Commerce is asking that the residents of Tecumseh provide the men in local government "with a new piano." The old one is worn out, it's out of tune, and needs to be replaced.

We suppose that there are some folk in Tecumseh who, even today, shy at the word "city." Some folk feel that there's something mysterious about a city and that it is synonimous with "big town." Such is not the case. In Michigan, for example, there are about 90 "cities" smaller than Tecumseh. There are only nine towns of Tecumseh's size or larger that still are villages, and most of these are suburban areas of Detroit. The U. S. census of 1940 shows that there were 15 "cities" in Michigan at that time with a population of less than 1,000. Figures for 1950 have not yet been released.

In Lenawee county, the cities of Morenci and Hudson both are smaller than Tecumseh. In Washtenaw county, the neighboring city of Saline is about half the size of Tecumseh.

It seems, therefore, that the population of a town has nothing to do with the fact that it is either a village or a city. A poll by the Chamber of Commerce of more than 20 towns that recently changed from village to city form of government shows that not one of them would like to return to the old method.

The fact that there are only nine towns of Tecumseh's size or larger in all of the state that still are villages—and some of these are said to be considering a change—should be near conclusive proof that Tecumseh, in remaining a village, is out of step with comparable communities.

Certainly, Tecumseh has never had the reputation of being "out of tune" in any progressive movement.

To those who fear that in changing Tecumseh's form of government from that of a village to a city would, over night, effect a drastic physical change, we say that they are in for a disappointment. The sun will continue to rise in the east and set in the west, just as it has always done. Local people will continue to hold public office much as they have done in the past, and there will still be problems to be solved and chuck holes in the streets. How good a government we have under city form, and how many problems we solve in the future will still depend upon US — the people.

The only thing that city from of government will do for Tecumseh is to bring it up to date, so to speak, in its method of government. We now are operating under a village law that was enacted by the Michigan legislature in 1896—55 years ago. That, perhaps, is one of the big reasons why so many towns, even smaller than Tecumseh, have in the past few years switched to the more modern form of government. They found, as we have found here, that their "piano was out of tune"—that it was a 55 year old instrument.

Before any change is made in Tecumseh's form of government the people will be given an opportunity to study and vote on such a step. A charter commission will be named, and a new up-to-the-minute charter will be drafted. The new charter MUST be approved by the people before any change can be made. As to the form of government—council, commission or manager—that will probably be suggested by the commission but, again, the people MUST approve.

Should Tecumseh decide to become a city there are distinct advantages. The new city would, for example, have three or four representatives on the board of supervisors. That is important. Tecumseh is the second largest community in Lenawee county and, as such, pays the second largest tax in the county. It should, therefore, have a greater voice at county board meetings. Today, only one supervisor represents BOTH the township and the village.

It also would be possible for Tecumseh to set up a municipal court system and retain most of the money taken in by the court. Presently the courts are operated by township justices of the peace.

Duplication of government functions, always confusing, would be eliminated. For example, taxes would be paid to only one treasurer instead of to two, as is now the custom. There would only be one point of registration for voting. Today there are two. Only the city would assess property for taxes. Today there are two assessments, one for the village and the other for the township.

Some folk seem to fear that operating Tecumseh under city form of government would cost more than under village form. As we see it, there should be little or no difference in the cost. Should there be a difference, it should be a saving to the taxpayers because, certainly, there will be an elimination of duplicated government functions.

By and large, the cost of government it what we, the people, make it. If we are constantly demanding something from goverment, then we must pay for our demands. If we have an elaborate government, we must pay for the "extras."

The Chamber of Commerce survey of cities that recently changed from village to city form of government shows that there was no appreciable difference in operating costs. In instances where costs increased, such increases were due to local and inflationary conditions.

For several years we have been verbally "shooting at the piano players" in local government. Many local folk have become "gun shy" and are refusing to "play" any more. As we see it, it is time to get a new "piano."

Surgery Cuts TB Death Rate

DISEASE, HOWEVER, STILL REMAINS MOST COSTLY IN LOSS OF LIFE

Modern surgical treatment is steadily decreasing the death rate of advanced tuberculosis of the lungs, according to a University of Michigan surgeon.

However, the disease still remains the most costly of all communicable diseases in loss of life, time from work and home, and in money required for prevention and treatment, Dr. Charles E. O'Brien, resident surgeon at University Hospital, pointed out.

Tuberculosis of the lungs takes an approximate annual toll of 1,500 lives in Michigan, he said.

Dr. O'Brien outlined three operations designed for surgically controlling the lung disease by either collapsing the diseased area or removing it: (1) temporary phrenic nerve paralysis; (2) thoracoplasty; and (3) lung resection.

Treatment by collapse is designed to give the diseased area of the lung rest and relaxation in addition to the rest the whole body receives with the patient in bed in a sanatorium, the U-M doctor explained. Treatment by removel separates the patient from his disease, or, at least, that part of it which cannot be controlled by other methods, he added.

The phrenic nerve operation is the simplest and easiest method of providing the lung with additional rest and relaxation, he declared. The nerve, which passes from the neck through the chest to the muscular partition between the bottom of the chest cavity and the top of the abdominal cavity, is crushed with a fine instrument which causes the diaphragm to stop moving for approximately six months, Dr. O'Brien explained.

Temporary paralysis of the diaphragm helps the diseased lung area to heal by stopping the up and down movement of the diaphragm, and, since the paralyzed diaphragm becomes elevated, the distance between the top and bottom of the chest is shortened, thus producing relaxation.

In patients with more advanced pulmonary tuberculosis, it is necessary to provide more extensive as well as permanent collapse so the second method, thoracoplasty, is used, the surgeon said. This operation involves removal of the ribs overlying the diseased area, he indicated.

Dr. O'Brien explained that the usual patient has the operation performed in three stages at two or three week intervals, making it safer and easier for the patient than if the entire operation is completed in one stage.

In removing these ribs, the soft tissue covering the bone is carefully preserved as it will form new ribs in about three months, he pointed out. The new ribs will then be located in such a way as to keep the diseased lung area permanently collapsed, he added.

A certain number of patients whose disease cannot be controlled by either of the collapse therapy methods must undergo surgical removal of the diseased tissue, Dr. O'Brien said. Depending on the extent of the diseased area, the surgeon declared, operations have been devised to safely remove a small section of tissue, or a complete lobe, or even an entire lung

The public is invited to attend the program.

Accident Victims Need Special Care

U-M DOCTOR TELLS HOW TO HANDLE SUSPECTED SPINAL INJURY CASES

Proper care in transporting persons with suspected spinal injuries to the hospital is imperative, a University of Michigan doctor emphasized.

If the spinal cord has not been destroyed at the time of injury, mishandling or jostling about will often cause marked damage making future recovery unlikely, Dr. Richard C. Schneider, assistant professor of surgery, explained.

A spinal cord injury should be suspected when a person involved in an accident has suffered either a snapping movement or direct blow to the neck, or back and then complains of pain over the spine, numbness, weakness, or paralysis of the legs or arms, he said.

The major causes of spinal injuries were listed by Dr. Schneider as due to: (1) automobile accidents; (2) swimmers diving into shallow water; (3) home accidents such as falling downstairs or from a ladder or off of a roof; and (4) farm perils such as runaway tractors, balky threshing machines or unstable hay mows.

Here's how Dr. Schneider advises moving a person suspected of spinal cord injury: (1) three or four persons standing on the same side of the injured person should gently raise him without bending or twisting the spine and maintaining the body on a level plane at all times; (2) the person should then be placed carefully on a firm stretcher, board, or even a door; and (3) a rolled blanket should be placed underneath the curve of the neck and the hollow of the back.

If a broken neck is suspected, the U-M surgeon indicated that someone should place his hands on either side of the head and exert a pull in line with the body during the transferring to a stretcher or other carrying device. Sand bags or rolled blankets should then be placed on either side of the head to prevent rotation from side to side, he added.

"All to frequently not enough care is taken in the early handling of spinal injuries," Dr. Schneider pointed out. He warned well-meaning companions against attempting to massage the neck and back or manipulate the arms and legs of injured persons.

The treatment of an individual with a severe spinal cord injury is a prolonged one and requires utmost patience and understanding on the part of the patient, relatives, and physicians, the surgeon concluded.

Monday Club Women To Be Guests At Macon

Forty-five women of the Tecumseh Monday Club enjoyed tours through the Gilbert Candy Kitchens and the Michigan Bakeries, Inc., located in Jackson, on Monday afternoon of this week. Those desiring transportation and those who have transtation to offer are asked to call Mrs. T. Rentschler or Mrs. E. J. Aebersold.

JUNIOR METHODISTS TO ENTERTAIN PARENTS

The Junior Department of the Tecumseh Methodist church school will entertain their parents and friends in the sanctuary on Friday evening at seven-thirty o'clock with a program growing out of their church school teachings under the leadership of Mrs. Vern Anderson and Glen Gould. The program will be a broadcast and there will be exhibits of church work done throughout our nation. All who are interested in children's work are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served in conclusion by the juniors who have earned all of the money necessary to present the program.

GIRLS AND MOTHERS GUESTS OF P. E. O.

Chapter AJ, PEO, held a tea for the junior and senior girls of the high school and their mothers, Tuesday afternoon in the high school cafeteria. Mrs. Walter Pfaus introduced Mrs. Tressa Richards, state president, who spoke to the girls on Cottey College, a women's college owned and operated by national PEO. Mrs. Catherine Lancaster gave a commentary on colored slides of Cortey College, showing the campus and buildings, the different suites furnished by PEO state chapters, indoor and outdoor swimming pools and toher recreational facilities. Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Lancaster were guests of Mrs. Gale Fisher.

Tea was served from a lace covered table, centered with yellow and white spring flowers and white candles. Mrs. Earl Pennington and Mrs. Charles Allen poured.

Chapter AJ, PEO will meet at 1:30 Tuesday, March 13, with Mrs. Florence Adamson for the annual election of officers.

GOLDEN RULE MEET

The regular meeting of the Golden Rule Division of the Presbyterian church was held Tuesday evening, March 6, at the home of Mrs. Ray Sluyter with Mrs. Gale Fisher, Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Ronald Harris as co-hostesses. Mrs. J. W. Beardsley led the devotions. As this was the regular mission meeting, two letters from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rittering of Merida, Yucatan, were read to the group. Mrs. Al Pope was accepted as a new member. Refreshments were served after the social hour.

Glee Club Plans

Professor Duey was a member of the original New York cast of the musical comedy, "Good News," in 1927. In addition to other musical shows, he has appeared in opera, oratorios, movies, concerts in New York City's Town Hall and has recorded songs.

He holds the Bachelor of Arts and Master of Music degrees from Indiana University and Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from Columbia University. Duey was born in Macy, Ind., and was raised on a farm. His father directed the town band, and all 11 children were musically inclined, but "Phil" was the only one to go into music professionally.

Before joining the University of Michigan faculty, Duey was acting head of the Music Department at Butler University and choral director at the Arthur Jordan Conservatory. Earlier, he had been a member of the staff at the College of the City of New York.

In his fourth year as conductor of the University of Michigan Men's Glee Club, he has added considerably to the prestige of this group. In addition to his unusually fine direction, he also contributes outstanding arrangements of Glee Club music.

Richard Hammel, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hammel of Tecumseh, is a member of the Glee Club. He sings baritone, and has been a member of the organization for four years. Mr. Hammiel is a graduate of Tecumseh high school, class of 1942, and is now a senior at the University School of Medicine, and will receive his degree in June.

First Aid Group

raids and other possible emergencies. He pointed out, however, that Tecumseh's program compares favorably with those in other areas.

Another meeting of section wardens in Tecumseh was held this week and additional instructions were given. A little later there will be another meeting of all wardens, including those in charge of blocks and up-to-the-minute data from state headquarters will be distributed.

A week ago, Hart announced that it had been decided to ask each block warden to name a woman living in his block as an assistant. This part of the program now is being worked out and the announcement of such appointments will be made soon. The purpose of the appointments, Hart said, is to be certain that someone in the block is prepared to take over in an emergency, should the regular warden be absent at his work. Women named as assistants will be expected to take first aid training or home nursing courses.

The state Civilian Defense director has issued some "Do's and Don't's" in connection with possible future emergencies. These are printed elsewhere in this newspaper and residents are asked to cut them out and to study them as a means of preparedness.

MOON ROCKET TRIPS FORECAST FOR BOYS

London—A leading British Government natural scientist told schoolboys here they would probably be able to make rocket journeys to the moon or Mars when they grew up.

Sir Harry Mason Garner, chief natural scientist to the Supply Ministry, had an enraptured audience when he said:

"I am convinced that in your lifetime, we shall achieve rocket travel between the earth and the moon, between the earth and Mars and possibly between the earth and Venus."

But he warned them that Venus was very hot.

"I think the prospects of interplanetary flight are now sufficiently well understood for even a hard practical scientist to accept 10 or 20 years," he said.

Vitamin D Is Needed By Children In Winter

Michigan's "Winter Wonderland" has many advantages for growing children, but it also has some disadvantages. Among them is the fact that during the winter months there is not enough sunshine.

To make up for the lack of sunshine Michigan children, especially in the first few years of their life, need a supplement of vitamin D during the winter months, the Michigan Department of Health said today. The vitamin is required for normal development of bones and teeth. Lack of it may result in rickets, a disease which hinders proper bone development.

Some child specialists recommend that Michigan children be given a supplement of the sunshine vitamin the year around. A child's doctor should recommend the amount and type of vitamin D the child requires.

Many Michigan children, studies have shown, also suffer from vitamin A and vitamin C deficiency, the Department said. These are the vitamins which help the body to resist infection and which are essential to tissue building and good growth.

Serving more tomatoes, green leafy vegetables, cabbage, potatoes, carrots, rutabagas, pumpkins, squash and other winter vegetables will help to provide adequate amounts of vitamins C and A in the children's diet, the Department said.

Dana Andrews and Susan Hayward are cast as a couple with an ill-fated love in Samuel Goldwyn's "My Foolish Heart." Tues., Wed., Thurs., March 13-14-15 at the Strand Theatre.

Miss Patricia Nyland Weds Morris E. Tubbs

The First Presbyterian church was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday evening, March 3, at 8 o'clock when the vows of Miss Patricia Marie Nyland of Tecumseh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley J. Schafer of Morenci, and Morris E. Tubbs of Clinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Furn E. Tubbs of Pontiac, were spoken. The Rev. Donald C. Wilson performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with palms, white candelabra, and vases and hampers of white snapdragons and yellow daffodils.

Mrs. Frederick Dickinson, organist, played nuptial music during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an off-white slipper satin gown of chantilly lace trim, fitted jacket style, with a high neckline peterpan collar and fitted sleeves. There were self-covered buttons to the waistline, and the full skirt had a long train. Her double finger tip veil was suspended from a cap of matching chantilly lace. She carried a crescent-shaped arrangement of gardenias and white roses.

Miss Marilyn Ward of Clinton was maid of honor and wore jasmine yellow. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Owen J. Smith of Rochester, Mich., and Miss Dorothy Bowen of Birmingham, wore petal mint green moire taffeta. All gowns were made identical in off-shoulder style with fitted bodice and floor-length skirts. Their braided headbands were of yellow roses and moline. The maid of honor carried a crescent-shaped arrangement of shaded purple carnations with yellow roses, and the bridesmaid's bouquets were arrangements of yellow daffodils.

Ray Tubbs assisted his brother as best man.

Mrs. Schafer, the bride's mother, wore a nave blue faille dress with dusty peach accessories and a corsage of pink camellias. Mrs. Tubbs, the groom's mother, wore fern green with white print, black accessories and a corsage of white camellias.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Fellowship Center for 150 guests with the Golden Rule Division of the Presbyterian church in charge. The bride's table featured the traditional wedding cake with lighted tapers. The color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in spring flowers. Guests were registered from Toledo, Port Huron and Metamora, Ohio, Pontiac, Morenci, Clinton, Adrian, Britton, Rochester, Birmingham and Blissfield.

After a wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains and other southern states, Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs will reside at 116 Brown street, Clinton. U. S. WHEAT

American wheat is being sold abroad at controlled prices, according to government officials, who point out that eligible foreign buyers are gobbling up large quantities of the grain at a top price of $1.80 a bushel, which is nearly 75 cents a bushel less than domestic users are paying. Foreign sales, however, are made under an international wheat agreement, put into effect in 1949, under which major exporting countries agree to sell a certain amount of wheat at not more than $1.80 a bushel.

English Doctors' Want Pay Boost

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE IN BRITAIN MAY BE HEADED FOR NEW DIFFICULTIES

London—Many British doctors who operate the National Health Plan and get most of their income from the government are discontented.

Their chief complaint is that their pay, based on 1939 data on the costs of living and conducting a surgery, is too low.

However, it is premature, said spokesmen of professional organizations, to speak of a "strike against the health service." The prospect of mass withdrawals from the health program is remote, but there is enough discontent to make it certain that Health Minister Aneurin Bevan faces some sharp negotiations with the aroused doctors.

A new organization, the British Medical Guild, has suggested that in certain events doctors drop the health service en masse and resume private practices, with patients paying the bills, as physicians are free to do under the health plan. The guild was organized by the powerful British Medical Association, and stands paralled to it. It was necessary to set up the guild to make a strike threat, because the constitution of the British Medical Association bars it from trade-union activity.

The guild has worked out a cautious plan which, if carried out in full, would involve the simultaneous resignations of thousands of Britain's 20,000 general practitioners. The plan calls for physicians to sign letters of resignation and submit them to the guild. The guild would take no action if less than 80 per cent of the doctors signed resignations. But if it got 80 per cent or more it would have a powerful weapon.

Up to now the doctors have not been asked to sign such tentative resignations. They merely have been informed the program is being debated by regional medical groups.

The move to collect resignations has been deferred by new proposals submitted by the Health Ministry. The ministry suggested that a survey of the doctors' real income be made on the basis of income tax returns. A study has been started by the Department of Inland Revenue, but it is expected that several months will be needed to dig out the data.

One difficulty of negotiation is the complicated method of paying doctors. It's hard to determine their real income. The government pay arrangement is involved, and further confusion is injected by the fact that British doctors may have private patients, outside the health plan, who pay fees just as if no health service existed. Income tax collectors, said the health ministry, are the only persons who can arrive at the facts.

A doctor in the service may choose one of two ways to get his money. He may accept 18 shillings ($2.52) a year for each of his "public patients," and he may have up to 4,000 on his list. Or he may accept 300 Pounds ($840) a year and somewhat reduced capitation fee for the names on his list.

As it works out, a doctor with 1,000 public patients may gross about 1,058 Pounds ($2,962) a year, while with 4,000 names on his list may gross 3,333 Pounds ($9,332). Then there are additional allowances. A rural physician receives an automobile mileage allowance, and all are paid an extra seven guineas ($20.58) for delivering a baby.

From his income the doctor must maintain his surgery and pay assistants. He is taxed like anyone else and the cost of living has been rising steadily. Physicians say that taking on additional public patients, which increases income, overworks them and injures the quality of medical service.

They ask general boosts in fees, but it was not expected there will be any wave of resignations until the income-tax researchers have studied the record.

REGAINS SPEECH.

San Francisco.—On New Year's Day, 1939, Georgette Umbson, then a fifth-grade pupil, fell victim to sleeping sickness. After three weeks of sound sleep, she awoke to find herself paralyzed. Her eyes were open, but unable to move a muscle, she lay until six months ago, when her parents took her to the University of California Langley Porter Clinic. Treatment proved successful and she gradually learned to move her arms and her legs but could not speak until a few weeks ago.

Small Business Chances Better

GOVERNMENT MORE INTERESTED IN LITTLE FELLOW, U. M. MAN BELIEVES

The chances of small businesses staying open in the current mobilization period are much better than in the early days of World War II, reports Dr. William M. Hoad at the University of Michigan.

Small business is more alert to getting defense contracts now than in the 1940s, Dr. Hoad, research associate in the School of Business Administration says. Part of the reason for this is that the government is more interested in helping the small business men.

"Big business is more aware of their need for small business to handle a large portion of the subcontracting work on defense orders. This will keep a lot of small outfits going when their regular business disappears because of shortages."

The present advantages that small business has are fourfold, according to Dr. Hoad: (1) making a business of service and convenience where those are important; (2) making custom built or tailor made things; (3) making superstandard or sub-standard things that big business can't mass produce; (4) flexibility of operation so changes in production or parts can be made almost immediately.

A war economy may force some service and convenience businesses to disappear because of shortages of labor and material or rationing, he asserts. However, those businesses that fall into categories two and three stand a good chance of surviving because industry and the military often need these services.

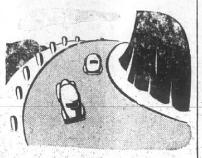
Flexibility is a great advantage to small business men in these times. "In a short time they can change the emphasis in their business to meet the changing situation. Big business lacks this flexibility," Dr. Hoad points out.

"Small business took a beating during World War II," he says. "One out of every six or seven businesses dropped out of the picture during those years. These were mostly small operations that couldn't keep going because of rationing, enlistment or the draft and also one or two man outfits that closed their doors to get more money in a war industry job.

"But small business has amazing resilience and has made a most rapid increase since the war. In 1940 there were 3 1/3 million businesses, the war cut them to 2.8 million, and now there are 4 million."

A great many of these businesses should be able to hang on during the present period of defense preparation, he believes.

Today' Driving Lesson



Here's a brand of gambling with higher stakes than Las Vegas can offer. You likely will be counting your losses with St. Peter if you pass on a hill.

"Overtake and pass cars ahead of you only when you are sure you can make it safely," say teachers in 205 AAA Driver-Training courses in as many Michigan high schools.

The 32,550 teen-agers who are taking the course this year are amazed when teachers point out that passing at 50 miles per hour requires a total of 1,760 feet. Where both adults and un-trained teen-agers get into trouble, say the teachers, is that they try to pass in too short a space.

"And that's a variety of gambling with tougher odds than you can find in Las Vegas," says Ernest P. Davis, Automobile Club of Michigan safety and traffic director.

"Sometimes it's more than gambling—it's outright murder."

Passing another car safely takes a minimum of 10 seconds at any speed. It is important that signals be used while passing. The overtaker must warn the cars behind him with Michigan's "straight out" arm signal. A very short "beep" of the horn is usually enough to warn the driver you are passing. A longer blast may unnerve him.

A truck driver may be a very kind citizen in giving you the signal that the coast is clear on the crest of a hill. But don't take his word for it. You're risking your life when you throw your judgment out in favor of his. Wait until you, yourself, can see that the road over the hill or around the curve is clear.

Your Heart Worry You? Then See Your Doctor

"So you are worried about your heart? Or maybe it's your child's heart or your husband's heart?

"Well, now's the time to do something about it.

A visit to your doctor is the best possible protection against heart disease whether you are young, middle-aged or in the later years."

That is what the Michigan Department of Health says in its monthly bulletin Michigan Public Health.

The magazine deals with the common type of heart ailment, with rheumatic fever, high blood pressure and coronary heart disease; corrects common misconceptions about the heart; lists many sources of information for those with heart ailments; discusses the Michigan Cardiac Housewife Program, and tells of the work of the Michigan Heart Association.

The issue also contains information on congenital syphilis, Michigan's new hospitals, air pollution control, hazards of fluoroscopic shoe-fitting machines, and survival under atomic attack.

Indian Cagers

A crowd of more than 1,300 fans saw the Indians down the Adrian Maples on their own court, Saturday night, to win the Class B district crown. It was the first time that Tecumseh had competed in the B division, and the Warriors were out for blood as soon as the first whistle sounded.

Throughout the contest, Adrian was only able to twice take the lead and on seven occasions the score was tied. It was in the second quarter that Jack Dempsey, Adrian guard, broke a 12-12 tie by hitting a free throw. Dick Whelan, for the Indians, almost immediately made a drive-in shot that put Tecumseh in the lead.

With John Sisson setting the pace with six points in the first quarter, the Indians had a 10-7 lead at the end of the first stanza. Twice the Maples tied the score in the second quarter, but at the half, due to Whelan's and Van Winkle's shots the score was 16-14 in favor of Tecumseh.

Early in the third quarter Adrian again tied the score, 16-16, but VanWinkle followed through with a free throw. Fast playing on Adrian's part gave them a one point lead, 26-25 at the end of the third frame.

In the last quarter, Breitenwecher and Sisson made sharp plays that put the Indians into an easy lead, 31-26 in the early part of the frame. The Maples were unable to overcome the Indians' zone defense and during the quarter they were only able to rack up five points.

Sisson, with his accurate left hand, led the Indians' scoring with 12 points while Gifford for Adrian, was high with nine. Each team lost one man because of personal fouls. Adrian lost Fleming and Tecumseh lost Breitenwischer.

The score by quarters:

Tecumseh	10	6	9	15—40
Adrian	7	7	12	5—31

The Clinton Redskins won the Class D county championship Saturday evening by defeating the St. Mary's team from Adrian by a score of 39-33.

In the Class C race, Hudson was defeated by the Morenci Bulldogs by a 55-44 score for that division flag.

SUPERVISOR TELLS REASON FOR BAD ROADS

TITLEY SAYS FUND MATCHING, AND LACK OF CASH LOCALLY ARE RESPONSIBLE

Did you ever wonder why some townships in Lenawee county have better roads than others? Why it is, for instance, that Raisin, Ridgeway, Macon and Franklin townships can match county highway funds and get work done on their roads and Tecumseh township is unable to do so? Have these questions ever occurred to you and, if they have, do you know the answers?

There is a very definite answer, insofar as Tecumseh township is concerned and, under existing conditions, there seems to be little that can be done about it unless the County Road Commission decides to change its method of allocating funds. Next fall, perhaps, when new census figures become official, Tecumseh township may get some relief, but until then, unless the Road Commission changes its policy, it seems likely that Tecumseh township must remain "in the mud," and continue to drive over poorly maintained secondary and primary roads.

Here is the reason:

First of all, the County Road Commission says it is "short" of funds. It is anxious to stretch every dollar that it receives from the state for road repair, maintenance and building to the limit. The county receives $88 a mile for this work on secondary roads, and it receives an additional amount for work on primary roads.

A few years ago, when the voters in Michigan approved the sales tax diversion program, townships, villages and cities throughout the state immediately began to receive a share of the sales tax money. In addition, townships, villages and cities also receive intangible tax money. Because of the tax diversion act, the state lost millions of dollars in revenue to the cities, townships, villages and school districts. Naturally, that reduced the state's income.

But what about the townships and the villages?

Ridgeway township, adjoining Tecumseh on the east, last year received $7,894.87 in tax diversion and intangible taxes. Macon township received $7,686.83. Raisin township, on the south, received $11,072.17, and Franklin, on the west, got $9,742.16. Adrian township, southwest of here, received $24,010.23, and Madison township, just south of Adrian city, got $15,-604.89.

What did Tecumseh township get? This township received the sum of $4,127.92 or about one-sixth of what Adrian township received, about one-third of the amount Raisin received, a little more than half of what Macon township got, and about a quarter of the amount that went to Madison.

Clinton township, like Tecumseh, shared even worse. It received only $3,846.23.

The Village of Tecumseh received $25,708.90, or nearly six times the amount that went to the township.

It is not difficult, therefore, to understand why Tecumseh township has in cash, at the present time, only about $6,000. No township tax is spread here, and hasn't been for several years. The township "lives," so to speak, on the money that it receives in intangible and diversion taxes.

You ask why the township continues to be "poor"—why it doesn't spread a tax and assist the county in its road repair? Here is the reason:

The Township of Tecumseh, as was said before, has not spread a township tax in several years. Take last year, for instance. In this township, when everyone

TAX EXPERT COMING

Carl Fost of the Michigan Department of Revenue, will be at the United Savings Bank on March 21 from 9:30 to 3 p.m., for the purpose of assisting local folk in the preparation of their intangible tax returns, due March 31. Persons desiring assistance should bring with them full information regarding their holdings, and a copy of the previous year's tax return.

Cub Scouts Learn How Maple Sugar Is Made

The "sugar bush" on the Lester Munger farm near Tipton has been visited by several dens of the Cub Scouts, recently. On Wednesday, Dens 8 and 10 made the trip. How the trees are tapped for sap, and how the syrup and sugar are made was explained and demonstrated to the boys, and there were samples for all.

Mrs. Lauren Nichols is den mother of Den 10, and Jim Dewey is Den chief. Mrs. Charles Kempf is den mother of Den 8 with Robert Francouer as den chief. On Thursday Mrs. Earl Place's Den 2, Mrs. Charles Stephenson's Den 5, with Mrs. Clair Rozell's Den 6 visited the "sugar bush" and Den 9, Mrs. James Elliott's den, also made the trip.

Homes Will Get Defense Guide

2,000 COPIES OF CIVIL DEFENSE BOOKLET PURCHASED BY COMMUNITY FUND

Homes in Tecumseh will be provided with copies of the Michigan Civil Defense Authority's newest booklet, "Survival Under Atomic Attack," as the result of a contribution by the Community Fund to the local Civil Defense program. It was announced today by Neville Hart, director. Community Fund directors, in special meeting on Friday evening, voted to give $400 to aid in the development of the program locally.

The $400 fund, Mr. Hart said, will be used to purchase the booklets, which will be distributed to every home, and to buy supplies for the Red Cross First Aid Course that is being taken by Defense wardens and others.

Hart, Mrs. Vincent Haight and T. L. Neill, all members of the Civil Defense committee, appealed to the Community Fund for assistance in training 150 persons in the Red Cross First Aid Course. Dr. H. H. Hammel, medical advisor of the local group, requested that the booklets for home use locally be made available.

In making the appeal for funds, Hart stressed the importance of immediate training in Red Cross First Aid as a protective measure

Only 134 Votes Cast On Monday

KNOTTY PINE CAGERS DEFEAT TECUMSEH, ONT.

The Knotty Pines, a cage team sponsored by R. S. Moore & Son Co., defeated a Tecumseh, Ontario, Canada, team there, last Monday evening, by a score of 45 to 41. It was a clean contest throughout, and the teams were quite evenly matched. After the game, the local team members were guests of the Tecumseh group at a dinner. On Saturday evening of this week, the Tecumseh, Ont., team will play the Knotty Pines in a return engagement on the gym floor in Central School. The game is scheduled for 8:30.

Red Cross Fund Here Is Lagging

LESS THAN ONE THIRD OF $1,000 QUOTA HAS BEEN SUBSCRIBED THUS FAR

With only about two weeks remaining in the drive locally for funds for the American Red Cross, Tecumseh is failing miserably, Mrs. Robert Hanna, chairman, said today. Tecumseh's quota in the drive is $1,000 and to date only about $300 has been subscribed.

Organizations that have not already made contributions and desire to do so may contact either Mrs. Hanna or any member of the committee which is composed of Mrs. Paul Keyser, Mrs. Victor Humble, Mrs. Robert Laidlaw, Mrs. Tim Neil, Mrs. Richard Eggleston, Mrs. Robert Manchester, Mrs. Al Merz and Mrs. Walter Pfaus.

The campaign here and throughout the county and the nation ends on March 31.

Cubs who have made accessories for their electric railroads are asked to bring them to the meeting. Names should be attached to the articles brought.

For this meeting, Cubs will dress in railroad uniforms instead of their scout uniforms. Parents and friends are invited to attend. Max Smith is expected to announce the progress that is being made in the formation of a cub scout basketball team.

Athletic Club Plans For Benefit Dance

The Tecumseh Athletic Club is sponsoring a benefit dance, to be held on Saturday evening, April 14, from 9 to 1 in the gymnasium of Central School. Music for the event is being furnished, without charge, by the Tecumseh Products Chieftains.

The purpose of the dance is to raise funds for a banquet honoring the pennant winning Tecumseh high school basketball team. The Indians recently won the LCAA pennant, and defeated Adrian in the Class B district finals. Four of the local cagers also placed on the All-County coaches team, two on the first string and two on the second.

The Athletic Club also is desirous of raising funds to help to defray the cost of the much needed football uniforms, purchased last year. The new uniforms cost about $2,600. The expense was underwritten, and there remains some $1,100 still to be paid.

Tickets for the April 14 dance will go on sale soon. They will be available from members of the Varsity Club at the school, and also from several merchants in the downtown district, where posters will be displayed.

Says Taxpayers Pay In Divorce

FORMER PROSECUTOR SLAPS AT FEDERAL AGENCY AND COST OF ITS OPERATION

It is the mother and the taxpayers who pay when a divorce is granted and small children are involved, LaVon Kuney, Adrian attorney and friend of the Lenawee county circuit court, told members of the Rotary Club when he spoke to that group, Tuesday evening, following dinner at Legion Memorial Home. Mr. Kuney was the guest of LeRoy Titley, local supervisor.

Kuney, who is a former prosecuting attorney, explained that his job as friend of the court is to see to it that the court's orders involving alimony payments are carried out. He said that there are about 1,000 such cases in his files, and that about 10 per cent of them are troublesome.

The speaker declared that, in his opinion, when alimony orders are issued by the court they should be followed to the letter. The fact that a father remarries after his divorce and raises a second family is no excuse for his not paying alimony for the support of his children by a former marriage. "I consider that the first wife and kiddies have a first mortgage on the father, and that his second family has a second mortgage. The first mortgage, of course, has priority," he declared.

If You Like Your Dog, Keep It In Your Yard

If you own a dog, and want to keep it, see to it that it stays on your own property.

That was the warning issued today by police when Chief M. E. Clark declared that his office would begin a rigid enforcement of the ordinance governing dogs inside the village. The law provides that dogs may not run at large, unless accompanied by the owner. It also declares barking and howling dogs a nuisance.

Scores of complaints to police brought about the announcement of renewed enforcement of the law, the chief said.

Hastings Five Humble Indians

LCAA CHAMPS LOSE IN REGIONAL AT ALBION, AFTER SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The Tecumseh high school cage team, after winning the Lenawee County Athletic Association pennant and later the Class B tournament flag by defeating Adrian, lost their opportunity to continue in the state contest, Thursday evening, when they went down to defeat at the hands of a fast Hastings quintet in the regional finals at Albion. The score was 50 to 29. A large crowd of local fans attended the game, some of them going by chartered bus, others in private cars.

It was Tecumseh's first start in the Class B division of the statewide cage contest, and the Indians gave an excellent accounting, although they definitely were playing in fast company. During the first period of the Albion contest they remained on almost even terms with Hastings, the quarter ending 10 to 8, and at half time Hastings was leading, 23 to 17.

In the third stanza the Indians scored only eight points to Hastings' 13 and the period ended with Terumseh on the short end of a 36 to 25 ssore. In the last quarter, Hastings literally walked away from the local lads, the game ending in a score of 50 to 29.

Beadle, Hastings' center, was high scorer with 22 points. Dave VanWinkle, Tecumseh's battling center, was high man for the Indians with 10 points, and Dick Whelan followed with nine points.

You Are Welcome To Ask Questions

As the Chamber of Commerce program for a change in the form of Tecumseh's government from that of a village to a city progresses, many folk will be anxious to know more about the plan and, perhaps, will have many, many questions that they would like to have answered.

The Herald believes that it is important that these questions be asked, and it also believes that it is important that they be answered. Only in that way will it be possible for the electors to vote on the issues intelligently.

There are a number of folk, it appears, who do not understand the program of extending Tecumseh's boundaries. Particularly is this true of folk who reside in areas that would be annexed.

To make possible the asking and answering of questions, The Herald, effective with the issue of March 22, will conduct a "Question Box" on the subjects involved. Every effort will be made to answer the questions submitted by residents, fairly and without bias. The issues will not come to a vote before mid-summer, and there is ample time for a complete discussion.

Residents who have questions they desire to have answered should mail them to "Question Box," in care of The Herald. They should be as brief as possible. It is always nice to know the name of the writer of a letter but, should the writer desire to remain unknown, it is quite all right if the letter is not signed. Please do not indulge in personalities. The issues involved are in no way personal.

This is OUR town, whether is be a village or a city. ALL of us are interested in only one thing, a BETTER town. By discussing the issues fairly and honestly we should be able to arrive at a just conclusion.

Will Our Turn Ever Come?

"Tecumseh Gets New Postoffice."

That was a headline in last week's issue of The Herald, and many folk instantly became excited, thinking that after a long and rather patient wait our Village finally had been granted permission by the Great White Fathers in Washington for a new postoffice here. Needless to say, they were shocked when they read a little farther and learned that the new postoffice was in Tecumseh, Ontario, Canada, and that the reason for the local interest was the fact that Tecumseh, Michigan's official family had been to Ontario to aid in the dedication service.

Tecumseh, Ontario, of course, is a much smaller town than Tecumseh, Michigan. We understand that its postoffice does about $8,000 worth of business a year. But the Canadian government had decreed that a new postoffice was needed, and the building that was dedicated there last week puts our postoffice here to shame. The new Canadian office, of course, is modern in every detail, and there is ample room for the employees to do their work efficiently. And the Tecumseh, Ontario, folk will, in the future, be able to point to the building with pride when visitors come, and, insofar as their postoffice building is concerned, they have every reason to be proud.

But what about Tecumseh, Mchigan? Can we be proud of our postoffice? Is it a show-place for visitors? What have we to be happy about?

Here in Tecumseh, Michigan, we've lived for years on promises from Washington. We've heard, for more than 10 years, that we would soon get a new postoffice. A decade or more ago the government actually invested in some property on South Pearl Street, and still owns it, as a site for a new postoffice. But nothing has ever happened. Just more promises.

When World War II came along we were told that it would be necessary to wait. The War emergency had made building impossible. World War II ended, and we've had one emergency after the other ever since. And we're still waiting.

Tecumseh, Michigan, is an up and coming community. In the 10 years between 1940 and 1950, we made the most rapid growth of any town in Lenawee county. We are twice the size in population of either Blissfield or Hudson, and both of those towns have modern, roomy postoffices that were built by the federal government.

Could it be that we, here in Tecumseh, don't vote right? Could that be the reason why we are denied a new postoffice building? Is that the reason why we are forced to fumble and fuss with the so-called lock boxes—boxes that belong in the junk pile—that we rent in the office from the government? We doubt if all of the furniture and fixtures in the office, aside from the stamp cancelling machine, would bring $1,000 on the auction block.

It's a peculiar world we live in. We have money to stabilize the Peruvian pea crop. We have money for the Greeks, the French and the Italians. We have money to teach other parts of the world how to grow peanuts, and ample funds to bolster prices at home. And we have millions of pounds of subsidized products going to waste and down the sewer. But when it comes to asking for something tangible, something that we, here at home, would appreciate and benefit from, we are criticized, slapped mildly on the wrist and told to be patient.

We are 100 per cent in favor of government economy. We'll wear our old clothes and our old shoes, and we'll do without this or that any time if it will help to build the United States as the greatest free nation on earth. But we doubt that doing without a postoffice here, and squandering the money that it would cost on a crack-pot scheme elsewhere, is the answer.

If the federal government doesn't intend to build a postoffice building here, why doesn't it negotiate with someone to build a suitable one and rent it, as it does the present building. There are plenty of folk here who would be glad to make the investment if the proper lease could be obtained.

Tecumseh's postoffice may not be the nation's worst — in appearance — in any community of its size, but we'll wager that it's a close second. We doubt very, very much if the Postmaster General would want a picture of it on his desk in Washington. However, on second thought, we might try to induce Congressman Meader to put one of the pictures on his desk. Congressmen are always proud of their home districts, and Tecumseh is in Mr. Meader's district.

80 P. C. DROP SEEN IN COLLEGE RANKS

Atlantic City—The executive director of the Association of American Colleges expects college enrollments to drop some 80 per cent after June 1 because of the draft.

In a recent interview, Dr. Guy E. Snavely of Washington said colleges will lose all physically able men by the end of the present semester "unless ways are found to keep some service personnel in the institutions of higher learning."

He said college enrollments, increased tremendously prior to last June by the influx of veterans under the GI Bill of Rights, already have fallen off 8 per cent from the 1949 figure.

Look what the Smart Money's buying

Now that the 1951 offerings of the motorcar industry have had a chance to strut their stuff, we ask you—can there be any doubt which is the really smart buy?

If you want a "new look"—Buick has it. That sturdy push-bar forefront says "1951" to all who see it—and provides unsurpassed front-end protection to boot.

If you want power that you can live with through many moons to come—Buick has that too. Years of expert engineering have made Buick's thrill-packed Fireball engine just about as dependable as a power plant can be.

If you want features that combine present pleasure with long-time durability, consider this:

Buick's level-going ride stems from coil springs on all four wheels which are virtually breakproof and never need servicing.

Buick's Dynaflow Drive* takes the strain out of every mile of driving—and pays off by eliminating any need for friction clutch repairs and replacements, by reducing engine and transmission upkeep, and lengthening life of tires.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

No other car provides all this!

DYNAFLOW DRIVE — saves strain on driver and car
FIREBALL POWER — high-compression, valve-in-head engine gets more good from every drop of fuel
PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT — combines smart style and unsurpassed protection
WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS—greater clarity at night
4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING — cushions ride, saves servicing costs
TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—steadies ride, improves driving control
SELF-ENERGIZING BRAKES — hydraulic—multiply pedal-pressure five times at brake drum
DREAMLINESTYLING—tapered, car-length fenders, gleaming sweepspears on most models
Plus: Self-locking luggage lid, StepOn parking brake, two-way ignition lock, Safety-Ride rims, Hi-Poised engine mounting, Body by Fisher

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

If you want room and comfort and handling that make any trip a breeze—there's no simpler way to find them than to take over a '51 Buick SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—relax and enjoy yourself.

And if you want all this at a minimum outlay of dollars—one look at Buick prices will settle this point.

So the smartest thing you can do is get in touch with your Buick dealer. How about doing that right now?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

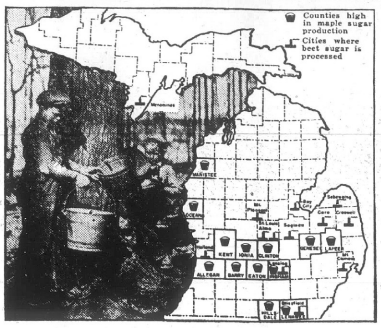
Michigan's Status as "Sweet State" Shown in Wayne University Survey



That Michigan is one of the sweetest states in the Union is not just an idle boast, according to a recent survey by the home-economics department of Wayne University in Detroit.

With an average annual production of more than 260 million pounds of beet-sugar and 141,000 gallons of maple syrup, Michigan ranks fourth in the nation as the source of each of these sweet products.

The two great producing processes go on in a rhythmic cycle throughout the state.

In the spring when sap is flowing from a million "taps" into tin pails for syrup making, farmers are also preparing for the planting of a new sugar-beet crop.

In the fall, when maple sap has been processed into cans of syrup and crumbly cakes of sugar, the beets in their turn yield up sweet-laden sap to the extraction machines.

Maple syrup production goes on throughout the "sugar bush" country of Michigan. One of the important centers is Eaton County, where towns like Vermontville, Bellevue, and Maple Grove are major producers.

Two Lower Peninsula counties producing maple syrup in quantity are also high in the beet-sugar production: Ingham, with a beet-sugar plant at Lansing; and Lenawee, with a plant in Blissfield. Other beet-sugar extraction centers are: Holland, Mt. Pleasant, St. Louis, Alma, Saginaw, Bay City, Sebewaing, Caro, Croswell, Mt. Clemens, and Menominee.

The maple sweeteners have no by-product, but the by-products of beet sugar are important commercially. The tops, pulp, and molasses are used for livestock feed, and a derived material known as "monosodium glutamate," is used as a condiment in many homes to intensify the natural flavors of foods.

Hastings Five

Although the game brought Tecumseh's 1951 cage season to a close, the Indians may well be proud of a most successful season. Aside from winning the LCAA title and the Class B pennant, two of the Indians won berths on the All-County Cage Team, selected by the coaches of the county, and two others placed on the all-county second string.

On the All-County team are David VanWinkle and John Sisson, the latter a junior in high school. On the second string are Dick Whelan and Owen Campbell.

The successful season for the Indians this year was again directed by Coach Elven Duvall.

Exchange Club Hears Of Use of Radio Relay

Television from the west coast may be a possibility by mid-summer, and all of the nation may be looking at a California picture within seconds after it is seen by the camera, Herbert Bumpus of the public relations department of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., told members of the Exchange Club here, Tuesday evening, when he spoke to that group, following dinner in the V. F. W. Hall. Mr. Bumpus was the guest of Orville Minney, a member of the club. Prof. Russell Towers of Adrian College, also was a guest.

West coast television is coming much more rapidly than was anticipated, Bumpus told his audience, because of the use of radio relay, which is a new application of a familiar principle. The relay principle will, in many cases, replace the cable system, now employed.

Bumpus brought along technical equipment to illustrate his talk. He showed how radio waves are transmitted, how they are able to beam the waves around corners and curves, nad how it is possible to carry 600 telephone messages over a single cable. His talk was highly interesting as well as educational. The program concluded with the showing of a motion picture, explaining in detail the use of the radio relay for television communication.

Churches Plan

Great Procession." On Maundy Thursday, communion and baptismal services will be held at 7:30 in the evening. The Easter Sunday morning services will start at 10:55 with a reception for new members and the dedication of children. The Easter sermon topic of the pastor will be, "He is Here," and there will be special music under the direction of Mrs. Harley McConnell.

Confirmation will be observed at the Grace Lutheran church on Palm Sunday at 10:30 a.m. The following will be confirmed: Dean Leonard, Joyce Bohnenstiehl, Christopher Nilsen and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Blanchard. The children will wear white robes for this service. The church will be appropriately decorated.

The Saturday school which is held each Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 3:30 is largely attended and includes one-half hour periods through Thursday, March 22, the services will be held during the noon hour in order to facilitate attendance by persons in the downtown area.

Each of the four days, the services, which will be held in the Methodist church, will begin promptly at 12:30 and end at 12:50. The Rev. B. O. Bashore will be in charge of the Monday service, the Rev. Donald C. Wilson on Tuesday, the Rev. Edward Escolme on Wednesday, and the Rev. Norman MacNaughton on Thursday. The public is invited to participate in the meetings.

FFA Chapter

ional contest which was held at Onsted on March, last week. The regional honors were won in the demonstration contest by the Hanover-Horton team. The winner in the parliamentary procedure contest was the Litchfield Chapter, and Tecumseh took first place in the speech contest. Merlyn Wagner represented the local chapter.

The winners of the regional contests will go to Michigan State College to compete in the state contest which will be held on March 20 and 21.

Fred Feight has been awarded state-wide recognition again by receiving the State Farmer Degree. Fred first received state-wide recognition by winning the plowing contest last fall. He received this State Farmer Degree for having an outstanding farming program in the FFA. He is the second future farmer in the local chapter to receive this award. Herman Dick was the only member to receive this degree prior to Fred. Herman is a member of the Young Farmer Class and is now established in farming near Tecumseh.

Fred will go to the state convention to receive this degree in a formal ceremony. With him will be Merlyn Wagner, who will compete in the state speech contest; Fred Long, and Richard Young will act as chapter representatives. Mr. Burns, Vo-Ag instructor will attend the convention on March 20.

Besides playing host to the county convention Tecumseh chapter has been active in other fields as well. At the present time it is holding a pest hunt. The idea is to help rid the community of harmful pests, such as rats, mice, sparrows, etc.

Other activities have included: A FFA seed sale to help finance chapter activities; a basketball team to provide recreation; visiting local John Deere Day; starting a pig chain to help members get a start in farming; testing seeds and milk for farmers; and holding a parent and son banquet.

The Tecumseh FFA Chapter is doing its best to help its members who, some day, they hope, will take part in the important job of feeding the nation.

Homes Will Get

in not only Civil Defense but in every day living. More than 50 persons now are taking the course, including village employees, school teachers, and men in industry. The cost of the manual and practice material is $1.25 per person.

The local Civil Defense director previously had contacted the village and the school board for funds but was advised that neither group had sufficient money to permit underwriting the project. The Community Fund directors, held that while they believed that the maintenance of the defense program should be a village government project, in view of the fact that the request was based upon an emergency need the allocation should be made.

Hart expressed his appreciation for the Community Fund's appropriation, declaring that it would have been impossible to have carried on further the Defense program here as outlined by the state, without available money.

Donald Wilson and Earl Place, who have visited the United Nations in session at Lake Success, New York, will appear on the program to give their impressions of the functioning of this important organization known as The United Nations.

WOMEN WILL DISCUSS CITY GOVERNMENT

The regular meeting of the Women's Association of the Presbyterian church will be held Wednesday evening, March 21, in the Fellowship Center at 8 o'clock. A representative from the Chamber of Commerce will discuss city form of government and there will be a round-table discussion. Mrs. Donald C. Wilson will be the chairman for refreshments committee.

TO OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

The 32nd birthday anniversary of the American Legion will be observed tonight (Thursday), in the auditorium of the American Legion Home. There will be a pot-luck dinner with the exception of desert, which will be furnished. Members should bring their own table service.

100 Parents And Friends Guests Of Methodists

Nearly one hundred parents and friends were guests of the Junior Department of the Tecumseh Methodist Church School last Friday evening. The program had been carefully planned under the direction of Mrs. Vern Anderson and Glen Gould and was presented by the members of the department.

A large scrap book which had been made by the Juniors was displayed with the Spangler twins turning the pages as church work in each state was described and explained. A Junior chorus provided special music. A travel film of Mexico was shown by Edward Beal. The assembly later adjourned to the social room where refreshments were served by the Juniors assisted by Mrs. Lenore West and Mrs. Francis Packard.

The expense of the entire program and refreshments was borne by the Juniors through their own earnings. The flowers of the evening were presented to Dr. H. H. Loveland who was celebrating his birthday anniversary. Special guests were the Juniors from Ridgeway and Britton churches.

Says Taxpayers

Most fathers observe the court's orders and pay alimony regularly, he said. However, there are the troublesome cases, generally involving re-marriage, and in these instances it is sometimes necessary to jail the men to enforce the orders. "Generally the mothers are without funds to care for the kiddies when the alimony stops, and the children suffer. Mothers go to work, and they, too, suffer," he said.

In recent years, Kuney said, the Aid to Dependant Children, a federal agency, has been assisitng in the care of mothers and children, "forgotten" by fathers who neglect alimony payments. In some instances, he said, the agency fails to clear through his office to learn the reasons why the fathers have not paid. In some cases the ADC pays, when the father could and should pay, and switches the burden onto the taxpayers, he siad.

Kuney was very critical of the ADC agency, declaring that it is fast growing into another federal spending bureau with an ever increasing number of "clients." He estimated that the cost of operating the ADC in Lenawee county, before one cent is ever paid to needy mothers and children, is near the $50,000 mark. He said that staff members are busy "looking" for cases to aid and he intimated that the more cases or clients on the ADC list, the larger staff it might employ, and the greater bureau it might become.

Kuney said that he believed that in instances where fathers were able to meet alimony payments they should do so. If payments are dodged, he said that he favored jailing fathers to enforce payment.

"There was a time," Kuney said, "when it was a disgrace to accept charity. That time has gone. Today, federal agencies are actually urging folk to accept assistance. It is time such a practice stopped, and if it doesn't stop, Heaven only knows when it all will end."

it might be advisable for as many local folk as can do so to attend the Ann Arbor session."

The Ann Arbor meeting is being co-sponsored by the Chamber there with the Ypsilanti Board of Commerce and the University School of Business Administration. The newest directives of the OPS will be explained.

On hand to outline in detail the procedures involved and to answer questions will be Lucille Knight, OPS price specialist; Otis Cook, managing director of the Michigan Retailers Association; and several School of Business Administration professors.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium in the School of Business Administration.

Although the regulation specifically covers only the retailing of men's and women's clothing, shoes, millinery, furniture, general merchandise, and department and variety store items, the sponsors suggested that retailers in other lines would also benefit from the meeting.

The announcement today also urged a thorough study, prior to the meeting, of the 24-page CPR 7 pamphlet.

The regulations apply to about 200,000 retail merchants in the United States. They call for controlled price mark-ups based upon the individual retailer's prices in effect on Feb. 24 of this year.

The Girl Scout Troop No. 5 has offered its services for baby sitting, without charge, for anyone wishing to take the course on Saturday. Persons interested in enrolling should contact Mrs. Joseph Rohweder, 244R, or Mrs. Dale Bowen, phone 221.

FIREWATER VS. FIRE

Detroit, Mich. — Grabbing what was most handy to douse a fire in his automobile, William Heidy only added fuel to the fire — he had emptied the contents of two bottles of whiskey on the blaze. Firemen arrived in time to save about half the car.

Today' Driving Lesson

Patrol car police can make satisfactory captures of criminals only when motorists give them the road by pulling to the right and stopping at the sound of a siren. The inconsiderate motorists who fails to stop is often unwittingly the criminal's best ally.

Parents who fail to pull to the right of the road and stop when they hear a bell, siren or whistle are in for some stiff criticism from AAA Driver-Training student sons and daughters, not to mention a possible traffic ticket.

For state law calls fire trucks, ambulances and police cars special vehicles which must be given the right-of-way. 32,550 Michigan teen-agers are learning in 305 behind-the-wheel courses now in progress in state high schools.

Motorists may begin travel again only after the emergency vehicle has passed, teachers point out.

A school bus which is loading or unloading at the curb cannot be overtaken and passed lawfully on the rural highways of Michigan. The auto driver is expected to come to a complete stop behind loading or unloading school buses and proceed only after passengers are clear of the bus entrance. This law applies on all highways except those within incorporated cities and villages.

Besides obeying the law, Michigan motorists who observe these rules frequently save a life which might have been snuffed out because of delivery to the hospital too late, a fire truck which arrived too late, or a police car which couldn't get to the scene of the crime in time.

Supervisor Tells

thought—and some still do—that they were paying a tax to the township they were actually paying ONLY county and school taxes. In School District No. 7, which includes the Village of Tecumseh and a part of the township, here is how the $28.90 per $1,000 assessed valuation that was paid by property owners was divided: The school district received $22.90 of the amount, and the county received $6. The township didn't receive anything.

And, unless it took the money away from the school district, it would have been impossible for the township to have raised a single penny through taxation.

The state law provides that the maximum tax rate, unless specifically increased by voters, cannot exceed $15 per thousand assessed valuation. It also provides that the Village of Tecumseh could— although it didn't — demand one tenth of one mill in taxes. School District No. 7, last year, raised $8.90 per $1,000 for operating expense. The county levied $6, making the total tax $14.90 which, plus the 10 cents that the village might have had, if it had so desired, shoved the rate up to the limit of the law.

In addition, by special approval of the voters, the school district also raised $13 per $1,000 assessed valuation for the retirement of school bonds, and an additional $1 per $1,000 valuation for library operation. That made the total tax rate for the district, aside from the $6 that went to the county, $22.90 per $1,000 valuation.

"Perhaps we could have been arbitrary about the whole thing, and we could have said to the school district that funds were necessary for the township, and that the school district would have to get along with an operating tax levy of $7.90 instead of $8.90," LeRoy Titley, supervisor, said. "That would have raised about $5,500 for the township but at the same time it would have shorted the school district in a similar amount. The school district tells us that it would be impossible to operate with such a reduction in its income and, because we wanted to cooperate, the township board decided to go along and to 'get by' on the money it received from the state through tax diversion."

It is not difficult, once one knows the facts and the figures, to realize why it is that some townships have more money than others. The "kick back" by the state to the townships, villages and cities is made on a per capita basis. Tecumseh township, outside the village is small in population. It is much smaller than Ridgeway, Macon, Raisin,, Franklin or Madison.

The formula that was used, last year, to "kick back" the funds was about $8 per capita. The figures indicate that Tecumseh had about 500 persons living outside the corporation, and about 3,000 in the village.

The census figures used for the "kick back" were the ones established by the 1940 census. Obviously, both Tecumseh village and township have grown materially since 1940. The village census shows the population to be 4,006, but the census for the township has not been announced. It probably will be near the 1,000 mark.

When the "kick back" of funds is made again in the fall, the 1950 census figures will be used, and both the village and the township will receive more money, because of the growth in population. But the state also has grown in size about 20 per cent and, instead of being able to "kick back" $8 per capita, the new formula will be about $6. Therefore, while Tecumseh will gain, it also will lose. However, it is almost certain that the township will receive $2,000 or more in additional "kick back" funds.

That is the reason why, as was indicated earlier that, perhaps, next year, the township would have more funds available for road work.

Getting back to the County Road Commission and its method of disbursing maintenance, repair and building funds.

The Commission, as was stated before, desires to stretch its dollars to the limit. To do this, it has, in months past, gone to townships, such as Raisin, Franklin, Madison, Macon and Ridgeway and offered to "match" dollars in road repair work. Because these townships had money—"kick back" money from the state—they were able to match county, and to get the work done. All townships in the county, including Tecumseh township, are clamoring for work on their roads.

It seems to be the rule of the Commission, however, that unless the townships have the cash, they don't get the work done. And Tecumseh township, because the Village takes the lion's share of the "kick back" money, just doesn't have the cash. And it doesn't have any way to get it, unless it "shorts" the schools, because of the tax limitation law.

"I realize that the township has been criticized for not storming the County Road Commission and demanding that work be done on our township roads,' Mr. Titley said. "Frankly, I think that the formula of distributing the funds the county receives for road maintenance, as is now in use by the commission, is not just fair. We, here in Tecumseh township, are entitled to our share of any money that the county receives from the state. We are just as much entitled to it as is any other township in the county. However, the Commission holds that by asking the townships to match the county funds, they are able to stretch the road dollars, and there is some merit to their method. Nevertheless, townships such as Tecumseh and Clinton are left holding the bag, and through no fault of their own."

Titley said that he is having a conference this week with members of the Road Commission and that he hoped to get something worked out to give Tecumseh township some relief. However, he again pointed out that with only $6,000 in the treasury for the operation of all of the township's affairs, including the fire department, there just isn't sufficient funds to do any "matching."

Titley is firmly in favor of improving the so-called "old Adrian Road" which is South Adrian street, Russell Road and Russell Road from Adrian street east to Evans street, extended. He also would like to see some work done on Occidental Road and on all of the other township roads.

"I don't know how we can convince the Commission," Titley said. "Today, money talks. We haven't got the cash to put up. Operating the township is just like operating the village, the county, the state or the nation. Every branch of government needs additional funds. Where are they coming from I do no know. Everyone is demanding more and more of government, and government has only one source of revenue — taxation."

The supervisor, however, was determined to press his demands upon the commission. "I still think," he continued, "that Tecumseh is entitled to its share of the state money which the county received from road work, whether we have the 'matching' money or not. I can't see any reason why we should continue to have poor roads just because we are hard up financially. Our just share of the state funds are ours because the state law says that they are ours. Maybe some townships will have better roads than others, because they do have more money, but I think that all townships should have their just portion of the cash that has been made available by the State of Michigan."

In 1950, truck buyers in every one of the 48 states chose Chevrolet over any other make. Nationally, Chevrolet has outsold any other truck for the last nine truck production years. That's because Chevrolet trucks do the job better . . . stay on the job longer. When you choose a Chevrolet truck, you get the right engine — 92-h.p. Thriftmaster or extra-powerful 105-h.p. Loadmaster. You get a chassis that fits your job. You get a truck built to move your loads at lowest cost. Come see the new 1951 Advance-Design Chevrolet trucks.

Migratory Birds Arriving In Michigan

Not only are the usual spring migratory birds arriving in Michigan to add new color and songs to the landscape, but some birds are already nesting.

George M. Sutton, associate professor of zoology at the University of Michigan, has received reports on two nests of the great horned owl. He also says the prairie-horned lark has established nests since it is the earliest of nesting passerine (sparrow-like) birds.

The prairie-horned lark sometimes nests while the snow is still on the ground and often has to go through a hole in the snow to reach its low-lying nest, he reports.

Each week now will bring more birds back to Michigan from their winter homes. Among those due now, Professor Sutton says, are the fox sparrow, the hermit thrush, Canada geese and various wild ducks, including mergansers. The ducks arrive each year as soon as the ice disappears from the rivers and inland lakes.

The yellow-bellied sapsucker, a woodpecker with a large white patch in its wings is also due now, Professor Sutton says. This bird may be observed to hitch downwards two or three times after it has alighted on the tree. Woodcocks should be heard soon. The bird may be heard in the late twilight, singing in its upward flight from the ground. It nests very early.

Likewise due to arrive soon is the song sparrow, which will be singing as soon as it comes. Other early migrants are the ruby-crowned kinglet, the myrtle warbler (the latter bird sometimes stays here during the winter), the cowbird, red-winged blackbird, grackle, bittern, and the great blue heron.

Robins, returning now in numbers, sometimes winter in Michigan, depending perhaps on local food supply, Professor Sutton says.

The two nests of the great horned owl reported to Professor Sutton are both close to Ann Arbor. One was in a woods about 20 miles to the north and the other was in the Edwin S. George Reserve, a University property near Pinckney.

The great horned owl, which remains in Michigan throughout the winter, takes over the nest of other birds, usually that of the red-tailed hawk or crow. Occasionally, it will occupy a squirrel's nest, he reports.

One of the nests was found late in February by Kay T. Rogers, instructor in anatomy at the University, and David Parmelee, a graduate student from Iron Mountain. They are keeping track of the nest to find out when the mother owl will lay her two eggs and the length of the incubation period.

WIT, WISDOM CLUB

The Wit and Wisdom Club will meet Monday, March 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Van-Valkenburg at 8 o'clock. The program on world religions will be in charge of the ministers. Mrs. J. F. Rector and Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Partridge will act as host and hostesses.

The Michigan Tourist Council points out that in two-thirds of the state, the tourist industry is the number one income producer.

Block Wardens Launch Survey

CIVIL DEFENSE PROGRAM IS MOVING ALONG SATISFACTORILY, DIRECTOR HART SAYS

Tecumseh's Civil Defense program is moving along steadily and satisfactorily, Neville Hart, director, declared today. He announced that the several block air raid wardens will, within the next few days, begin their house-to-house survey in an effort to put the finishing touches on the assembly of emergency data necessary to the program, and pointed out that within a month all phases of the local project will have been completed.

"We are receiving excellent cooperation from almost everyone who has been contacted in connection with Civil Defense," Mr. Hart said. "I want to especially thank the members of the junior class of the high school for their anxious cooperation in the plan." Hart said that the junior class, both boys and girls, had expressed a willingness to serve the Defense program in any way that they can.

The house-to-house survey by wardens, Hart said, is for the purpose of determining just what facilities are available in Tecumseh for emergency use. The wardens will visit all of the homes in their blocks, and they will contact residents and explain the functioning of the defense set up.

"We don't want anyone to think that we are prying into their personal lives when the wardens visit them," Hart said. "The questions that will be asked are in no way personal, and the answers can be very, very helpful in the event of an emergency here. I am certain, once the residents understand the reason for the survey, that they will be only too willing to cooperate."

First aid courses for Defense workers are now in progress, and additional classes are to be formed in the future. There also will be courses for nurses aides, and for others.

"I have attended several state meetings on Civil Defense, and I have observed programs that are being carried on in other communities, but I am happy to report that no where have I found a more complete program than we have here in Tecumseh," Hart declared.

Despite the snowstorm, forty members and friends of the Tecumseh Monday Club gathered at the home of Mrs. Edward Boss, West Pottawatamie street on Monday afternoon to hear the panel discussion on "The United Nations —Its Contribution Toward World Peace," which proved to be not only informative but very interesting. The club's committee on peace with Mrs. Earl Place as its leader, presented Mrs. Donald Wilson, the Rev. Soldier Is Injured In Shotgun Accident

Pvt. Robert N. Bigelow, 23, of Ft. Benning, Ga., home on furlough from the Army, was painfully injured, Saturday, in a shotgun accident on the farm of his father-in-law, Emery Downing near Milan. Bigelow was hunting crows on his father-in-law's farm, he told state police, at 11:30 Saturday morning when his shotgun accidentally fired, the charge striking him in the left hand. He was removed to Herrick Memorial Hospital here where first aid treatment was given and then taken to Percy Jones Hospital, Battle Creek. His hand was badly mangled, and major surgery was necessary, it was said.

U. of M. Glee Club Is Well Received Here

The 1951 tour of the University of Michigan's Glee Club brought 50 singers to Tecumseh last week Wednesday evening for an outstanding concert, sponsored by Town Hall. The program was presented in the auditorium of the Central School.

The audience was high in its praise of the group, under the skilled direction of Philip A. Duey. The program had sound musical value, was carefully arranged and well balanced.

Especially commendable was the fine stage presence of the entire group which have the concert spontaneity and ease.

The two quartettes within the group, the Midnight Sons and the Novelaires, received enthusiastic applause from the capacity audience, as did the soloists, Robert McGrath, David Callahan and Russell Christopher.

The entire program showed unusually fine musical style, high standards of performance and a genuine enthusiasm on the part of its members.

JULIAN STRONG OF MELVINDALE, MODEL TRAIN BUILDER, SPEAKS TO GROUP

Cub Scout Pack No. 4 held its regular meeting Saturday afternoon at the Central School auditorium. Julian Strong, a teacher in the Melvindale schools, and who spends the summer months in Ridgeway, gave an interesting talk on "Railroading." He had on display three toy engines and two wood-carved trains, built by himself from scrap materials.

Train making is a hobby of Mr. Strong's and he has several complete sets. He told the boys that it takes him nine or ten months to make a model, which can be built at a cost of about $3. He also makes diesel engines, but these were not displayed. Strong urged the Cubs to form a "Train Club" and invited the Cubs and their parents to visit his home in Ridgeway after June 16, to see his complete display.

After Strong's talk, the group sang, "I've Been Working On The Railroad," with Mrs. Lester Munger at the piano. The "Round House Gang" called train crews for the Wolf, Bear and Lion Express with Tommy Price as dispatcher and Raymond Sluyter as call boy. The program was planned by Mrs. Lawrence Price.

Mrs. James Elliott's Den 9 was in charge of the presentation of awards. Steve Kruger received a wolf badge plus a gold arrow; Todd Herrick, wolf badge; Gary Hall, silver arrow under his wolf

VILLAGE FISCAL YEAR TO END ON DECEMBER 31

The village council, in session on Monday evening, voted that in the future the fiscal year for the village end on December 31, instead of February as is now the case, and that the fiscal year for 1951 be from February 21 to December 31. Audits in the future will be by certified public accountants, the council ruled.

The regular reports of the treasurer and clerk were read and placed on file and, by unanimous vote, the clerk, Robert Kroner, was voted $200 for extra services he had performed during the past year.

David Grigg led the group in The Lord's Prayer at the close of the service.

Should Tecumseh Become a City?

Below are some of the questions received by The Herald during the past week regarding the proposed change in the form of government in Tecumseh from a village to a city. In this column, in the weeks to come, will be printed more questions, and more answers.

If you have a question regarding the change in the form of government, or the extension of Tecumseh's boundaries, as proposed, mail them to The Herald. If you do not care to sign them, it is not necessary.

The purpose of this question and answer column is to bring Tecumseh's residents up to date on the issue. Feel free to ask any question you may desire or fail to understand. Every effort will be made to answer it honestly and conscientiously.

Question: If changing from a village to a city is supposed to be a good thing, what are some of the advantages?

Answer: Among the advantages are the following: 1. You deal with only one local government instead of with two as at present. You register just once for all elections. You pay all taxes to only one treasurer. You have only one assessor and one assessment. You have only one board of review. All local government is under the jurisdiction of the city. In the village of Tecumseh, the functions of government are divided with and overlapping with both village and township.

2. As a city, Tecumseh would be represented directly on the county board of supervisors by four supervisors. All of these supervisors would be responsible to the people of the city. The present supervisor is responsible not only to the village but to the entire township as well. All supervisors, regardless of number, are paid by the county.

3. Many feel that the greatest advantage would come from an up-to-date form of government. Our present village charter was adopted decades ago and has been patched as the years have gone by. If we change to a city we must create a new charter which must be voted on by the people. By electing good citizens to the charter commission, a study of the functions of modern urban government would be made and an instrument of local government created which would be designed to serve Tecumseh's needs to the best advantage.

Question: Would we have a city manager or some other government if we make the change?

Answer: The details of the form of the new government will be in the new charter. Some cities use the council-manager form. Others use the commission form. Still others use varying forms of mayor-council organization. The new charter will provide these details and this charter MUST BE APPROVED BY THE VOTERS BEFORE IT GOES INTO EFFECT.

Question: How long would it be before we could be operating under this new form?

Answer: The machinery by which a village incorporates as a city under Michigan law is lengthy. First of all, petitions must be circulated. These petitions must be filed with the clerk of the county board of supervisors at least 30 days before a session. The board then has to examine the petitions and pass a resolution for submission to the electors.

At least forty days must intervene between the passing of the resolution and the submission of the question. The supervisors are empowered to wait 90 days if there is no general election scheduled. The election date must be published in a newspaper at least once each week for four weeks.

The newly elected charter commission is likely to take more than the directive 90 days before preparing the new charter. This charter in its turn must go through regular election procedures. After approval of a charter there may be 30 days in which to file it with the secretary of state.

Until this charter has been adopted and officers elected and qualified, the new city remains governed as before. Therefore, it appears that the greater part of a year may elapse before the city would be governed under the new form.

2 Drivers Draw Terms In Jail

ADRIAN MAN SENTENCED FOR DRUNK DRIVING; TIPTON MAN HELD AS RECKLESS

A drunk driver who, police say, was involved in two hit-and-run accidents in Adrian before he was arrested here at 3:35 a.m., last Saturday morning, drew a 15-day jail sentence and was ordered to pay a fine and costs amounting to $83.60 by Justice John Love of Adrian. In default of the payment of the fine and costs, the justice ruled that the defendant must spend 45 days in jail.

The man arrested gave his name as Andrew J. Howard, 36, of Rt. 2, Adrian. Police in that city studied Tecumseh officers after they had had complaints of two hit-and-run property accidents involving Howard's car. Howard was arrested on W. Chicago boulevard by local officers and was immediately returned to Adrian.

At 2 p.m. on the same day, police received complaints regarding the operation of a car at Wyandotte and Chicago boulevard by William Pangborn, 22, of Tipton. Residents said that Pangborn was "car-wheeling" at the boulevard intersection and signed a complaint against him. Police took Pangborn before Justice Van-Dusen at Clinton. He drew a fine of $35, $4.50 costs and was ordered to spend five days in jail. In default of payment of the fine and costs he must spend 45 days in jail.

Last week Thursday at 4:30 a.m. police arrested Mrs. Georgia O'Pravil of R. D., Tecumseh, on a reckless driving charge. Arraigned before Justice Robert French, O'Pravil was ordered to pay costs of $8.60 and to spend 10 days in the county jail. The jail sentence was suspended, however, and she was placed on 90 days probation.

Mrs. Mertie Jones Dies; Funeral Service Today

Mrs. Mertie Alice Jones, aged 73, died at her home, 109 N. Pearl street, Monday evening at 7:15. Her husband, Louis Jones, preceded her in death, December 31, 1928.

Mrs. Jones was a member of the Tecumseh Business and Professional Woman's Club, the Tecumseh Eastern Star, and attended the Methodist church in Tecumseh. After her husband's death, for many years she carried on his tailoring and cleaning business.

Surviving are two daughters, Florence of Toledo, and Meredith Jones of New York City; four brothers, George, Clyde and Frank McDermott of Clinton, and Howard McDermott of La Port, Indiana; two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Ketchen of Dixon, Illinois, and Mrs. Addie Kilby of Clinton; also several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Have You A Question On City Government?

The Village of Tecumseh, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, is planning to change its form of government from that of a Village to a City.

Are you familiar with the legal procedure necessary to bring about this change?

Do you understand the difference between City Government and Village Government?

At the time the change in form of government is made, Tecumseh plans to annex "fringe areas" that will more than double the size of the incorporated community.

Do you understand how this is done?

The Herald believes that there are many, many questions in the minds of its readers regarding the Chamber of Commerce proposal.

So that questions may be asked and answered, The Herald is inviting its readers to send their questions to this newspaper, and they will be answered honestly and impartially in its columns as the weeks go by. It is always nice to know who is asking the questions. However, if you do not desire to sign your name it is quite all right.

The first of the questions received this week by The Herald, and the answers, will be found on page one of this newspaper.

If you have a question, don't hesitate to ask it. However, do not indulge in personalities. There is nothing personal about the Chamber of Commerce program.

Chamber Names New Directors

ANNUAL ELECTION OF OFFICERS WILL BE HELD AT 7:45, NEXT TUESDAY EVE

Donald [illegible]on, Edward Boss and E. A. Collins were named to the board of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce in the annual membership election, which ended on Monday. They succeed Charles O. Butler, Robert H. Moore and Wm. J. Bruce, whose terms of office have expired.

Ronald Harris, Chamber secretary, said today that the annual meeting of the old and new board would be held next Tuesday evening at 7:45 in the Chamber offices, and that new officers would be chosen at that time.

At the present time, Mr. Butler is president of the organization.

Directors whose terms did not expire with the election are: William Wright, Ralph Comfort and E. C. Heilman, who have two more years to serve; Leon Williamson, Kenneth Hall and Mrs. Helen French, who have one more year to serve. The new directors were elected for three-year terms.

Sutton School To Reopen Soon

BUILDING, DAMAGED BY FIRE ON THURSDAY, TO BE CLOSED ABOUT TWO WEEKS

Pupils of the Sutton School, at Wilmoth and Sutton Roads, southwest of here near Birdsall, will receive a two weeks' vacation while contractors are rebuilding the structure following a fire that did extensive damage, last Thursday morning. The blaze was discovered by a neighbor, and was of unknown origin.

Milton C. Porter, county superintendent of schools, said this week that an inspection of the building shows that the walls and roof still are sound. A contractor, engaged to do the work on the two-room school, is making every effort to have the job finished by April 2.

Mr. Porter said that until the work is done, the school's 99 pupils would be given a vacation, there being no suitable temporary quarters for classroom space.

Plans for the completion of an addition to the present building will proceed as usual, Porter said. The foundations for this one-room structure were started when the fire occurred.

There will be considerable salvage from the school fire, it was said. Many desks and other pieces of equipment can be cleaned and used. Books will be the most difficult in the replacement program. All of the school's books were lost, except those that had been taken home by the children the night before the blaze.

Churches Plan Easter Services

MAUNDY THURSDAY PROGRAMS TONIGHT; UNION GOOD FRIDAY SERVICE ANNOUNCED

Special programs of worship in the several churches of Tecumseh on Easter Sunday will bring to a fitting close the Lenten and Holy Week observances of this community.

This evening, Maundy Thursday, at 8 o'clock in the Presbyterian church there will be a celebration of the sacrament of holy communion. Commemorating the Last Supper, this service will be held in the Fellowship Center with the worshippers seated about a common table after the manner of the Scottish church. Presbyterians and members of other evangelical churches are invited to participate.

At the Friends church, tonight at 8 o'clock, the annual communion service will be held, the pastor, the Rev. Edward Escolme, will bring a brief message on "The Master's Memorial."

Union Good Friday services will be held here this year in the Friends church from 12 o'clock noon until 3 p.m. Those who desire to attend during a portion of this period are at liberty to enter or to leave the service during the singing of any of the hymns.

As has been customary in the past, stores and other places of business here will be closed on Friday during the Three-Hour service.

The Three-Hour Service, during which the seven last words of our Lord will be presented, is as follows:

"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," the Rev. Edward Escolme, pastor of the Friends church.

"Today shalt thou be with me in paradise," the Rev. Donald C. Wilson, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

"Woman, behold thy son — Behold thy mother," the Rev. Mr. Escolme.

"My God, my God, why has thou forsaken me?" Rev. Mr. Wilson.

"I thirst," the Rev. B. O. Bashore, pastor of the Baptist church.

Leadership Is Germany's Need

GEO. PARSONS, FORMER AG TEACHER HERE, TALKS TO ROTARY RURAL-URBAN MEET

Don't forget that the German people are a brilliant people, but they have sunk to a surprising level as a result of World War II, George Parsons, professor of animal husbandry at Michigan State College, told a rural-urban meeting of the Rotary Club here, Tuesday evening, when he defended ECA expenditures in that country.

"I helped to spend a half million dollars of your money and mine, during the months I spent in Germany last year," Mr. Parsons said. "If it bought us nothing else but time, I can understand its value. The German people are looking for leadership—something that will get them out of the mess that they are in. They are looking to us for direction. Here at home we should pray that we can furnish that leadership."

Parsons spent several months in Germany, carrying on a program of extension for Michigan State College. He traveled extensively during his stay, met all classes of people, and had an opportunity to observe the morale of the country, particularly at the

A Case of Misplaced Emphasis

Life magazine recently published one of the best editorials on inflation that we have seen. It dealt with the Administration's "cheap money" policy which has made higher prices and depreciated currency inevitable. At the end it said, "The vast maze of Federal lending agencies which together make the U. S. Government the biggest source of 'private' credit are going right ahead with loan policies which also stimulate inflation and further shave your dollar. Spokesmen for such respected groups as the Twentieth Century Fund and the Committee for Economic Development cry at the tops of their voices that insanities of this sort may draw the country into an extreme inflation that could be avoided. All the Charles Wilsons, Eric Johnston and Michael DiSalles in Washington cannot prevent or cure this inflation with prices, wage and commodity controls if the root fiscal causes of inflation are not only unchecked but actually encouraged . . .

"it is your money. It is your inflation. Better speak up, while three cents still pays the postage on a letter to Washington."

Largely due to high-level political blandishments, millions of people have placed a wholly unjustified faith in the power of arbitrary controls to stop price rises, and even to roll prices back to the levels of the first of the year, or pre-Korea or some other arbitrary date. At the same time, millions of people have been led to place the blame for inflation on doorsteps which are wholly or largely innocent. We blame the producer—forgetting that his dollar has cheapened, just as ours has cheapened. We even blame the retailer with whom we do our day-to-day trading, despite the obvious fact that he must pay the going wholesale rate for his goods, and that his prices to us are simply based on current costs.

In other words, the emphasis has not been on the causes of inflation, but on the symptoms of inflation which are high prices and a fifty-cent dollar. The government has steadily evaded taking the only actions which can block inflation, and it has gone steadily ahead with policies in the field of money and credit which are inflationary. That is an economic crime against a misled people.

Where Would You Rather Be?

The Bureau of Labor Statistics recently issued a new study comparing U. S. Workers' food purchasing power with that of workers in other countries. In only one country, Australia, is less working time required than in the U. S. to buy a given amount of food. In most cases, the advantage in favor of the American worker is tremendous. To take the most extreme example, an hour's work by an American will buy about seven times as much food as an hour's work by his Russian equivalent.

The Bureau also pointed out that between 1937-38 and the spring of 1950, U. S. food prices less than doubled and hourly earnings more than doubled—increasing the power of American workers' earnings in terms of food at the market by about 17 per cent.

Facts such as these may not take the sting out of high prices, but they do show how far superior the American standard of living and the American earning power is to the rest of the world. That is not true of food alone—other surveys and analyses, dealing with clothing, home appliances, and all manner of consumer goods, have reached similar conclusions. The average American, by comparison, is the most favored of human beings.

This is one of the fruits of our magnificant productive enterprise, in agriculture and in the manufacturing industry. It is also the result of our magnificant system of distribution—a fact that should be remembered now that the storekeeper is so often blamed for price increases which are totally beyond his control. Mass production gives us more and better goods of all kinds. Mass distribution brings us these goods at the lowest possible costs.

"American efficiency is that indomitable spirit which neither knows nor will be deterred by any obstacle—which plugs away with businesslike perseverance until every impediment has been removed—that simply must go through with a job once it has been tackled."—Joseph Stalin, writing 25 years ago on American capitalism.

Club Women Enjoy Pre-School Fashion Show

Eighty-four members and guests were entertained at the Tecumseh Country Club luncheon last week Wednesday afternoon, at a pre-school fashion show. The centerpieces for the tables were stuffed and plastic toys. The hostesses were Mrs. W. G. Porter and Mrs. Fred Fischer of Britton. With the exception of two seven-year-olds, the entire group of thirty-two children who modeled ranged in age from nine months to five years.

The children, carrying colored balloons, displayed their Easter fineries in a flower garden setting. Mrs. J. W. Spafford played nursery music while the youngsters modeled. For the gala finale, the children marched around the luncheon tables and to the banquet room where they were served ice cream and cookies. They were presented with washable comic books with their names inscribed, as gifts.

The committee in charge of the fashion show included Mrs. Richard Preston, Mrs. Kenneth Davidson and Mrs. Robert Fuller. Door prizes were won by Mrs. M. R. Blanden, Mrs. Robert Gillespie and Mrs. R. H. Moore. Bridge honors were awarded to Mrs. J. H. Rohweder and, in canasta, to Mrs. L. E. Brown.

The luncheon for March 21 was cancelled due to Holy Week. The hostesses for the luncheon on Wednesday, March 28, will be Mrs. Robert Laidlaw, phone 365M, and Mrs. H. H. Hanna, phone 337J. Reservations must be made not later than Tuesday noon of next week.

FORD WINS AGAIN!

V-8 TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A"
1951 MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

Both Ford V-8 and SIX Deliver more than 25.9 miles per gallon

Gruelling 840-mile test proves Ford Economy

Again this year . . . it's high honors for Ford! In the most important economy trial for American stock model cars . . . the famous annual Mobilgas Economy Run . . . A Ford 100-h.p. V-8 equipped with Overdrive took first place competing against all cars in its price class, making 54.587 ton-miles per gallon* and 25.994 miles per gallon. And its companion in quality, the new Ford SIX with Overdrive, was right up there with the winner. In fact, both cars averaged better than 25.9 miles per gallon.

Traditional Ford economy, for the second straight year, has been proved in open competition. Proved on the tough 840-mile grind from Los Angeles to the Grand Canyon . . . a course that included city traffic, below-sea-level desert heat and 7,000-foot mountain passes. Ford's Automatic Mileage Maker, standard equipment on all Ford V-8's and SIXES, contributed to this great achievement by squeezing the last mile out of every drop of gasoline.

Why not "Test Drive" the new Ford at your neighborhood Ford Dealer's? There's no better way to be convinced that "You can pay more but you can't buy better!"

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

"It is finished," the Rev. Richard C. Peterson, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church.

"Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit," Dr. Norman MacNaughton, pastor of the Methodist church.

"Christ, the Resurrection and the Life," will be the theme of the service at the Friends church at 10:30 a.m. on Easter Day. This will be a combined service of the church and Sunday School. The well-known Easter hymns will be sung by the congregation, and there will be special music by the choir. Over thirty new members will be publicly welcomed into the fellowship of the church. There will also be a service of dedication for a group of children.

At 3 p.m., a baptismal service will be conducted at the church by the pastor.

At 7:30 p.m., the choir from the Girls' Training School, consisting of about fifty voices, will present a special program. The public is invited to all of these services.

Easter services at the Baptist church will begin at 10:55, Easter morning, with the sermon by the pastor on the theme, "He Is Here." There will be a dedication of children and reception of new members. A special anthem by the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Harley McConnell, will be, "As It Began To Dawn."

The meaning of the resurrection will be taught through special music, devotions, and sermons in the Tecumseh Methodist church.

At seven o'clock on Easter morning, the Methodist Youth Fellowship under the leadership of Virginia Snyder, has invited the youth groups of the other churches to be present at a Sunrise Service in which all groups will have definite participation. Dalton VanValkenburg will deliver the Easter message. At eight o'clock, the assembly will be guests of the Guild Circle and the Semper Fidelis Class at a breakfast in the social room. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. George Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stanifer, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Minney, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bryan will have charge of the breakfast.

Regular church school will meet at ten o'clock on Easter morning and at eleven o'clock the worship service will begin with an organ prelude played by Mrs. Herbert Dillon. There will be a processional of choirs. Under the direction of Glen Gould, the Junior Choir will sing, "Christ's Holy Morn" by M. Vulpius and the anthem to be sung by the Senior Choir will be "Easter Song" by Clarence Dickinson. The choirs will sing together "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones" by Coln. Dr. Norman MacNaughton will deliver the sermon.

At St. Peter's Episcopal church there will be a service of Evening Prayer, the Litany and a Meditation on Good Friday evening at 7:30.

On Easter Sunday, Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m., and again at the service at 11:15 a.m. At the latter service the newly-named rector, the Rev. Richard O. Petersen, will deliver the sermon. The choirs will sing, "As It Began to Dawn," by Stults, and "He is Risen," by Simper. Dr. James Spencer of Adrian College, is the organist and choir director.

At St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, the traditional Tre Ore service will be observed from 12 o'clock noon until 3 p.m., on Good Friday. This service will consist of the Mass of the Presanctified, meditation on the Passion of Our Lord, and public recitation of the Stations of the Cross.

Holy Saturday at St. Elizabeth's, the liturgical functions will begin at 7 a.m., with the Blessing of the New Fire, the Paschal Candle and the baptismal water. The mass of the resurrection of Christ will begin at 8 a.m.

On Easter Sunday, masses at St. Elizabeth's will be at 8, 10 and 11:30 a.m. The 10 o'clock mass will be the parish high mass with the men's choir under the direction of Wallace Whiting, with Mrs. Richard Jennings at the organ.

This evening, Maundy Thursday, at 8 o'clock, communion will be celebrated during the services at Grace Lutheran church. Good Friday services will be held at 8 o'clock with the Rev. A. H. Baer of Adrian in charge. Regular services on Easter Sunday will be held at 10:30, with a baptismal service following.

Conumers Co. Gross Goes Up

NET INCOME, INCLUDING STOCK DIVIDEND, OVER $19,000,000, REPORT SHOWS

Recording a year of growth and industrial prosperity in the Outstate Michigan area, Consumers Power Company's annual report went into the mail today to the Company's more than 48,000 stockholders.

The Company operates in 62 Michigan counties, serving most of the Lower Peninsula except the Detroit metropolitan area and the Thumb. It has nearly a million customers—675,872 electric and 316,272 gas—in a territory with a total population approaching 3,000,000.

Gross business in 1950 was up 23% over 1949, according to President Justin R. Whiting's letter to the stockholders, reflecting a record year of industrial production.

The company added 52,858 electric customers and 26,484 gas customers during the year. Measured in kilowatt-hours or cubic feet, electric sales were up 17% and gas sales up 29%. The sharp rise in gas sales is accounted for in part by the fact that the number of customers heating their homes with gas more than doubled during the year, despite the fact that the accepting of applications was halted in mid-summer.

The repoit also reveals that Consumers:

Serves more farm customers (approximately 109,000) than any other electric company in the United States.

Now has an electric generating capacity exceeding a million kilowatts, with 276,000 more under construction.

Sent out in one day (December 19, 1950) 78% more electricity than was sent out on the peak day of World War II, when Michigan industry was on a 24-hour basis.

With its subsidiary, Michigan Gas Storage Company, spent more than $46,000,000 in 1950 on expansion of facilities for serving electric and gas customers in Outstate Michigan.

Gross revenues amounted to $114,350,814 during the year, with about 75% of this amount being derived from electric operations. Net income after preferred stock dividends of $3,369,188 was $15,655,152, representing $2.78 per share on the 5,615,176 shares of common stock outstanding at the year-end. The Company maintained its regular dividend rate of $2 a share on common stock, paying 50-cent dividends in February, May, August and November.

Leadership Is

rural level.

"Folk in Germany are hungry, they are cold and they have nothing to look forward to," the speaker said. "They seem willing.

Today in Germany, Parson said, there are seven and a half women to every man. Buildings are in ruins, there is no economic stability, and there is little machinery. Work that is done is with the hands. Women harness themselves to plows in much the same manner as horses are harnessed to them here. Twenty-two acre farms are divided into as many as 100 fields. The ground is cultivated to its fullest extent.

"The German farmer would put the American farmer to shame when it comes to producing crops," Parsons said. He told of one farmer he saw who produced 60 bushels of wheat on a single acre of ground.

Parsons observed that the leadership that the Germans had under Hitler was bad leadership, and many of the best brains of the country were forced into it against their better judgment. The leadership of Germany in the future, he indicated, may depend upon us to dig out their own salvation, but they need leadership to do it. I was treated courteously everywhere I went, and I received cooperation."

Between 150 and 200 people attended the rural-urban meeting of the club. Every member of Rotary brought with him as his guest a farmer from this area. Some members brought two or three farmers.

The Britton Kiwanis Club also attended the meeting in a body, as the guests of Rotary. Earl Kniffin, president of the Britton club, spoke briefly, expressing appreciation for Rotary's invitation. Mr. Kniffin said that he believed that greater fellowship between neighboring communities should be encouraged.

L. W. Larsen, president of Rotary, presided at the meeting and welcomed the guests. Three vocal solos were furnished by Wallace Whiting, with Mrs. J. W. Spafford at the piano. Mr. Parsons was introduced by Mel Partridge, vice-president and chairman of Rotary's program committee.

Parsons, who has held a professorship at Michigan State for several years, is a former agricultural instructor in the Tecumseh public schools.

community."

In accepting the gift, Mr. Campbell expressed his appreciation to the Exchangeites, and the thanks of the hospital nurses and staff.

"You may never realize how many thousands of steps this intercommunication system will save the nurses at the hospital," Campbell said. "When the new addition is completed and opened, it will be nearly half a block from one end of the hospital to the other. With the system in use, it will aid materially in the service of the hospital."

The new $80,000 addition to the hospital probably will be opened in May, Campbell indicated.

The presentation followed the club's regular dinner meeting in the VFW clubrooms. The speaker at the program later was the Rev. Don Baird of Rhea, and a student at Adrian College. The Rev. Mr. Baird discussed the Negro problem and urged a greater understanding of it. He was the guest of Orville Minhey, program chairman.

Protect Kiddies From Accidents

MORE OF THEM DIE FROM MISHAPS THAN FROM DISEASE, SURVEY SHOWS

Use March—Watch Out For KIDS MONTH—to look out for your own kids in your own home to remove the hazards which threaten their lives every day they live, the Michigan Department of Health urged Michigan parents today.

More Michigan children die from accidents than from any disease. More Michigan children are killed in their own homes than are killed in traffic. An adult is responsible either directly or indirectly for almost every childhood accidental death, the Department said.

A child is not safe at home until his home is made safe for him. Home accidents killed 295 of the 608 Michigan children who died by accident in 1949. They injured thousands.

Home fires snuffed out the lives of 107 Michigan children; two-thirds of them under five years of age. Don't leave your small children at home alone — even "for a minute." Remove the fire hazards which you know exist in your home.

Falls in the home killed 17 children, 14 of them under five years of age. Do your stairs have gates? Are your railings strong? Are your open windows screened?

Poisons stored in the home, drunk my mistake, killed ten children, all of them under five years of age. Can your child reach your medicine cabinet or get into your cleaning fluid? Where is your can of lighter fluid?

Scalding fluids killed eight children under five years of age. Don't leave your child alone in the bath tub; he can turn on the hot water. Don't leave kettles of hot fluids unwatched. Turn pot handles toward the inside of the stove.

Escaping gas killed eight children. Have your gas equipment checked and teach your child never to touch the gas stove.

Firearms around the house killed six others. Have you any loaded gun?

Suffocation was blamed for the deaths of 103 children, 55 of them under a year of age, and all but two under five years of age. Does your baby have his own bed, his own covers and his own pillow?

During 1949, a total of 128 children under fifteen years were killed by automobiles as they walked, ran or played in the streets or drives. Ten others were killed as they rode their bikes. Hundreds of others were maimed or crippled for life. Teach your child why he must not play in the street and why he should cross only at crosswalks and only with the light. Show him the safest route to school. Then use special caution when you drive in school zones just before or just after school, when you drive near neighborhood stores, theaters, or playgrounds. Keep an eye out for the child who may dart from between parked cars or from behind buses.

Drowning takes the lives of approximately 80 children each year. Give a little thought to water safety and swimming lessons for your children. Fence off dangerous water holes or creeks.

Most accidental deaths of children can be prevented if adults will just "Watch Out for Kids," the Department said.

What has become of the youngster who believed, a few years ago, that the world was looking for a man, intelligent, impartial and just?

Probably

In times like these the average man would rather be almost anything else than president.—Pathfinder.

badge; bear badges were awarded to David Rutherford, also a gold arrow and silver arrow; to Graham Morden and gold arrow; to Larry Anderson and a gold arrow and two silver arrows; to Teddy Kempf, a silver arrow under his bear badge. Raymond Sluyter and Tommy Price were presented with their lion badges, and Tommy also received a gold arrow. Billy La-Prad was inducted as a new member by Gerald Cruse of Mrs. Wilbur Andrews' Den 4.

Joe Hayden was announcer for the day and thanked Strong for his interesting talk and display.

The Cub basketball program under the direction of Max Smith and Robert Hanna will begin Saturday afternoon in the Central gymnasium. Dens 1 and 2 will practice at 1 o'clock; dens 3 and 4 at 1:45; dens 5 and 6 at 2:30; dens 7 and 8 at 3:15, and dens 9 and 10 at 4 o'clock.

The theme for the April 16 Pack meeting at the Baptist church will be "Cub Scouts Around the World." April 10, at 7:30 p.m., at the Baptist church there will be an important meeting of Cub Scout leaders, den mothers, assistant den mothers, pack committeemen and parents of boys who will become cubs next year.

through the united efforts of the nations. In addition, the Rev. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Place gave their impressions of the United Nations in session when each visited it separately sometime during the past year.

During the business session, the assembly decided to vote on the disposition of the scholarship fund at the annual meeting which will be held in two weeks. The president appointed two additional members, Mrs. Guy Pocklington and Mrs. Glenn VanDenbergh, to the committee regarding the scholarship fund.

The annual meeting will begin with a luncheon in the Fellowship Center of the Presbyterian church on Monday, April 2. The president appointed Mrs. Herbert Murphy as chairman and Mrs. C. Ray Puffer and Mrs. Robert Bonner to plan the table decorations. Mrs. Jennie Satterlee, Mrs. Jennie Temple, and Mrs. J. M. Artman will have charge of the luncheon tickets. They may be secured at the library on Wednesday and Thursday preceding the luncheon, during the regular library hours.

At the close of Monday's meeting, refreshments were served from the tea table by Mrs. Ronald Harsis, Mrs. B. B. TurnBull, Mrs. Robert Fuller, Mrs. L. W. Larsen, Mrs. Claire Beland, and Mrs. Clyde Giltner.

Pasteur Institute Aids Rabies Control

ANN ARBOR INSTITUTION WAS ONE OF THE FIRST IN THE UNITED STATES

An important public service is performed by the year-round work of the University of Michigan's Pasteur Institute, which examines animals suspected or having rabies.

The Institute is a part of the Department of Bacteriology and is located in the East Medical Building. W. S. Preston, assistant professor of bacteriology, is director of the Institute.

Established in 1903, this Pasteur Institute was one of the first such organizations in this country. At that time, the Institute not only did diagnostic work but also manufactured the anti-rabies vaccine and treated persons who had been bitten by rabid animals. The preparation of the vaccine for treatment of victims has now been taken over by the Michigan Department of Health, however.

The Michigan Institute is now one of three such laboratories in the state, others being the State Health Department's laboratory in Lansing and the Herman Keifer Hospital laboratory in Detroit. The University serves most of the southern part of the state, and occasionally it receives requests for help from other areas.

From 200 to 300 animals are examined each year in the Pasteur Institute. About 80 per cent of the animals are dogs, with cats and cattle ranking in second and third places. Wild animals, such as squirrels, skunks, rabbits, rats, and raccoons, are also examined occasionally.

Most of the animals sent here for examination are submitted by county departments of health, with some also coming from individual veterinarians, Professor Preston explains.

A cardinal principal in control of rabies is that of confining the animal suspected of having rabies and observing it for a period of two weeks to see if it actually develops the disease. Sometimes, however, it is impossible to capture such an animal alive.

If first examination indicates a positive diagnosis of rabies, then the county health officer or other person concerned is notified that the Pasteur treatment is indicated for the person bitten, Professor Preston explains. If the preliminary result is negative, a further check is made by injecting a suspension of brain tissue from the suspected animal into laboratory animals to see whether they develop rabies.

This double check is necessary in order to make absolutely certain that no actual case of rabies is missed. It is sometimes difficult to detect the disease in early stages (this is why an animal should be confined for observation rather than killed at once if it is suspected of having rabies) but the use of laboratory animals makes certain that no mistakes occur.

FLU EPIDEMIC

Dr. Gaylord W. Anderson of the American Public Health Association, predicts that the influenza epidemic, now sweeping parts of Europe and England, will spread to the United States. The doctor said there have been six or eight world-wide flu epidemics since the big one in 1918 and the world "is just about due for another one."

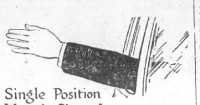
Today's Driving Lesson



Single Position Hand Signal

Drivers owning cars of a vintage before the mechanical turn and stop signal devices were built-in should be keeping their left arms in shape by extending them straight out the window when planning to stop or turn.

"What 'ya think I'll do next?," a highway game of letting the other fellow guess the next maneuver, is pointed out as a vicious habit by 305 instructors teaching 32,550 high school students under the AAA driver-education and training plan.

State law requires the driver to use the Michigan "single position" arm signal for turns and stops if his car is not equipped with the mechanical device. The approved position of the arm is extended straight out.

Most out-of-state drivers and U. S. military personnel, however, have been taught the three-position signal system, which every driver should know.

RIGHT TURN—arm extended upward.

STOP OR SLOW DOWN—arm extended downward.

Flicking ashes from a cigarette with the arm extended way out is discourteous driving, the teachers add, for such activity is usually interpreted as a turn warning by drivers behind.

WINS COMBAT BADGE

Corporal Harold E. Brady, son of Mrs. Opal M. Brady, 315 West Logan Street, has been awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge in Korea while serving as an Infantryman with the 5th Cavalry regiment.

This badge, which is only awarded frontline combat infantrymen, distinguishes the actual fighting man from the rear area and service troops in a combat zone. A soldier must be a member of an infantry regiment to be eligible to receive it. The badge itself consists of a miniature replica of a revolutionary flint lock rifle on a rectangular blue background superimposed over a wreath. It is worn by the soldier over his left breast pocket above his campaign ribbons.

Today, nine out of ten jobholders in America are covered by some type of vacation-payment plan, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

STICKER RUMOR MAY BRING OUT VOTE ON MONDAY

OPPOSITION TO REPUBLICAN NOMINEES HINTED IN RUMORS ON THE STREET

Although the rumor could not be confirmed, it was common talk on the street here today that there would be opposition, in the form of stickers, to one or more of the candidates whose names appear on the Republican ticket for election to Tecumseh township offices at the polls, Monday. Voting, as in the past, will take place at the council building on S. Evans street, and the polls will be open from 7 a.m., until 8 p.m.

The township ballot carries only one ticket, the Republican. LeRoy H. Titley, first elected supervisor of the township in 1942, is seeking re-election. Since the turn of the century, this township has had only five supervisors. William Hayden served from 1900 to 1905, and he was succeeded by John F. Schreder, who continued in office until 1922. In that year, H. H. Hanna was made supervisor and he served until 1932 when he was succeeded by A. O. Howard. Mr. Titley succeeded Mr. Howard in 1942.

Others seeking election on the ticket are: Hugh H. Hanna, clerk; Lawrence Mohr, treasurer; George Sanford, highway commissioner; Charles D. Branigin, sr., and Faye VanValkenburg, justices of the peace; Aden Mead, member of the board of review; W. J. Hanna, Arthur Eaton, Charles Manley and Cecil Allderdyce, constables.

Voters will receive four ballots when they go to the polls on Monday. There are six tickets on the state ballot, and all but on of them has a complete slate of candidates. In the state election, voters will name two regents of the University of Michigan; a superintendent of public instruction; a member of the state board of education, and two members of the state board of agriculture.

Parties represented on the ballot are Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Progressive, Socialist Labor and Socialist Workers.

The third ballot is the so-called non-partisan ballot for the election of judges to the state supreme court. Two justices will be named. There are six candidates.

The fourth ballot is the so-called referendum ballot. There are three proposals.

The first proposal is an amendment to the state constitution relative to the annual regular sessions of the legislature. The second is a proposed amendment to the state constitution by adding a new section to Article X, authorizing the payment of a death benefit bonus with respect to military service. The third proposal is an amendment to Section 3 of Article XVI of the state constitution relative to salaries of supreme court justices.

Tecumseh Tire Service New Enterprise Here

M. R. McClain, formerly of Columbus City, Ind., today announced the opening of the Tecumseh Tire Service at 115 South Ottawa street, in the Williamson building.

The new enterprise will specialize in the recapping of tires, the vulcanizing of tires and tubes, and also will do general tire repair work. Equipment has been installed, and all work will be done in the shop. Road service will be available.

Mr. McClain has had many years of experience in the tire business. He operated his own business in Columbus City. In the near future a wheel-balancing department will be added locally. McClain, in 1948, was one of the wheel balancers at the Indianapolis speedway races.

McClain and his family plan to move here as soon as suitable housing can be obtained.

TRAILER HOUSE IS DAMAGED BY FLAMES

A trailer house and a garage at the rear of the Boston Cafe on North Evans street, were damaged by fire, last Saturday afternoon. The origin of the blaze has not been determined, and firemen did not estimate the dollar loss in the fire. A quantity of new merchandise, stored in the garage by the Gamble store, was moved out at the time of the fire, but was in no way damaged.

Questions Answered On City Government

Hundreds of people are discussing, every day, the proposed change in Tecumseh's form of government from a village to a city. They also are discussing the proposed annexation of "fringe" areas around Tecumseh that would nearly double the size of the present corporation.

Do you understand what is being done? Do you have questions about it? Are there things you'd like to know about the program?

If you have questions, address them to The Herald and they will be answered, publicly in subsequent issues.

Today, in The Herald, you will find questions received during the past week, and answers.

Schools Welcome State's Inquiry

SCHOOL HEADS, IN MEETING AT ADRIAN, ISSUE STATEMENT ON LITCHFIELD CASE

School superintendents from Lenawee, Hillsdale, Washtenaw and Monroe counties, making up the southeastern district of the Michigan Association of School Superintendents, met in Adrian last Thursday afternoon and adopted a resolution stating their stand on the matter of enrollment padding.

Some 60 superintendents, including Earl H. Place of Tecumseh, were in attendance. Milton C. Porter, Lenawee county superintendent of schools, acted as chairman.

The resolution adopted by the group reads as follows:

"There has been reported, through the press, a Michigan school district (Litchfield, Hillsdale county) where the membership rolls have been padded for the purpose of securing additional funds with which to operate the schools.

"The purpose of this padding was not for personal gain but to secure additional revenue for the operation of schools in a district where financial support had been inadequate to meet the needs of school children of this area. While school men recognize the need for greater financial support, they do not condone any illegal act to secure such support.

"The superintendents of southeastern Michigan would welcome an inspection of their child accounting records by the state or by any other organization which may wish to verify their accuracy.

"This group has complete confidence in the integrity of the county school administration of Hillsdale county. Likewise, we have equal faith in the efficiency of the state department of public instruction and the leadership of Dr. Lee M. Thurston, superintendent of that department."

Pastor Sees Wings On Missionaries Of Future

MEYERS AIRCRAFT PLANES WILL AID MODERN SKY PILOT

Pastor's Flying School Puts Wings on Missionaries

Will tomorrow's parson have wings?

He will, and he'll be using them in his every day travels, in fact they will become a part of his pastoral wardrobe, particularly if he is in missionary work and Paul Hartford, flying parson of Winona Lake, Ind., has his way.

The facts are, nearly half a hundred missionary parsons already have sprouted their wings. Ten of them are in Alaska, four more are in Mexico and the other three dozens are scattered in some of the remote parts of the world. It might not be stretching one's imagination too far to say that the sun never sets on a flying parson. If it is a stretch of the imagination, Mr. Hartford hopes that it will not be for long.

Hartford, it seems, is one of the world's first wing-sprouting parsons. He conceived the idea while he was doing missionary work in Cuba. Traveling nine miles in some sections of that country was a long and difficult day's work. Why not, he pondered, travel the easy modern way? Why not use planes.

And so, Hartford's idea became a reality. He was the first to fly a missionary plane to Mexico and today he is the president of a school at Winona Lake, Ind., known as Victory Sky Pilots, Inc., that is teaching missionary preachers to "sprout their wings." Thus far, some 135 students have attended the Victory school, and about one third of that number have received their wings at graduation time.

Although Hartford is an ordained minister and comes from a family of preachers, his school in Indiana does not teach theology. That is the work of the college and the seminary, he believes. It is the job of Hartford's school to teach the preachers to use their wings, and the idea is fast catching on. In another 10 years, or even less, the flying parson in China, India or in the jungles of Africa may be commonplace. The airplane, Hartford thinks, will make it possible to carry the word of God into areas that heretofore were impossible to reach. In fact, it is not unlikely that an entire new field is being opened to the Christian missionary.

It now appears that Tecumseh will play an important part in Hartford's flying parson program. The Winona Lake missionary is here to build a missionary ship at the Meyers Aircraft Co. He is 100 per cent sold on the new Meyers 145 plane.

"I don't know whether you folk here in Tecumseh realize it or not, but this new all-metal Meyers ship is one of the finest in the country," Hartford said. "It's fast, it has lots of safety features, and it is small enough to be easily handled and economical. It is the ideal ship for the flying missionary, and I've looked over airplanes all over the country."

Hartford first came to Tecumseh to inspect the Meyers craft last December. At that time he worked out a program with the Meyers company to permit him to actually construct a ship in the local plant. He will assemble it,

Feight Is Named "State Farmer"

TWO LOCAL BOYS WIN HONORS AT FUTURE FARMERS' STATE CONVENTION

Members of the Tecumseh Chapter of the Future Farmers of America attended the state F.F.A. convention held last week at East Lansing. The convention, held March 20 and 21, was on the campus of Michigan State College.

Four local boys, Fred Feight, Fred Long, Richard Young and Merlyn Wagner, along with their advisor, P. F. Burns, attended.

At the convention, Fred Feight received the State Farmer Degree, and Merlyn Wagner was one of the eight boys to compete for the state championship in public speaking. After the contest, Merlyn was the proud possessor of fourth place in the State of Michigan, with a "Silver" (2nd) rating. He will receive a certificate, a cash award and a tour of the State of Ohio. Jay Bouma of McBain won the state championship.

Fred Long and Richard Young represented the Tecumseh Chapter at the business session of the convention. They heard our state president, as well as Ohio's and Indiana's, address the assembly, which numbered around 800.

The four boys returned with a firm conviction that F.F.A. is doing its part to prepare its members for their life's ambition—to win themselves a place in mechanized agriculture.

Wright Is Silent On Postmaster Appointment

William A. Wright who, a week ago, was reported to have been named as postmaster in Tecumseh, said today that he knew nothing about the appointment, other than "what he had read in the newspapers."

Mr. Wright, a local druggist, said that until he is officially notified of the appointment, he did not care to make a statement. Wright took the civil service examination for the postmastership more than a year ago.

F. E. N. Thatcher is the acting postmaster in Tecumseh.

Others in the play are: Virginia Snyder, Virginia Gregory, Carole Harper, Barbara Handy, Joanie Kruger, Bill Gruel, Howard Powell, Bab Marsh and Jim Breitenwischer.

Schools Win National Honor

FIVE-PAGE MAGAZINE ARTICLE TELLS GROWTH OF LOCAL EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM

Writing under the headline, "The Old Gives Way To The New," Earl H. Place, superintendent of schools here, has a five-page article in the current issue of The Nation's Schools, a nationally circulated magazine, telling of the growth of the local educational system. The article is illustrated with many pictures, particularly of the new half-million dollar high school, which is rated as one of the finest to be found in any community the size of Tecumseh in the midwest.

Mr. Place points out that it was in January 1950, when the new high school was opened, that, for the first time in four years, students in the public schools here began attending classes in regular school buildings. Previously, an abandoned railroad depot, churches and a condemned building had been used for classroom purposes. The building formerly used for high school purposes now houses elementary grade children.

The magazine uses a dozen pictures to illustrate the article prepared by Mr. Place. It shows the old railroad depot, the Presbyterian church, the condemned East Branch building, an architect's drawing of the new school, a likeness of Chief Tecumseh, two pictures of the home economics department, one of a vocational classroom and another of the library. There are several scale prints of the interior of the high school building.

Another photograph shows the dozen bands in massed formation, taken during last summer's band festival here. This event is known state-wide, and promises to become an annual affair, under Chamber of Commerce sponsorship.

Mr. Place also won a spot on the Author's Page for his article. There is a thumb-nail sketch of the superintendent's activities in the field of education, following his graduation from Hillsdale College and the University of Michigan.

Cass Zeluff And Wife To Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Cass Zeluff of Britton will celebrate their 59th wedding anniversary on Thursday, April 5. There is no formal dinner planned as Mr. and Mrs. Zeluff desire to spend the day quietly.

The Zeluffs were married in Ridgeway and except for five years spent on a farm east of Britton they have since resided in that village. Mr. Zeluff was postmaster in Britton for eleven years and for 44 years he operated a general store there. They have one son, Lawrence, of Adrian, and three grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Zeluff enjoy good health and spend much time on motor trips and visiting with friends. Mr. Zeluff is 86 years of age and his wife is 80.

MINISTER HONORED

The congregation of the Friends church surprised the Rev. Edward Escolme Monday evening in observance of his birthday anniversary, with 75 in attendance at a party in the church parlors. A very interesting informal program was enjoyed, and many pictures of the group and of the Rev. Mr. Escome were taken. The honored guest received several gifts. Refreshments were served after the social hour.

Block Wardens To Make Report

QUESTIONNAIRES MUST BE IN BY MARCH 31; ASSISTANT WARDENS ALSO NAMED

Block air raid wardens in the Village of Tecumseh, who are now completing the circulation of a Civil Defense questionnaire in their areas, must have this work completed and in the hands of the section wardens not later than Saturday, March 31, Neville Hart, director, said today. The questionnaires will then be turned over to C. O. Butler, chief warden, for compilation and study.

"I hope that the wardens will take this responsibility seriously, and that they will have their questionnaires filled out and in the hands of the section wardens by Saturday," Mr. Hart said. "Also, block wardens are expected to name their assistants before Saturday, and these names, too, should be given to section wardens." Hart declared that each block warden had been asked to name a woman in his block as an assistant. In this way, it is hoped that either the warden or his assistant will be available to the area at all times.

The state-approved booklets, "Survival Under Atomic Attack," which have been purchased for local distribution, are expected to arrive here this week or next and will be immediately sent out, Hart said. There are sufficient copies to provide a booklet for every home in the community. Purchase of the books was made possible through a contribution from the Community Fund.

The First Aid class, which has been in session for five weeks, will hold its last meeting next week, the director declared. Hart hopes, within a week or two, to organize a second class in First Aid.

"Every block warden and section warden in town should take the first aid course," Hart said. "As soon as we can get the necessary instructor, the second course of training will be started."

E.H. Ahrens, 81, Dies At Clinton

FORMER PUBLISHER OF THE HERALD AND OTHER COUNTY PAPERS, SUCCUMBS

Emil H. Ahrens, aged 81 years, former publisher of The Herald, died Friday afternoon at the Tirh Nursing Home in Clinton. He had been in failing health for several years.

Mr. Ahrens was one of Lenawee county's best known weekly newspaper publishers. At one time or another during his career, he owned the Morenci Observer, The Blissfield Advance, The Clinton Local, and The Dundee Reporter as well as The Herald. The latter newspaper Mr. Ahrens sold to Earl L. Wickwire, the present publisher, in 1928.

Mr. Ahrens was born in Germany, February 15, 1870, coming to the United States in 1872 with his parents, Mrs. Ahrens died July 20, 1945.

The deceased was a member of the Masonic Lodge, and the Eastern Star chapter of Clinton, an honorary member of the Tecumseh Rotary Club, and a member of the Michigan Press Association. He also was a member and former vestryman of St. Peter's Episcopal church of Tecumseh. During the early 20's, Mr. Ahrens was a member of the Adrian City Band.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Lawrence VanGieson of near Clinton; a granddaughter, Mrs. C. R. Marsh of Tecumseh, and two great grandchildren. Two sisters and a brother preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday morning from St. Peter's church here, the Rev. Richard O. Petersen, rector, officiating. Burial was in Riverside cemetery in Clinton.

Interest Keen In Annexation Program

The Chamber of Commerce program, suggesting the annexation of "fringe" areas lying outside the present boundaries of Tecumseh, to be submitted to electors at some future date, is attracting a lot of interest. Practically everybody in the township, and many folk who are not even affected by the proposed change are expressing themselves either for or against the proposal. There is every indication that when the question is submitted to the voters the balloting will be brisk.

Before voters form a definite opinion, for or against the proposed change in boundaries, they should give the question thorough study. They should understand fully why they are for or against the plan. They should not be misled merely by rumors—and there are scores of them.

The proposed boundary change will not be submitted at a hurried election. It will be June or July or even later before the question comes to a vote. Everybody who cares to learn the facts concerning the program will have ample time to obtain them. The Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of the project plans to hold meetings to inform residents of the plan, and speakers will be furnished to groups and organizations desiring to learn more about the proposed "growth" of the village.

Should the voters within the proposed new boundaries decide in favor of the proposal it will be the second annexation of property by the village in the 127 years of its life. Only once before has the boundaries of this community been extended, and that was when the so-called Beland Subdivision was annexed, several years ago. Tecumseh's growth, particularly in the last 10 years when it expanded more rapidly than any other town in Lenawee county, is causing the community to burst at the seams, so to speak. About one-fourth of the population of the "greater Tecumseh" is now living outside its boundaries.

There are, of course, folk who argue that there should be no change in Tecumseh's boundaries. There are other groups who argue that the program is to ambitious, that so much territory is included in the area to be annexed. And there are still others who think that any growth is dangerous from an economic angle, tax-wise, etc. As we said before, there are scores of rumors.

This is a free country, and everybody is entitled to his or to her opinion. However, before a definite opinion is formed, it should be based on facts. Residents also should realize that it is only natural that a growing community should expand, if its growth is to continue. It cannot be "bottled up," so to speak, and continue to grow.

In fixing the boundaries of the proposed new Tecumseh, the group in charge of the planning endeavored to think of Tecumseh's future in the years to come. Today, the proposed boundaries may appear to be ambitious. But what about the future? If Tecumseh grows as much in the next ten years as it has in the last ten years, what then?

There are many angles to be considered, and they should be considered—by everybody. Snap judgments should not be made. ALL of the facts should be considered before definite conclusions are reached.

That is why it will take several months to bring the matter to a vote of the residents. During the waiting period, voters may inform themselves of the facts and arrive at a considered answer. If there is something wrong about the program, it is during those "months of waiting" that it should be discovered and corrected. If there is nothing wrong with the plan, voters will be able to find that out, too, and judge for themselves.

This is not the time for quick opinion. Tecumseh's future is involved. It is a community-wide project, and no changes can be made unless the voters, themselves, decide that they should be made.

So, before you make up your mind that you are either for or against the expansion program, be sure that your judgment is based on facts. Remember, your vote will help to shape the future of this community in the years to come.

It Is Your Duty To Vote, Monday

Next Monday, in Tecumseh township and throughout the county and the state, voters will be going to the polls to choose members of the official family in many branches of state and local government.

The election is what is known to many hometown folk as the "off-year spring poll." Ordinarily, unless there is some kind of local contest, few voters are attracted to the polls.

In Tecumseh township, voters will elect a supervisor, clerk, treasurer, highway commissioner, a member of the board of review, two justices of the peace and four constables. All nominations were made by the Republican party, and there is no opposing ticket on the ballot.

The fact that there is only one ticket on the ballot is not an excuse for a voter to stay away from the polls. Dollar for dollar, it costs just about as much to cast 100 ballots as it does 1,000. In Tecumseh township there are over 2,000 eligible electors.

There was considerable interest in the caucus that named the Republican candidates whose names appear on the township ballot in Tecumseh. In fact, the caucus was one of, if not the largest ever held in this community. It was originally scheduled to be held in the Council Building but, because of the overflow crowd, it was adjourned to the American Legion Memorial Home. Nearly 300 ballots were cast.

In the vicinity of Tecumseh, in Clinton, Ridgeway and other townships, there also was evidence of a reawakening of interest in politics by a larger than normal caucus attendance.

Let's hope that this interest in voting and in politics has not cooled off since the caucuses were held. Let's hope that voters are even more interested, and that an even larger number of ballots will be cast next Monday than were cast in the caucuses.

There is only one way to make a democratic form of government work, and that is for the members of the government—we, the people—to exercise their right to vote. If we fail to vote, and if men to whom we object to get into public office as a result of our indifference, we have no one to blame but ourselves.

Remember, YOU have a duty to attend to next Monday. Voting is an honor of which we all should be proud.

Pastor's Flying

piece by piece, and in that way he will be thoroughly familiar with its every part. He then will take the plane to Winona Lake and feature it in his training program.

It probably will take Hartford three or four months to complete his task, perhaps longer. Aside from working on the plane, he has many speaking engagements to fill, but he is determined.

"I want to assemble this ship so that I'll actually know all about it. Then, at our school, I'll be able to answer any and all questions that arise. I also may want to make some modifications in the planes that we may build in the future. As I see it, this is a far-reaching project."

Hartford's talk about putting wings on missionaries is no idle chatter. Already the World Missionary Aviation Council has been formed and he is the executive secretary of the orangization. Only last summer he was in Alaska attending a conference of the group. The half hundred flying parsons already are doing a remarkable work, and they haven't as yet scratched the surface of the job that lies ahead.

Hartford, himself, has flown ships over the Arctic Circle and below the Equator. He was the first missionary pilot to fly into Mexico, and he has made several flights to Alaska.

It was while he was in Equador that Hartford put his wings to a test. The wife of a resident was ill — a child was about to be born, the mother needed hospitalization and expert medical care. Denied treatment, death was certain. She was 72 miles from the nearest hospital station. It was an eight-day journey on foot and horseback to reach her. Hartford, by plane, reached her bedside in 36 minutes. She was flown to the hospital, the child was born and the mother lived.

The task of the missionary, especially in the future, is tremendous, Hartford says. The work he can accomplish for those he serves is unlimited. The airplane will make possible the fulfillment of the task.

Aside from his interest in the missionary field, Hartford also is vitally interested in all forms of lighter-than-air travel, particularly the flying saucers. It was on this subject that he spoke to members of the Rotary Club here Tuesday evening, following dinner at the American Legion Memorial Home.

Hartford declared that he was not a scientist, and that he was only repeating what scientists have said, and facts that have been recorded in private and public records regarding the much discussed flying space ships. discussed flying space ships.

clared that it is a matter of record that time after time the saucers have been sighted; that upon at least four occasions the ships have touched the earth, and that only in one instance has such a ship been known to take off after an earth landing.

Hartford said that he had been told that the ships, two of which were carefully inspected, were made of metals not known on earth; that they were driven by some strange power, and that the operators, some of whom were found dead, were identical in physical make up with earth men, except that they were midgets, only about three feet in height.

Hartford said that he realized that the government had issued statements regarding the so-called saucers, indicating that they were space balloons, sent up by the navy. However, he said that the government's order still stands that such ships, sighted in the future, should be shot down and inspected.

"Instead of shooting at the ships, and destroying them if we can, wouldn't it be better to send out an Emily Post welcoming committee?" Hartford asked. "Perhaps, if these ships do come from another world, and if this other world is superior to us in scientific advancement, it would be well for us to learn more about it."

Hartford said that he had no first hand knowledge regarding the saucers, and only knew what he had heard in towns where they had been sighted, and information he had obtained from the reading of public and government records.

The possibility that the saucers may come from another world is not, however, fantastic, nor does such a thought disagree with several passages in the Bible, he declared. He quoted several Bible verses to prove his point.

While Hartford is here working on his plane he will fill several speaking engagements in the county. Next Sunday evening he will speak at the Britton Baptist church. Next Tuesday evening he will talk at the Iron Creek church. On Wednesday evening of next week he will speak at the Friends church at Birdsall, and Friday evening at the Deerfield Gospel Tabernacle. On April 8 he will speak at the Friends church in Tecumseh.

If its news, phone 476.

Should Tecumseh Become a City?

Question: Will the people outside of the village at present be allowed to vote on this issue?

Answer: All qualified voters within the proposed boundaries may vote on the issue. Petitions to bring the issue to a vote may be circulated anywhere within an affected township and must be signed by freeholders. The voting on the issue, however, is done only by those who would live within the proposed city, and all regular voters may participate.

Question: Will the zoning be changed? If you are in a zone where any building is permissible at present, will this be changed?

Answer: Changing from a village to a city would not affect the present zoning ordinance. Any changes or amendments would be the responsibility of the newly elected government. Should the issue carry, the new government would presumably create legislation for those areas not now in the village, and therefore not covered by the present village zoning ordinance.

Question: How are the votes cast on the annexation program counted? Does the village vote as a unit, and the area to be annexed as another unit?

Answer: The people living within the present boundaries of the Village of Tecumseh, and the people living outside the present boundaries but inside the proposed boundaries of the new city, ALL vote as a unit. One vote counts just as much as another. If there are a sufficient number of "yes" votes cast in the election, the proposal is approved. If the number of "no" votes are in the majority, the issue is lost.

Question: What type of government would Tecumseh have if it were a city?

Answer: The type of government would depend upon the type of charter adopted by the people. Should the voters decide to change Tecumseh's form of government from a village to a city, a charter commission, composed of probably nine people, would be named to draft a charter. This commission would be chosen by vote, and at the same election. The commission, if the decision favors changing the government form, has 90 days after the election in which to draft a charter and submit it to the voters for their approval.

Question: How are members of the charter commission chosen?

Answer: Candidates for the charter commission are nominated by petition prior to the election. In all probability, petitions nominating a dozen or more candidates would be circulated. The nine candidates receiving the highest vote would be declared elected.

Question: Could Tecumseh change its form of government without annexing any more territory?

Answer: Yes. A village may, at any time, change its form of government to that of a city by the consent of the people. It is not necessary to annex any property at the time.

Question: How soon will the change in government and annexation programs be submitted to the people?

Answer: In all probability, not before mid-summer, or possibly later. The Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of the project desires that a complete educational program be conducted prior to the election.

Athletic Club To Stage Benefit Dance, April 14

Plans are being rapidly completed for the benefit dance, to be staged on Saturday evening, April 14, from 9 to 1 o'clock in the gymnasium of the Central School Building by the Tecumseh Athletic Association. Music for the event is being furnished without charge by the Tecumseh Products Chieftains.

The dance is being given to honor the pennant-winning high school basketball team. The Indians recently won the LCAA flag, defeated Adrian in the Class B district finals, and participated in the regional tournament. Also, four of Tecumseh's players placed on the All-County coaches' first and second string teams.

Funds raised at the dance next month will be used to help to defray the cost of much needed football uniforms, purchased by the club a year ago. The uniforms cost about $2,600, and there remains to be paid about $1,100 of the amount.

Tickets for the dance will go on sale this week. They may be purchased from members of the Varsity Club at the school, or at several stores in the downtown district, where posters are displayed.

Reports of the year's work will be given by the officers and the newly elected officers will be introduced.

The program will be presented by the drama department under the direction of Mrs. Earl Wood. Rehearsals are being held this week on the minstrel show for the occasion. It will bear the name of "Monday Club Mammies." Mrs. Ronald Harris will be the interlocutrix and will be supported by a cast of Monday Club members. Old and new music will be sung by the chorus which will be accompanied by Mrs. Edna Staulter.

Mrs. Herbert Murphy, Mrs. C. Ray Puffer, and Mrs. Robert Bohner will be responsible for the table decorations for the luncheon which will be served by the Presbyterian League. HOME OWNERSHIP is the best investment for the average person. At the end of a given period of time, you have a clear title to a piece of property which will always have a market value. All authorities agree that the trend in residential construction costs will be upward. It will pay to buy NOW.

BILLY SUNDAY ONCE SAID: The renter who sings "Home Sweet Home" is kidding himself and serenading the landlord. Rent money once handed over is gone forever, but the money you put into a house is still yours. It changes its form — it becomes property instead of gold and simply passes from your right pocket to your left.

Today's Driving Lesson

Even the shape of a standard traffic sign has a definite meaning, say teachers in 305 Michigan AAA Driver-Training courses sponsored by Automobile Club of Michigan.

A telescope isn't needed to recognize a roadsign many yards before you can read it with the naked eye.

Because Michigan uses standard roadsigns, the shape of the warning sign alone will reveal which of six categories it falls into, say teachers in 305 state high school AAA Driver-Training courses sponsored by Automobile Club of Michigan.

The six types of signs and their key shapes are:

OCTAGONAL—Stop.

ROUND—Rail Crossing Ahead (Not to be confused with the big "X" stop, look, listen sign at the rails).

DIAMOND—A warning of any kind, such as "Men Working," and "Pavement Ends."

HORIZONTAL RECTANGLE—A directional, such as "One Way."

SQUARE—A caution for special road hazards, such as "Pedestrian Crossing," or "Soft Shoulder."

As for traffic lights, the behind-the-wheel pupils are learning that an ordinary traffic light blinking red (not a railroad blinker), the driver is required to stop, look and start again only when it is safe to proceed. A blinking yellow light means "continue to move with caution." Double alternately blinking red lights indicate a crossing train.

Road markers are designed so that motorists can tell by their shape what part of government maintains them. A shield indicates a U. S. highway; a diamond, a Michigan; and a square, a county road.
